Saralou -

Finally, no more worries about Pom. We sure have been through a lot - assemblies, practices, California, I lagstaff, tardies, arguments, pictures, and many more. Besides misunderstandings with Bettie, there were some with the other girls, but I guess everything has worked out for the best. It seems sort of funny that I needed I don't know about you, but next year I'm going to go visit them and see them perform, so if you'd like to visit them, let me know and we can go together. Now To All Mustangs: about you and John, I sure feel sorry for him. In the fall of 1867 Jack Swilling, and several other men of wisdom, courage and vision, dug a canal and established a settlement on the banks of the Salt destined to become the fabulous city of Phoenix. Seventy-two years later another group imbued with the same pioneering spirit fused their wisdom, courage and vision to lay the foundations of an educational program second to none - North High School. Goals were set high and their fulfillment attained by the cooperative efforts of the entire school community. Parents, teachers and students recognized that only through the active participation of all could appropriate and desirable goals be reached. The soundness of this approach in the operation of North High has been apparent. Through the ensuing years North High developed into a school recognized throughout the nation for the good balance and excellence of its school program.

Remember the trip to California. It was sort of like a double date for a whole week-end. No matter where I am - I expect an invitation to yours and John's wedding. Remember how you and John arranged your first date? What a coincidence.

May it ever be thus at North High.

Goodbye and good luck,

Charles M. Burton

I'd like to go through the kids in pairs and say something about each one so you won't forget them, but I'm sure you won't forget them anyway.

Academic Problems Solved By Board of Education

Upholding the high standards of North High School was the purpose of the Board of Education. Completing his first year as superintendent of Phoenix Union High School System, Dr. Howard Seymour assumed the responsibility of keeping the schools under his direction operating smoothly.

Dr. Seymour and other Board members employed school officials, distributed authority, and determined the school policies. They discussed and decided on rules, additions, and complaints of the schools. This qualified group was the basic foundation of North High, and the many problems which confronted them were handled successfully.

Mrs. Bons, school board clerk, and Principal Charles Burton conversed at a Christmas faculty tea in the teachers dining room.

Mr. Burton delivered a speech introducing the North High football team during a special assembly in the stadium. Following the assembly the team left for Yuma. The entire student body responded to the send-off by cheering for the team.

Burton Terminated Seven Year's Service At North

Under the leadership of Mr. Charles M. Burton, North High maintained its high standards and scholarship. Interest in school progress and student affairs made him popular with both students and administrators. A familiar and spirited spectator at football and basketball games, Mr. Burton proved his good standing with the student body by his school support and active participation.

Always informed of latest advances in the field of education, Mr. Burton applied this knowledge toward the betterment of North High.

After completing over six years of service to North, Mr. Burton received the principal's position at new Alhambra High School, recently completed in the district. Dr. James Carter, former principal of Central High, was appointed the new principal at North. He finished the second semester, following Mr. Burton's transfer.

Although Mr. Burton has left, the principles and long-lasting traditions remain which have made North High "The Honor School of the West."

During military assembly, Mr. Burton addressed the student body concerning patriotism and loyalty. Congressman John Rhodes of Arizona also spoke at the assembly.

Members of the North High School Administrative Council were, Front Row: Miss Adams, Miss Montgomery, Mr. Burton, Miss Bock, Miss McCormick, Mr. Nicolay. Sec- ond Row: Mr. Belluzzi, Mr. Cheranich, Mr. Bridgewater, Mr. Hamm, Mr. Koerner, Mr. Roche, Mr. Cognac, and Mr. Thomas. Council members met every other week.

Campus Problems Solved By Administrative Council

Composing the Administrative Council of North High were sixteen faculty members whose proven abilities were fully utilized. The main purpose of the Council was to act as faculty advisor to the principal on matters of policy.

The Administrative Council was a clearing house for ideas concerning the school. During meetings all school matters coming from Mr. Burton were discussed and decided on before public release.

Unique in the PUHS-PC system, Administrative Council enabled the principal to have a representative idea of the faculty members' opinions of problems which were brought before the group.

Mr. Stanley Cardon, Boys' Advisor, and Dean of Girls Miss Vera McCormick were responsible for attending to problems which concerned the two components of the North High student body. School activities and student discipline were supervised by Mr. Orville Hamm, an assistant principal at North. Mr. Lynn Fitzgerald, the other assistant principal, was in charge of registration procedures.

Counselors helped New Students learn the ropes

One of the basic ingredients of a superior school was the Guidance Department. Counselors were invaluable in aiding and directing students toward the realization of their individual needs and objectives. Mr. W. D. Roche and his staff helped freshmen and transfer students, and administered various tests which assisted in placing pupils in the correct group.

Counselors were placed among the students' best and wisest friends. Their sound advice helped North students understand how important school was, and why education was imperative to become an active member of adult society. College catalogues were found in the Guidance Office, and the counselors arranged for representatives from various colleges to visit our campus and talk to seniors about any specific problems regarding their school.

Mr. Harry West assisted students to decide on school courses and vocations after graduating from high school.

Mrs. Oldenburg helped students plan schedules and interpret various test results.

Scientific Methods Useful In the Twentieth Century

During the past century, many achievements have opened a new world of jobs and opportunities for those interested in pursuing a scientific career. Taking an interest in science proved to be almost mandatory to understand our modern society. North High has been widely recognized for its top-notch Science Department, headed by Mr. C. A. Brown. Our many winners in the Westinghouse Talent Search were just another proof that the Science Department can produce the scientists of tomorrow.

Leon Rawlings recorded experimental data pertaining to a chemistry project while Mary Heide and Gilbert Blanco lighted a Bunson burner in order to heat chemicals for the experiment.

Individual Projects Aided Development of Initiative

An understanding of many phases of science had to be acquired before specializing in one particular field. North High students took advantage of the variety of courses offered, ranging from general science to physics. Physical and chemical properties of the earth and relation between matter and energy were studied, and students learned of the changes which matter and energy underwent. Laboratory work was emphasized to enable students to understand and visualize what the textbooks were discussing, and experiments gave students the chance to observe various scientific principles.

Science Seminar, open to seniors planning to follow a scientific career, stressed individual projects, which were entered in the Westinghouse Talent Search during the school year.

Jeff Cornoyer prepared to lift a crucible top during a chemistry experiment.

Working with weights and balances to determine percentage of oxygen were seniors Suzie Polacek and Jeff Cornoyer.

Mr. Hall's biology students prepared slides for observation under the microscope.

Mr. Gilleland tested Barbara Greenwell's sense of touch and judgment in determining the relative positions of wooden rods.

Physics students gained appreciation of Eyesight

"Blind for a Day" was described differently by each participant. Irby Cain summarized all their feelings when he said, "Everything seemed to move at a snail's pace." Some students said that sounds were distorted and loud, some were irritable and nervous. Others were bored because they could not see objects being discussed, and were suspicious of their surroundings.

While walking on the campus, students were able to tell when they were near buildings because of sound echoes. They could also tell when a person opened the classroom door because of a breeze.

Bob Capri stated, "It excited me to be able to know various things through smell, sense of touch, and hearing." Others noticed the acuteness of their senses during the day, and realized how sharp must be the senses of the permanently blind.

Although leading a somewhat normal day, students' behavior bordered on the abnormal when participating in campus life and recreational activities.

Borek, Arthur Truter, Barbara Greenwell, Patricia Sandhowe, Douglas Bell, Karl Abrahamsen, Miles Lister. The students were members of Mr. Gilleland's physics classes.

Coach McDermott talked with Pete Nelson, a "Blind for a Day" participant, and Bruce Jordon.

"Blind for a Day" Event Proved Valuable Project

Seen groping around the campus last year were several North High School pupils, participating in the annual "Blind for a Day" experiment. Sponsored by Mr. Gilleland, these physics students learned to appreciate fully the tremendous part which two eyes play in everyday life. Familiar objects became mysterious obstacles, and well-traveled North High sidewalks and corridors were confusing "highways" leading from one dark cave to another. Despite their handicap, the seniors were active both at home and on campus. Although they had guides, the pupils managed alone most of the time. New Mustangs were intrigued with the day's activity, as were those who saw the blind students after school hours.

Betty Warner gasped as blindfolded Ted Borek attempted to pour milk into his glass during lunch period.

Trying to open her locker, physics student Barbara Greenwell used the sense of touch to find the correct combination.

Westinghouse participants were Martha Stellhorn, Benny Simmons, Leonard Bafaloukos, William Mitchell, Robert C. Lutz, Barbara Stallings, Sheri Arentz, Carole Grosser, Gary Tizard, and Donald Vinson. The students were all seniors.

North Sponsored Ten Westinghouse Participants

Each year a national Science Talent Search is sponsored by the Westinghouse Corporation. There are four requirements that a student must meet to enter the contest. The student must get a teacher's recommendation, take the Westinghouse test, fill out a personal data sheet, and do a research project.

North had ten entrants in the contest. Their names and projects are as follows:

Sheri Arentz—"Establishment of Normal Values for Serum Beta-Lipoproteins of High School Age Students by Means of the Immunocrit."

Leonard Bafaloukos—"Steroid Hormone Effects Upon Protozoa."

Carole Grosser—"Effects of Strenuous Physical Exercise upon the Power of Abstract Reasoning."

Marty Stellhorn—"Chromosome Analysis in Man."

Bill Mitchell—"Desalination of Slightly Saline Water by Electrodialysis Using Animal Membranes."

Benny Simmons—"Physiological Effects of Ionized Air."

Barbara Stallings—"The Destruction of Red Blood Cells by Non-complement Binding Antibodies."

Bob Lutz—"Design, Construction, and Operation of a Highspeed Centrifuge."

Gary Tizard—"A Study of the Sensitivity of Micrococcus Var. Aeurus to Chloromycetin, Dihydrostriptomycin, Penicillin, Polyxmin B, Tetracycline, and Aureomycin."

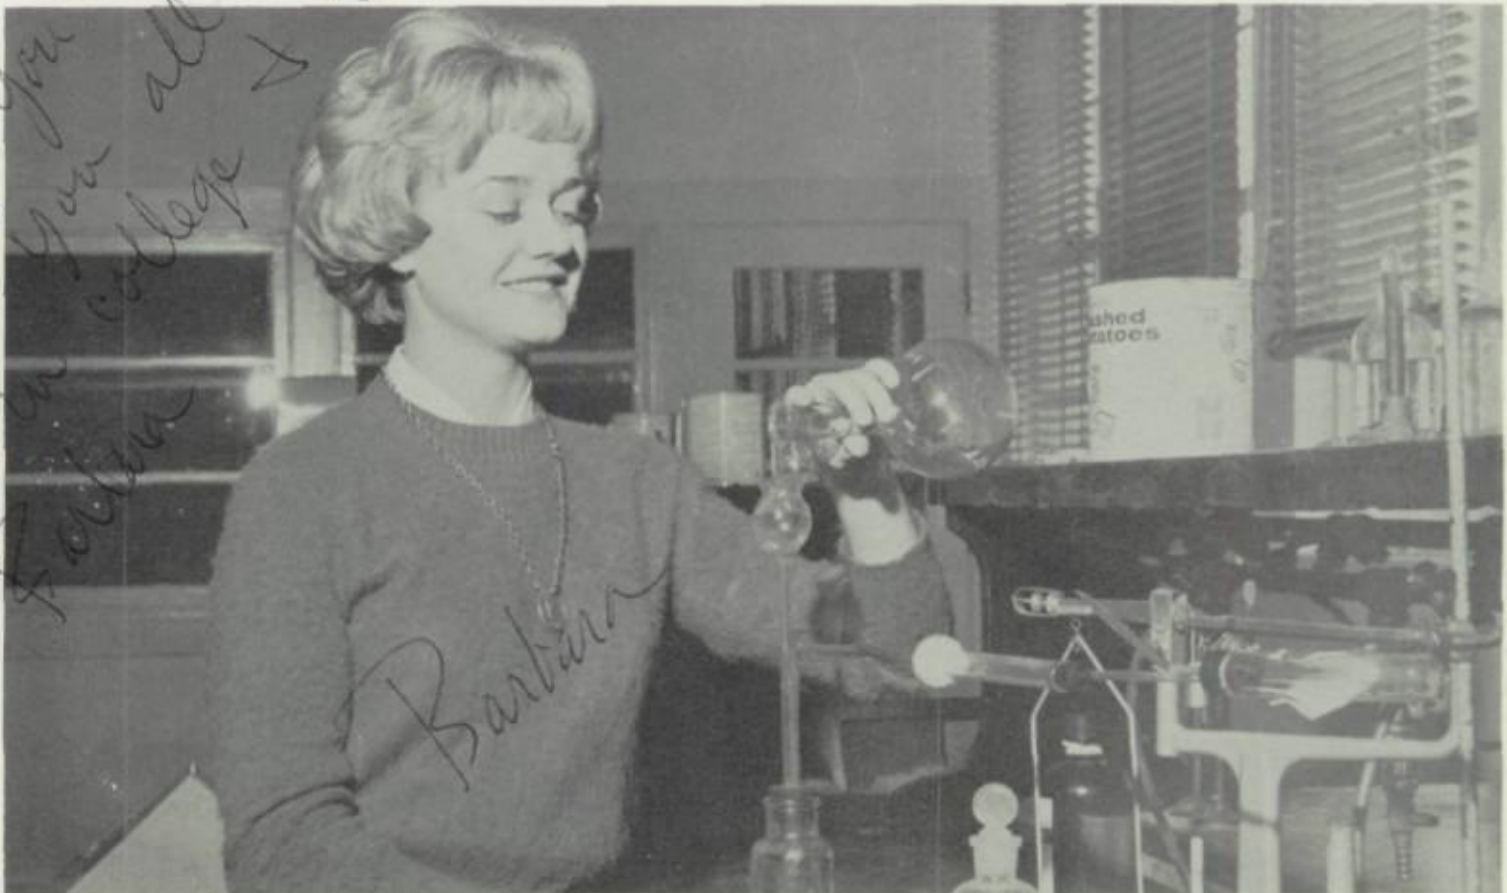

Don Vinson—"The Effects of 2,4 dinitrophenol with respect to Oxidation of Living Tissue."

Barbara Stallings Chosen As Westinghouse Finalist

"Destruction of Red Blood Cells by Non-complement Binding Antibodies" was the title of Barbara Stallings Westinghouse Science Talent Search project. The purpose of her project was to test the theory held by many hematologists that certain antibodies cause red blood cells to become brittle. Under this theory the red blood cells break up and are destroyed when they go through small capillaries. Through work on her project Barbara proved this theory false and proposed a new hypothesis. To complete her research work, Barbara used the facilities in the lab of Good Samaritan Hospital. Barbara was an active member of Girls' League and Parnassus. She was also named a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship contest.

To qualify for a position as semi-finalist in the Talent Search, contestants took a comprehensive test and submitted their research project, teacher recommendation, and transcript. In the past twentyone years, North has had six Westinghouse finalists and fifty honorable mentions.

Barbara Stallings was chosen as a finalist in the Westinghouse Science Talent Search. This was a very high honor.

Barbara Stallings devoted much of her time to working on her Westinghouse research project which dealt with red blood cells. This project was one of the requirements of the Science Talent Search.

Mustangs realized need for Mathematics Courses

America's future depends on the ability of well trained mathematicians. Schoos have stressed math more than ever because of the important part it plays in the race for world advancement. Math was utilized in all occupations, being necessary for housewives and engineers, as well as scientists and physicists. Teachers were taught new mathematical principles and theories during special summer school sessions, enabling students to learn by the most modern methods available.

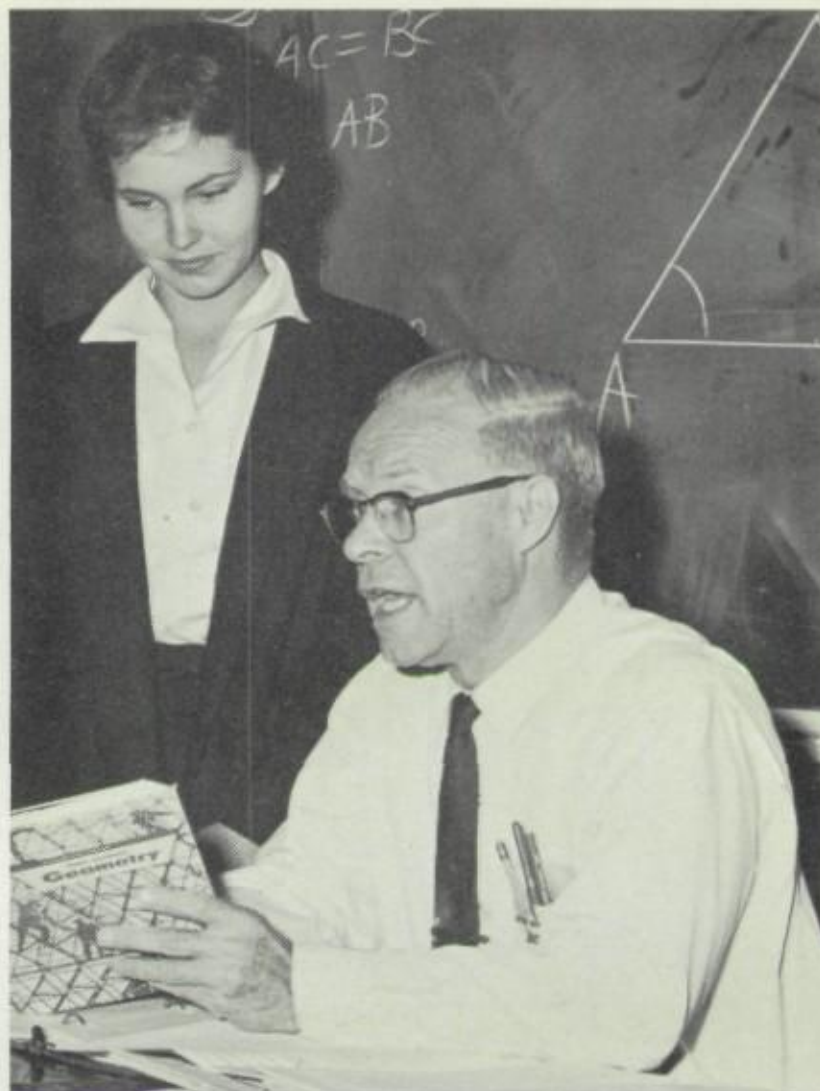

Mr. Inman explained theories of solid geometry to Sue Van Ness and Jerry McRaven after illustrating them on the board.

Students used abstract reasoning in Mathematics

Ranging from general math to advanced senior mathematics and trig, North High School mathematics instructors taught students to use abstract reasoning in their thinking and to apply previously learned math to new situations. Students were taught advanced techniques in dealing with mathematical ideas, and became familiar with professions using this subject.

Because of the complexity of more advanced courses, students were required to take simpler subjects before continuing with higher mathematics. Students could choose from many phases of math, and found that the courses helped prepare them for the problems facing adults at home and at work.

Geometry teacher Mr. Drinkwater showed Mary Kracht the reasoning in a problem and diagramed it on the board. The principles and practices of logical thinking were emphasized throughout the course.

Bob Bello, Marla Garrison, and John Molnar solved trig problems on the blackboard in Mr. Inman's trigonometry class. Trigonometric functions were covered during the course.

Trigonometry students needed individual instruction at times with their problems. Mr. Inman helped Sally Mueller work a trig problem.

Students Acquainted With Proper Business Methods

The center and connecting thread which ran through all trades was the broad and necessary field of business. Businessmen were influential in providing cooperation and usefulness to insure the smooth operation of other professions.

North offered a variety of courses designed to prepare future business leaders with the necessary qualifications. Among the skills acquired through these classes were typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business law, and operating business machines. The students gained a practical understanding of business management and arithmetic, and interested students could enroll in Distributive Education, designed to further their instruction with local businesses.

Tryone Burnett gained experience in operating business machines in class. Office machines such as this aided smooth company operation.

Student pictures were distributed by student helpers in Mr. Palmer's business machine classes for students who planned a business career.

In order to demonstrate proficiency, typing required a great deal of concentration. Speed and accuracy were important in the course which included letter and manuscript writing.

Mrs. LoPiano helped Pat Murphy with a typing exercise while the other students finished their exercises, proving the old saying "practice makes perfect." This course provided an opportunity for business students to get a basic knowledge of typing.

Freshman English Taught Pupils Basic Techniques

Offered at three levels of instruction, freshman English provided new students with an introduction to high school work in English. Selections which represented the writing of ancient and contemporary authors were studied, all being suitable for freshman students. Emphasis was placed on reading speed, comprehension, study skills, and vocabulary as well as enjoying the selections and learning new ideas.

Study of fundamental grammatical principles was begun during students' first year in high school. Paragraphs and short essays stressed clarity of expression, in addition to punctuation essentials.

During the first weeks of school, freshmen were introduced to their counselors and were orientated to North's administration, facilities, and traditions.

Diane Hartrine and Marian Thatcher listened with interest as Dennis Maraner explained the architecture of the famed House of the Seven Gables in Nathaniel Hawthorne's celebrated classic. Articles relating to the subject being taught were just one method of presenting literature.

Sophomore Studies Based On Principles Of Speech

Sophomore English teachers coordinated students' writing and speech activities with literature. Selected authors of prose and poetry were studied. Learning was centered around various writers' concepts and ideas. Longer and more difficult selections were studied, giving the students an opportunity to increase vocabulary and comprehension. Attention was given to literary style and value of the selection. Poetry was discussed, and students learned to extract the author's meaning through analyzing the poem. Among selections in prose were William Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and Silas Marner by George Eliott.

Regular essay writing stressed mechanics of grammar and students realized the importance of writing as a means of communication. Sophomores used the library frequently for reference material. Oral reports enabled students to gain assurance and poise when speaking in public.

Miss Marian Cox, sophomore English teacher, talked to her class about grammar rules stressed in the English book. Vocabulary was included in the course.

Dale Rogers, Marcia Ashley, Ron Weber, and Mary Meno took part in a symposium concerning Franklin's philosophies. Discussions such as this added variety to English courses.

Sandy Johnston and Tony Bustos discussed a map depicting places of historic interest in American literature. Teaching devices such as this promoted interest in English.

Junior English stressed background of Literature

America has long been a melting pot for the languages and customs of many different nationalities, giving this country a rich heritage in literature. Students were given various samples of American Literature, both modern and traditional. By taking a representative author from each important period of literature, juniors were able to trace its development from early documents of such authors as Benjamin Franklin to the work of contemporary American authors. Grammar was coupled with essays, stressing clear, accurate writing. The library was used for research papers required in some classes, and oral assignments were coordinated with the literature program.

Senior English Included Intensive College Training

"Double, double toil and trouble, Fire burn and cauldron bubble," are lines from Macbeth, just one of the many selections which was studied in senior literature. Students learned about famous English authors, from Chaucer to Coleridge. Oral reports, discussion periods, and films helped to further class interest, in addition to the research paper, written during one term. Various topics were chosen and students used the library for extensive research and note taking. Translated selections from the literature of other countries of the world were studied, and advanced writing techniques and ideas were stressed for future college students. Seniors learned to organize and state ideas with clarity and precision in written essays.

Drama was also offered by the English Department, designed to develop imagination and concentration. Students were encouraged to participate in plays and shows in order to gain confidence and experience.

Foreign Language opened new horizons to students

In addition to teaching various languages, which was a time consuming job in itself, the teachers in the Foreign Language Department helped students to appreciate and understand the country whose language was being studied, to know specific problems, and to learn about the people living within the boundaries of a certain country. In more advanced courses, writing in the foreign language was required, and students conversed and read books and magazines in the language studied. Laboratory techniques and testing were used extensively.

For the first year at North High, students were offered the German language. Last year only the first year of German was taught, but in the future more advanced courses will be included.

The study of foreign language has proved useful in such interesting fields as United Nations work, foreign service, and news commentating.

Social Studies promoted interest in world events

Interpretation of today's problems required a complete understanding of the past. During the past year, students learned to apply history to present conditions, which helped them to understand and to appreciate America's position today.

Social Studies, while being required courses, were enjoyable and rewarding. Films and reports aided in understanding subjects; a far cry from the limited encyclopedias used in early schools.

Major cultural concepts of Western civilization were offered in Humanities, which students could take for the first time last year.

Homemaking taught girls skills of sewing, cooking

"Mother and homemaker," such an easy sounding thirty-six hour a day job! But this "duo" required training and practice to demonstrate proficiency, as did other occupations or professions. For students who desired to become good homemakers, beginning and advanced foods and clothing, modeling, home furnishings, and projects were offered. Knowledge of many experienced people was used.

Growth and development of pre-school children were observed in Child Guidance through careful study, observation, and participation in a playschool. Students learned particular problems concerning this age group and how to guide the child, realizing the need for acceptance by the adult family members.

Human relations were studied to help prepare teenagers to cope with some of the problems of adulthood. Discussions centered around the teenager, with regard to his family and friends, and emphasis was given to better understanding of self as a basis for understanding, appreciating, and accepting others.

Through her class in child guidance, Carol Pierce learned to appreciate young children by experiencing situations which occurred in real life.

Driver-Safety Education stressed responsibilities

Probably the most interesting required course in Arizona was Driver Education. Students realized the need for this course because it prepared them for an important and necessary activity of adulthood. Driver Education instructed youths in the correct methods of driving, taught about the conglomeration of "things" under the hood, and most important, the proper attitudes and responsibilities needed.

Tests were given to determine depth perception and reaction time under emergency circumstances, and students studied accident cases to ascertain their cause and possible prevention. Films were shown throughout this course, and additional behind the wheel training was offered for a fee.

Safety Education, dealing with safety in general taught students about home safety and the hazards which radioactive fallout represented. Special safety problems which the parents of small children had to combat were discussed, in addition to water and firearms safety. First Aid was probably the most important part of this course.

Mr. McDermott instructed Maggie Caganich in the proper gun handling procedures during safety education.

Arts and Crafts were entertaining and valuable to students. Bruce Naegeli is shown sketching the figure on the desk.

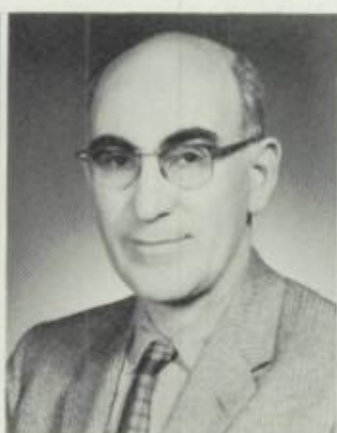

Industrial Arts Required Initiative and Enthusiasm

Industrial Arts enabled boys to develop special skills along with practical experience. Explanation of the course was given, emphasizing initiative and interest. Boys did such things as assembling a radio and architectural work. One service rendered by the Industrial Arts Department was printing programs to be used at various school functions.

General Shop, the basic course, helped the student decide whether or not he wished to enroll in more specialized branches of Industrial Arts or vocational-technical courses. Individual projects were required in many of the courses, and boys could use their time to develop ideas and plans. One of the skills necessary for further work in the department was drafting. Included in the course was the relationship to woodworking, architectural, and other phases of Industrial Arts.

Team Work And Cooperation Emphasized By Coaches

Teamwork was stressed throughout P.E. courses enabling boys to realize the need for cooperation and a better relationship with others. North has maintained a high standard in city, state, and district competitions, under the direction of our coaches. The physical education teachers instructed in a friendly atmosphere, dividing time between class instruction, calisthenics, and actual game play. Boys realized the importance of a strong body, stout heart, and the will to succeed in their activities.

Mike Newport, Bob Schilling, Roy Miller, and Tom Shaver ran several laps to prepare for physical fitness tests in P.E.

Tim Ison neared the finish line in the 880 race during sixth period physical education class.

The North High Reserve Officers Training Corps was assembled for battle group formation in uniform each Thursday. Sgt. Mannheimer used his "command voice" when he led the formation through its complicated maneuvers and drill routines.

Leadership And Patriotism Encouraged By R.O.T.C.

Established at high school level, ROTC taught the cadets habits of orderliness and precision, instilled discipline and respect for authority, encouraged a high sense of honor, and developed patriotism.

Cadets devoted time to extracurricular activities such as rifle teams, drill units, military ball, and an annual night of spirited military competition. The many advantages of ROTC became more evident as the cadet continued in this program. Leadership and the ability to make correct decisions were stressed during the year, and became important in later life.

North High's R.O.T.C. battle group participated in a military inspection every Thursday. Physical appearance and military questions were used in grading the cadets.

Sgt. Mannheimer congratulated P.F.C. David Baines and staff sergeants Charles Hudgins and Mark Mandell for being the inspection winners.

Basketball was a popular sport for both boys and girls. Students found P.E. classes a change from the ordinary routine of sitting at a desk.

P.E. Courses Maintained Girls' Health And Fitness

Offered in girls' physical education classes were various team and individual sports, dance activities, and recreational skills. The most important function of these courses was to promote physical fitness.

Such activities as field hockey, basketball, and archery gave girls an opportunity to improve their circulation and coordination. P.E. courses provided wholesome recreation for the Mustangs, and helped them become more active adults.

Field hockey and other activities gave the girls the privilege of active participation in sports during each day of the week.

Girls' physical education classes practiced a field hockey exercise to warm up for playing the game. Dribbling practice helped girls develop skill in passing the ball accurately to the team members.

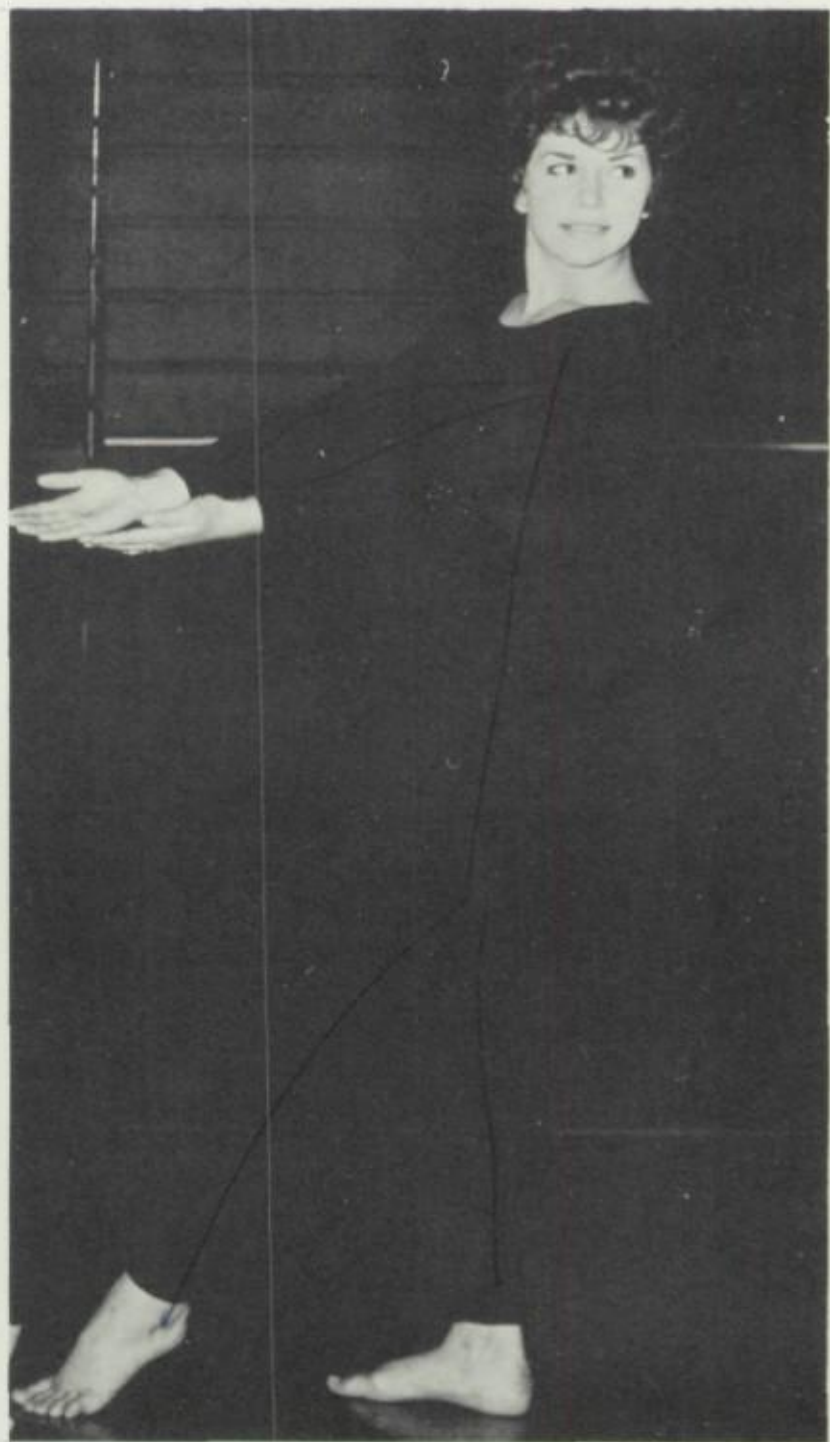

Varied positions taken by each girl made choreography a simple process. Complicated formations like this were included in modern dance exercises and activities.

Modern Dance Required Originality Of Expression

Feelings and moods are expressed in various forms. One form which offered students a broad variety of interpretation was modern dance. The girls' ingenuity was utilized in the creation of new dances which were pleasing and original. It also acquainted students with exercises to insure good health and posture. Under the supervision of Mrs. Phelps, girls followed basic dance techniques during the first part of the year, then were given a chance to use the instruction in individual dances.

Symmetry in dance forms was practiced by Charlotte and Lucia Stevenson in advanced modern dance.

Ann Cava demonstrated one of many poses included in a dance routine in modern dance class.

Under the direction of Miss Kathleen Hergt, members of the mixed chorus class at North performed both secular and sacred music which enhanced the enjoyment of students.

Jean Nancollas and Linda Gunter used their knowledge of tile placing in an Oriental theme mosaic table in advanced art class. Functional and creative design in projects were emphasized.

Students Found Pleasure Through Music Classes

An integral part of our society, music was found almost everywhere, in different forms. Students who took music courses found both relaxation and enjoyment, and acquired a firm musical foundation. They appreciated the important part music played in their lives, ranging from classical compositions to contemporary pieces. Both vocal and instrumental music were taught, starting with elementary skills and techniques. Emphasis was placed on music theory and different types of musical literature. Basic foundations were strengthened by more advanced work. Good tone quality, expression, and clearness were stressed, and students were encouraged to develop solo talents if they so desired. Outstanding band members were selected for the Concert Band, which presented the finest music available. Four to eight part harmony was sung, including secular and sacred music, often sung in an a cappella manner.

The various bands at North provided entertainment during assemblies, games, social functions, and parades. The North High Marching Band practiced during lunch for one of its half-time programs. Aretta Toops, Arizona State baton twirler, entertained the spectators with her twirling routine during the half, surrounded by the band.

North High Band useful, enjoyable through year

As long as men have the desire to create, the arts will exist. There are many forms of art, all distinctly different and beautiful. Sculpture, painting, and crafts gave the students an opportunity to utilize their talents in creating objects of art. Other courses acquainted students with basic concepts of fashion design and interior decorating, making use of background gained in first year art. As in the past, North High students received high honors in the annual Scholastic Art Contest, sponsored by Scholastic Magazine.

Photography was employed by both the yearbook and newspaper among other things, illustrating important events and new ideas. Students gained greater awareness of the importance of art as a significant form of human activity, and demonstrations were shown to help future artists realize and explore the variety of art media. Crafts illustrated the uses of stone, wood, leather, and other decorative materials in making useful objects. Ceramics covered sculpture, glazing, and firing of the three-dimensional objects of clay.

Mr. Charles Craig directed the dance band during the opening performance of "Check Your Worries," a musical performed by music and drama students.

Nourishing meals served by Cafeteria Employees

The wholesome menu served at North High was prepared by the cafeteria staff. Under strictest sanitary conditions these workers kept the "hard working" students well nourished and contented. Students were also assisted in choosing their meals by the cafeteria workers, headed by Mrs. Ida Williams. A well-balanced diet and proper food arrangement in an appealing manner was selected by the employees.

Mary Cullen and Betty Sigler assisted in preparation of food for hungry Mustangs in the cafeteria. Students could make their selection from the variety of foods offered on the menu.

Eleanor Lea moved trays, dishes, and silverware, but she was best remembered for standing at the cash register and checking students' lunches.

Clean Campus kept up by Maintenance Department

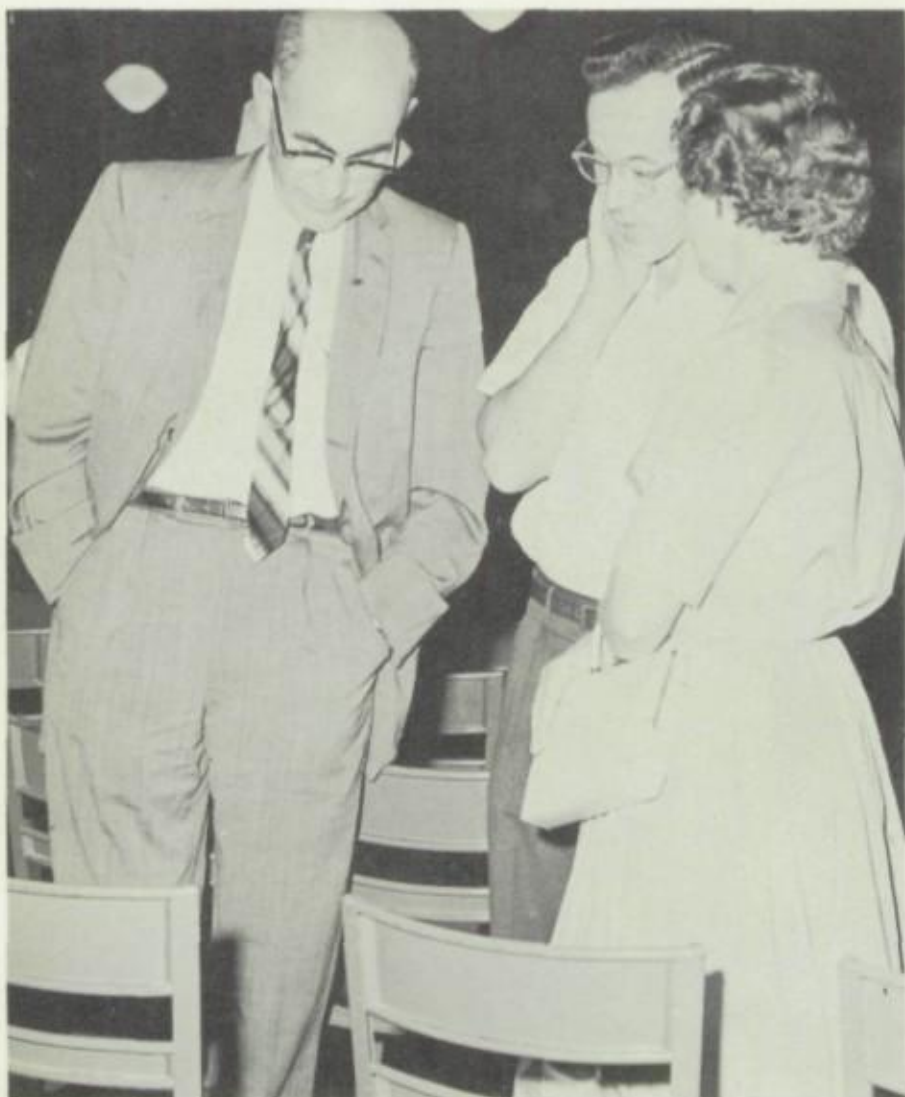

Excellent results of the Maintenance Department were clearly visible around the campus of North. Maintaining the appearance of North High was an all day proposition which involved the cooperation of many competent workers, headed by Mr. Joe Hudson. The maintenance men prepared the auditorium to be used for elections and special events, arranged benches for football games, and cleaned the stadium afterwards. They were seen cleaning the classrooms after each daily session of school. The Maintenance Department took care of the boiler room and made sure that the school was well heated during winter months. They were behind-the-scenes, inconspicuous but necessary and important to the school.

Arthur Tomkins, James Elliott, and Magnus Rustad moved a barrel of grass food to storage space until spring.

During the annual open house Mr. Chard explained classroom procedures to parents after a ten minute class period.

P.T.A. Promoted Good Parent-Teacher Relations

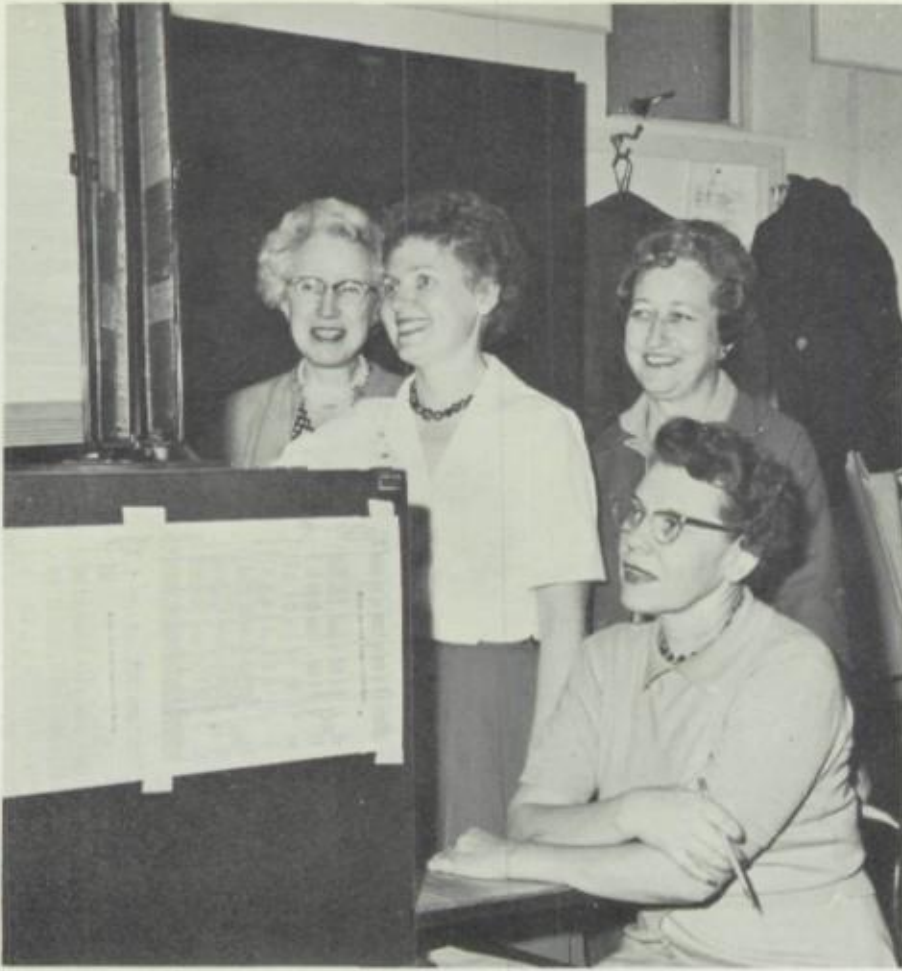

North High Parent Teacher Association, headed by Mrs. J. W. Dewey, was instrumental in bringing about a closer parent-teacher relationship. Due to the marked increase in membership, this organization was active in many fields. During each semester a series of "Family Living Workshop" meetings were held and teenager's problems were discussed. At other meetings speakers, including foreign exchange students talked, bringing their ideas to the group of adults.

During the annual Open House parents visited their children's classes and the teachers outlined such important items as course of study, grading system and methods of teaching. This provided parents with an opportunity to see what student life was really like, and how their children spent the larger part of the day.

Mrs. Helen Dover, Mrs. Harvey Adamson, Mrs. Henry Burke, and P.T.A. President Mrs. J. W. Dewey were responsible for supervising the membership drive during the first months of school. The North High P.T.A. was active the preceding year in a variety of activities. College Orientation Night gave parents an opportunity to learn about their children's future in colleges and universities. Sponsored by the

P.T.A., Mr. Herbert Philbrick, well-known lecturer and author of "I Led Three Lives," spoke before the association on "Zero Hour for America." Mr. Everett Cooke, principal of Papago School, discussed "Staying Alive Patriotically" at another meeting. The organization elected new officers at the close of the school year.

Dorothy Hirst, Helen Smith, Mary Wilson, and Dorothy Catanzaro kept the attendance records in the Registration Office up-to-date and in accurate order.

Faithful Service provided by school's Secretaries

Among the necessary "cogs" which made the wheels of North High run smoothly and efficiently were the secretaries. In the Registration Office secretaries recorded grades and attendance reports. Requirements for graduation, schedule changes, and campus permits were handled by them, in addition to the switchboard in the Principal's office. Paper work concerning corrections in athletic programs and disciplinary action was handled in the Activities Office. Many tedious and painstaking duties were performed by the group of secretaries.

Mr. Roche's secretary, Mrs. Claudine Hughes, typed, took dictation, distributed guidance material to the other counselors at North, and assisted Mr. Roche in his work as head counselor.

Mrs. Gaebler and Miss Coburn were responsible for the school switchboard and the secretarial work in the Principal's Office.

Secretaries for Mr. Stanley Cardon in the Activities Office and for Miss Vera McCormick in the Dean of Girls' Office were Mrs. Townsend and Mrs. Kasmer.

Mr. Simmons, known as "Jungle Jim," spoke to Ronnie Jaramillo during lunchtime. This was Mr. Simmon's last year at North High.

School Services Entailed Numerous Responsibilities

One of the biggest services performed at North was maintaining the student bookstore. Tickets and school supplies were sold, in addition to books.

Films, which added to students' enjoyment and understanding of subjects, were the responsibility of Mr. F. Draper. The Audio-Visual Department delivered films at the proper time and taught the students to operate projectors in classrooms.

Under the supervision of Mr. Clark, study halls were conducted to help overcome the handicap of too little time for homework.

Miss Pothoff, the school nurse, regulated health policies and kept student health records, in addition to caring for students' minor health problems.

Adjustment to school life was one of the problems faced by students, and Mrs. Holliman, home counselor, assisted them in overcoming their difficulties by visiting parents and students at home.

Mrs. Ida Williams, responsible for cafeteria operation helped teachers and students select their noonday meals.

Mrs. Lembke, a librarian at North, shared the responsibility for smooth and quiet operation of the library. Recording student numbers was necessary for efficient service.

Barbara Stallings, Bob Capri, Bruce Naegeli, and Bill Mitchell were finalists in the National Merit Scholarship program. The students became semi-finalists through high scores in the National Merit qualifying tests.

Four Seniors Placed National Merit Finalists

North High School's finalists in the National Merit Scholarship program were Barbara Stallings, Bob Capri, Bruce Naegeli, and Bill Mitchell.

Students who participated in the program began by taking the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test during March of their junior year. After taking the qualifying test, the participants answered questions concerning why they were taking the test and how much education they expected to complete, from high school level to Doctor of Philosophy.

The qualifying test examined students in the fields of English, social studies, mathematics, word usage, and science. One section of the three hour test was devoted to each of the subjects.

After taking the NMSQT, semi-finalists were announced. The students retained that status until the middle of their senior year when finalists were announced. All four of North High's semi-finalists became finalists in the nation-wide contest.

Speech contest entrants were Lewis Schaflander, Steve Sinclair, Mary Paine, Clyde Rohrig, and Jay Strawn.

Students Received Honors In Forensic Tournament

North High was well represented last year at the annual forensic tournament held at Arizona State University. Three of the participants, Lewis Schlaflander, Bob Capri, and Clyde Rohrig, were winners in the speaking contest, which was open to high school students throughout the state of Arizona. Tournaments such as this one enabled students to demonstrate their speaking ability, besides helping them develop initiative. The contest included brief, prepared talks and impromptu speeches. Students were judged on the content of their speeches as well as their manner of presentation. North has always done well in such contests, and this year was no exception.

Lewis Schlaflander, one of the A.S.U. speech contest winners, learned to use correct enunciation in speaking.

Bud Speace, Stephen Sinclair, Harley Meyer, and Bruce Naegeli participated in several speech contests during the year. The tournaments provided an opportunity for high school students to use their forensic ability before an audience.

Students' Merits, Awards Brought Honor To North

North High recipients of the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards were Bob Capri and Bruce Naegeli. The winners of this award are chosen according to state population, Arizona getting three winners. The school chose students from advanced English classes whose specific knowledge of the language and literary awareness was superior. The recipients of this award were announced the senior year. Students participating for the award submitted an example of their best original writing and a fifty-word autobiography, and were tested on various phases of literature. Then they wrote an essay on the topic "The Truths of the Human Heart Revealed Through Literature," chosen by the Council. The award was one of the highest awards a high school student could receive.

Judy Payne won the Daughters of American Revolution award for citizenship, service, and scholarship. The Daughters of American Revolution award was one of the important community awards given to outstanding students during the year.

Recipient of the Elks Club Youth Leadership award was senior Bill Mitchell. This was given for outstanding achievement. Bill Mitchell and Bob Capri were finalists in the National Honor Society scholarship program based on leadership, character, service, scholarship, and other personal qualities.

Executive Duties fulfilled by Student Body Leaders

Gaining experience for his office, Student Body President Ted Borek served on the Executive Committee as a freshman and was president during his sophomore and junior years. In addition to his regular duties as president, Ted had the added responsibility of appointing committees to help with the Arizona Association of Student Councils' convention held at North High this year.

Bob Brown, as vice-president, presided over all Student Council meetings. Bob also took charge of the presidential duties, such as conducting assemblies, when Ted was not present.

Dennis Albert was put in charge of the school treasury and the treasury of the Arizona Association of Student Councils. In addition, Dennis supervised the student body and class elections.

Attending to the jobs of recording secretary and corresponding secretary were Judy Payne and Jane Beck, respectively. Judy was responsible for taking minutes in Executive Committee and Student Council meetings. Jane, as corresponding secretary, took care of the student government correspondence, memos, and the Student of the Month awards.

Mustang Student Council led Government Activities

Deciding policies and making and enforcing rules related to student activities were the duties carried on by North High's Student Council. The Student Council was composed of a representative from each homeroom, the four class officers, and the Executive Committee members. The representatives were elected in the homeroom each semester and also served as homeroom chairmen.

Sponsoring the Arizona Association of Student Council's convention was one of the Council's main projects. Sponsoring a drive to get food, clothing, and toys for needy families at Christmas; making arrangements for homecoming activities; and re-writing the school's constitution were also among the Council's other major projects.

Planning agendas for the Student Council meetings and carrying out the plans made were among the duties of the Executive Committee. The Committee consisted of the student body officers, the Honor Guard Chief Justice, the class presidents, the Service Organization president, the Girls' League president, and two representatives from each class elected by Student Council members in their class. The Executive Committee was in charge of planning the Student Council convention and held a contest to obtain the cover for the resume booklet to be published about the convention.

Honor Court Justices held High Positions of Decision

Pronouncing sentence on campus "criminals" was the duty of the Honor Court. Judges for the Honor Court were chosen by their classmates to try cases of violations of rules. Bringing food into the buildings, cutting into the cafeteria lines, being on campus without an I.D. card, and cutting classes were reasons for being given an Honor Court.

Receiving a yellow slip in one of the morning classes, the offender was summoned to appear in the Honor Court seventh period. Upon arriving, he was presented with the accumulated facts and given an opportunity to plead his case. If the student pleaded guilty, he was sentenced to detention hall after school. If the plea was "not guilty," his case was investigated thoroughly and he appeared again at a later date to be sentenced or acquitted.

Since Chris Nordlund, who had been elected to the office of Honor Court Chief Justice, moved, senior judge Cheryl Hadaway took over her position. An election was held to fill the empty office.

As secretaries of the Honor Court, Kathy Krause and Candy Heldermon, front, and Billie Mabrey, back, sent summons to students. Steve Shupe, back, served as bailiff.

North High Student Body President, Ted Borek, examines the agenda back stage before opening the State Student Council's Convention.

Art Truter and Jerry Gabay prepared standards to direct representatives to prescribed areas in the auditorium for the first session.

Arizona Students Met to Discuss Student Government

For the first time since 1942, North High hosted the convention of the Arizona Association of Student Councils (AASC). Students from many Arizona schools met on December 1 and 2 for this annual affair to discuss problems and compare solutions. These representatives were chosen from the Student Council or Executive Committee of these schools. The foreign exchange students also attended.

Registration began the evening before the first general session, followed by an informal dance in the Corral. The next day the first general session began in the auditorium. Governor Paul J. Fannin, Phoenix Mayor Sam Mardian, Jr., and the principal, Charles M. Burton delivered speeches along with Dr. Schooland, executive secretary of the AASC, and Dixon Price of the Arizona Education Association.

After lunch and discussion groups, the second general session was held. Reports were given on the House of Burgesses, Girl's Nation, Boy's Nation, and other student associations which had been attended since the last AASC convention. Guest speaker Dr. George Mathes addressed the students.

When the convention separated into Problem Clinics, North High classrooms became workshops for the twenty-two groups. A student body president led each clinic which consisted of an advisor and several students. Among the problems discussed were the ways Student Councils could improve school spirit and discipline, how to improve relations with other schools, and whether or not fraternities and sororities should be allowed in high school.

At the banquet that evening, former Governor Howard Pyle delivered an address. A semi-formal dance was held following the banquet.

The next morning at the third general session, former Mayor Jack Williams spoke to the representatives. The 1961 convention was then adjourned.

Ted Borek greeted members of the State Student Council Convention in the evening session. As North hosted the convention, Ted was in charge of the general affairs.

Upper right: Student Council representatives participated in one of the many problem clinic discussions which gave suggestions for the members to share with their fellow students. Middle right: Special problems of small schools was the topic discussed in this problem clinic as members took careful notes in order to retain good suggestions made by other members.

Lower right: Conventioneers got acquainted at an informal dance in the Corral following the registration the evening before the first general session.

"What will these hands never be clean?" the sleep-walking scene of Macbeth, was recited in the talent assembly of the convention by Diane Hall.

Vocal Group Participated In Musical Production

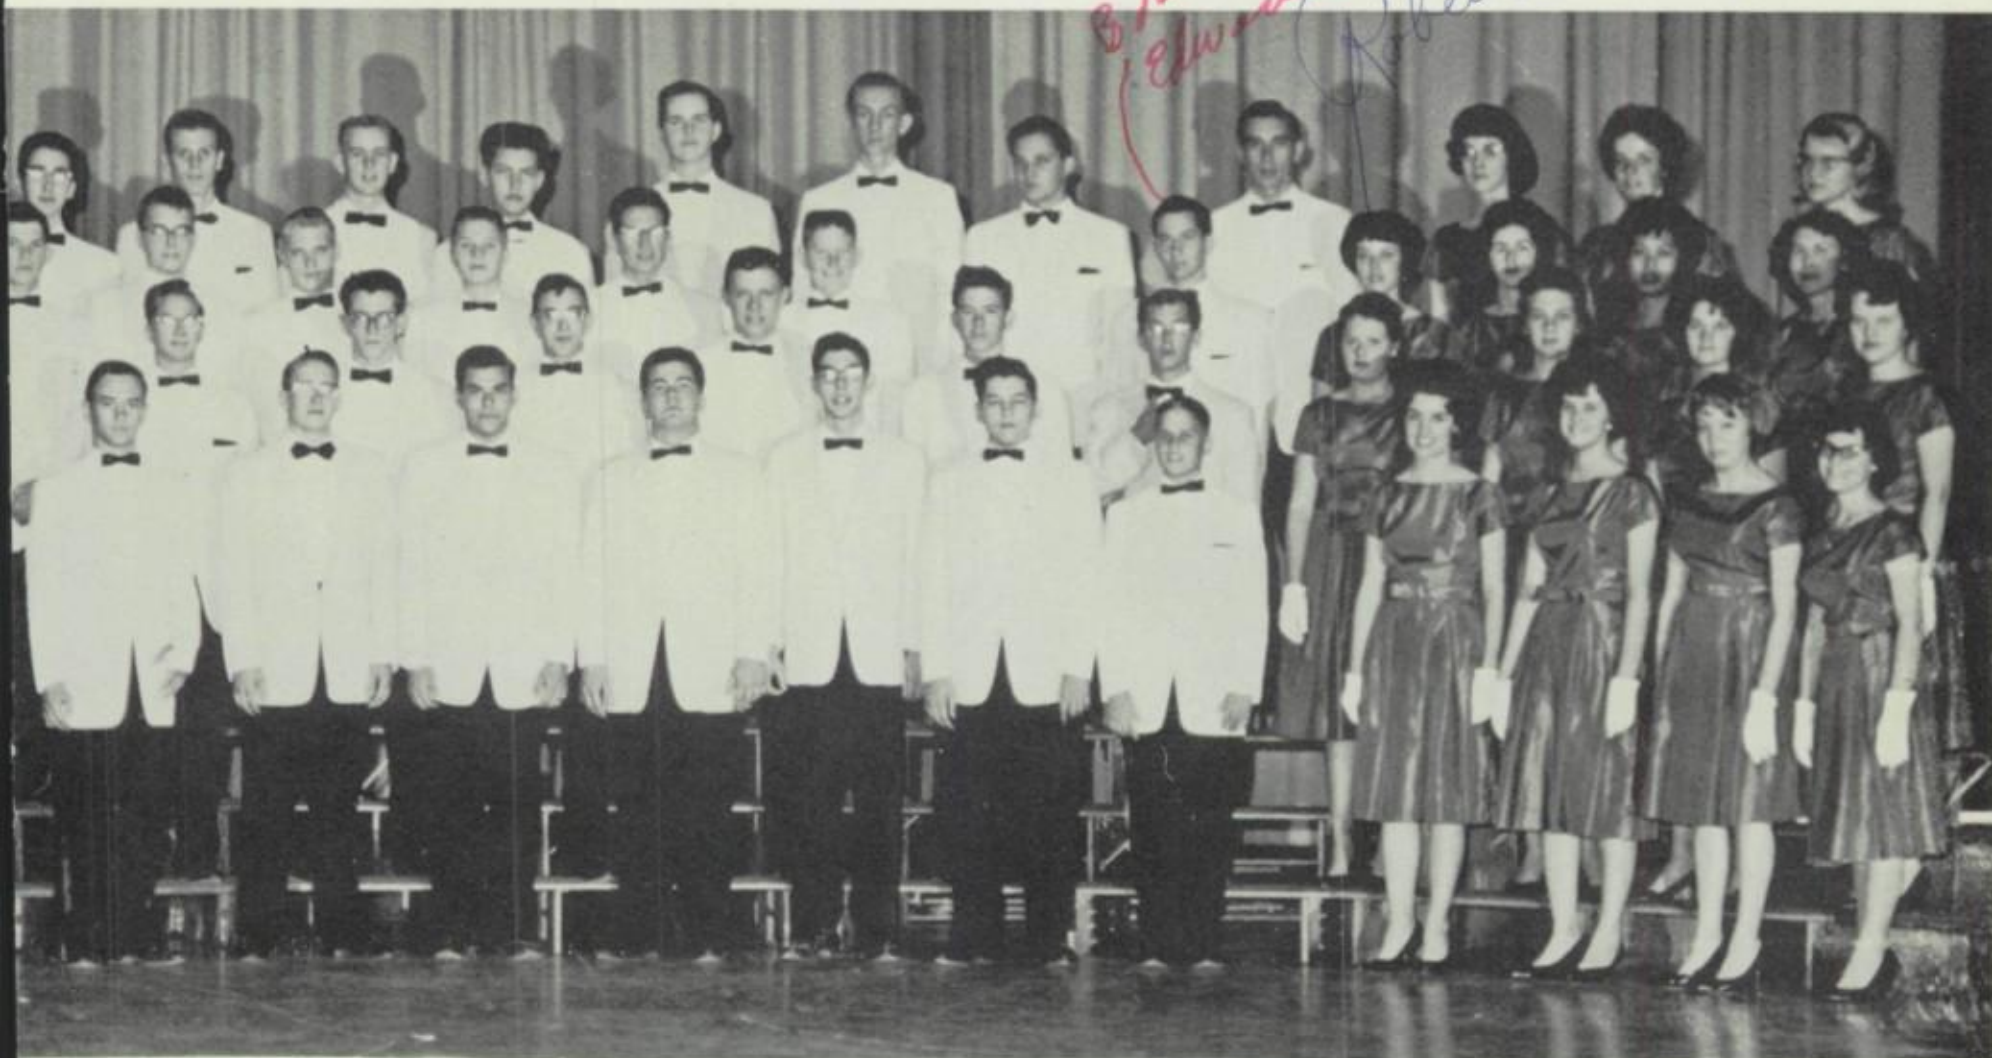

Participating in the musical production of "Check Your Worries", the A Cappella choir was kept busy until November 25. After this date the choir began preparations for Christmas programs. Some programs were held at the First Congregational Church and Christmas vespers were given at North High School; others were held at Longview School, and a Christmas assembly was given for North High's student body.

In the spring the choir earned money for its annual out-of-state choir trip during the four day rodeo holiday. Performing in the Salt River Valley Choral Festival and the Regional Music Festival at Tucson, the choir ended its year's activities.

Twelve members of the A Cappella composed the Northern-Aires. Singing for the Kiwanis' Regional Convention, for the State Student Council Convention, for the Congregational Church Women's Fellowship Group, for the Lion's Club Wives, for the Phoenix Education Secretaries, and for Longview Elementary School were a few engagements of this group.

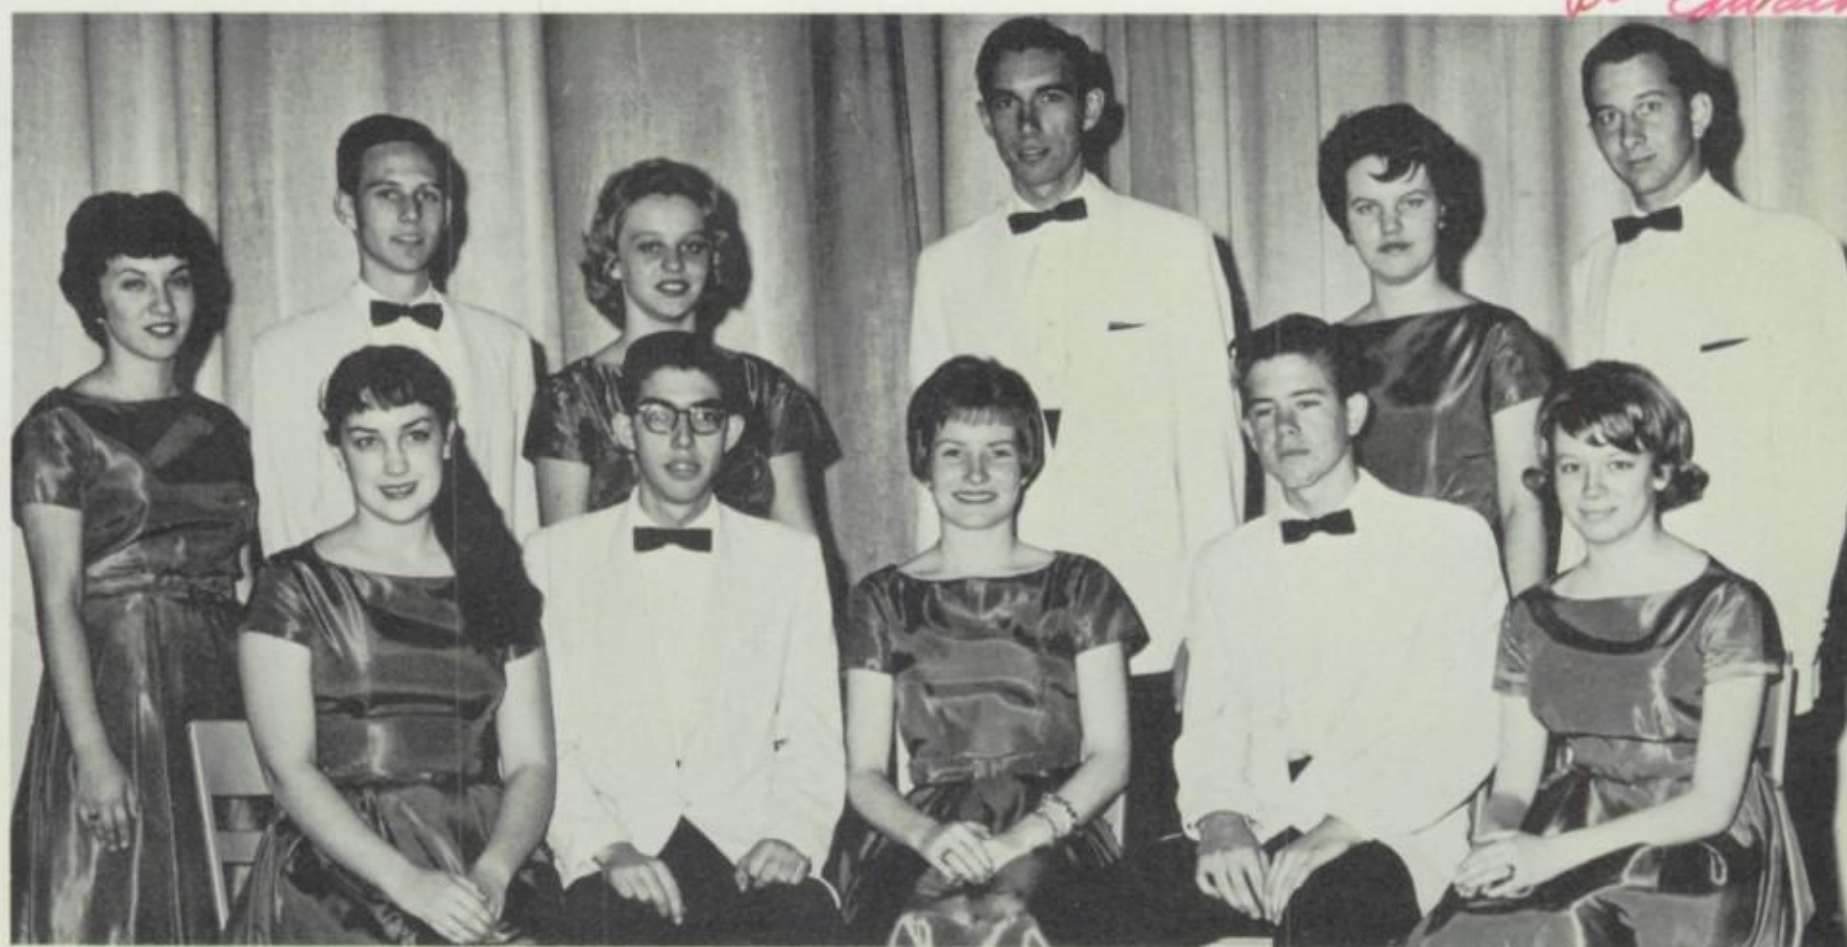

A Cappella members chatted in front of the flagpole while awaiting transportation to a program given at Longview Elementary School. This group gave programs at various elementary schools.

Members of A Cappella were, Front Row: C. Groesser, J. Hershey, J. Shen, J. Schaburg, J. Shropshire, R. Reed, R. Sullivan, S. Stramandinoli, E. Thomas, R. Ashley, A. Potter, R. Luth, G. Members of the Northern-Aires were, Seated: Judy Sheen, Russ Ashley, Carroll Jordan, Bob Maston, Judy Orcutt. Standing: Norma Yeary, Carl Smith, Judy Shogren, Bill Neisen, Bonnie Brown and Bob Edwards. Not pictured was Al Konow. At the beginning of second semester some of these people left the group and Lois Anderson, Louise

Kingston, and Ray Pilloud replaced them. The group sang mostly modern music. Some of the songs were "The Birth of the Blues," "Shiver Ma' Timbers Jones," "Where're Ya' Goin'?", "My Gal Sal," and "The Song of the Open Road."

Paula Pentworth, (Pam Prather) got some friendly advice from Frank Gillette (Eric Thomas) on how to capture Chester, the boy she "has her eye on". She finds that in order for a boy to be interested in a girl they have to be interested in the same things, Paula then goes out to learn about hot-rods, Chester's only interest.

"Ladies of the P.C.C.F.D.", a Planning Committee for the Commemoration of Founders' Day, met to discuss the coming picnic. The meeting ended in a free-for-all brawl.

Small Town Depicted In "Check Your Worries"

"Check Your Worries" was produced for the first time in the Southwest at North High. It was written by Mel Weiser, North High drama teacher, Mr. Al Davis, Phoenix College band master, and former North High music department chairman, and Mr. Al Polhamus, musical director of the Army and Navy Academy in Carlsbad, California. "Check Your Worries" premiered in a New York high school on November 17, 1961. On November 23, 24, 25, 1961, when the musical was produced at North, it was in rehearsal in twenty-five other schools and colleges across the country.

A musical comedy, "Check Your Worries" revealed the story of a small town celebration of "Founder's Day." Benson Hart, publisher of the local newspaper and descendent of the Hartsville founder, advised Arthur Peterson, the young editor of the high school newspaper, "A good editor finds things to criticize where no one else looks."

Arthur, along with other students, proceeded to start a campaign against "Founder's Day." Then the town divided into two factions.

Meanwhile, two strangers, who were actually Life magazine reporters, came to town to cover the local celebration. Frank Gillette, one of the reporters, almost ruined his romance with Susan Hart, older daughter of Benson Hart, by attempting to print the story of the town argument. However, all turned out well as the town had a rip-roarin' celebration.

Being adored and admired by some of the girls in the play was Eric Thomas.

Crew chiefs in the musical were, Front Row: Annette Whetton, publicity chairman; Christie Bostock, costume Chairman. Back Row: Paul Estes, scenery director; Bob Lutz and Dave Raven, in charge of lighting both back stage and the spot light.

Members of the Hartsville High School Press saluted the town founder, Elmo Pendleton Hart, in the North High production of the musical comedy, "Check Your Worries" written by Mel Weiser.

Band members were, Front Row: J. Courson, M. Thomas, S. Rosenfield, T. Waldrip, B. D. Schwimmer, J. H. Hymes, M. Ponte, P. Alden, C. Halladay, L. Hearn. Second Row: C. Kiel, C. Kapp, J. Music from polkas to waltzes was presented by the North High Dance Band for students at the Blue and Silver Ball.

Marching Band Provided Music For School Events

Under the direction of Mr. Charles Craig the band performed at various programs and events throughout the Valley of the Sun. One of the major activities was playing at the North High football games during the season. The band performed for a convention of the principals of the Arizona high schools held at the Ramada Inn in Phoenix. The boys in the band played for the R.O.T.C. Military Review.

In addition to their local activities the band went to Flagstaff, Arizona and participated in the Arizona State College Homecoming. A major project of the group was the annual trip to Disneyland in Anaheim, California, taken in the spring. Such fund-raising drives as the sale of milk chocolate with almond candy bars, a rummage sale, a mistletoe sale, and a car wash were promoted by band members for the trip.

Choral Group Performed With Other School Choirs

Starting off the year in a combined fall concert with West, Phoenix Union and Central High School, the Advanced Girls' Choir hosted these choirs in a concert held on November 20. Singing in three part arrangements, the choir performed both secular and sacred music. Christmas Vespers held on December 17 were presented in cooperation with the A Cappella Choir. Later in the year a spring concert was given with West High School's Advanced Girls' Choir. Preparing music for the Salt River Valley Choral Festival at Tucson occupied rehearsal time. The choir also participated in the Senior Baccalaureate held at the end of the year. This series of performances kept the Advanced Girls' Choir busy throughout the year.

One of the main concerts of the year was given on March 2. On the program not only the Advanced Girls' Choir but also the beginning freshmen girls' choir, the beginning boys' choir, a boys' ensemble of five, the Northern-Aires, and the A Cappella choir performed. Miss Hergt, the director, said after this program, that there was not a thing she asked of them in directing that they did not give her.

Service Band was a sub-band whose members were taken from the Concert Band. One of the hardest working groups on campus, the Service Band played at all pep assemblies and various other assemblies. In addition to this activity, the band also provided music at the basketball games. Part of the members formed the dance band, which played at some of the school dances. The members were, Front Row: Barry James Downs, Nancy Gasaway, Sue Van Ness, Valerie Gardener, Tawny Lynn Todd, Loni Gayle Johnson, Catherine Sue Gailey, Aretta Mae

Back Row: Cathy Krah, Jackie Breinholt, Susie Polacek, Barbara Davis, Lillian Gonzalo, Maureen Bronson. These members were active in the promotion of greater teen-age Traffic Safety in the Phoenix area. The North High Traffic Council, was sponsored by Mr. Pace, who taught driver's education at North and also behind-the-wheel training to many Valley teen-agers.

Holiday Safety Promoted By North Traffic Council

Promoting teenage traffic safety, the North High Traffic Safety Council acted under the sponsorship of Mr. Pace, driver education teacher. As part of a national organization, the North High chapter conducted an all-school car safety check. During the first semester cars were checked, and members awarded prizes to those in the best condition.

Flares were sold, and a concession stand was held at the North-Mesa football game. Members conducted an economy run and to stress caution on the highways during December, members put short poems in the daily bulletin warning drivers of the hazards of holiday driving. These poems brought to the students' attention the fact that accidents could happen at any time in the way least expected. The Council held a "car pound" to raise money and to illustrate how little damage was done to a car by sledge hammers compared to that done in a wreck.

North High Traffic Safety Council president was Barbara Maddox. Saralou Combs served as vice-president, and Kay Clifford was secretary-treasurer of the Council.

Barb Maddox, Traffic Club president and Kay Clifford, secretary-treasurer, showed club vice-president Saralou Combs the highway flares which the club sold.

Newly Organized Club Aided Various Charities

Tri Alta Sigma Tri-Hi-Y started the year as a new club founded on the principles of Tres Bon Pensee Tri-Hi-Y. All of the members of Tres Bon Pensee graduated in 1961. Sponsored by Miss Huey and led by president Pam Prather, the club donated a great deal of time to cleaning and aiding the Valley of the Sun School for mentally retarded children. Tri Alta Sigma gave financial help to the needy through the proceeds from car washes, pickle sales, and bake sales. Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets also were filled and given to needy families. In addition to these activities the members enjoyed social functions such as dances, joint meetings with Hi-Y's, a mothers' tea, and a trip to a snow camp.

To raise money for their service project, the Valley of the Sun School for mentally retarded children, Tri Alta Sigma members sold baked goods outside the cafeteria during both lunch periods of one day.

Marla Garrison, queen, and Ross Shannon, king, reigned over the festivities during the North High 1962 homecoming game and dance.

'59' Graduates Recognized at Homecoming Festivities

In spite of Friday the 13th North's Executive Committee put on an exceptional homecoming night. Stepping from Model A Fords during half-time, the queen and her attendants were announced. Marla Garrison was crowned North's homecoming queen. Representing each of the classes as an attendant were Peggy Rhoton, senior; JoAnn Hudson, junior; sophomore, Mary Payne, and Rose Mary Gillespie, freshman. The band played while Aretta Marla Troops and the Pom Pon Squad entertained the crowd that came to see North High's football team "Smash the Spartans" of Camelback High.

During North's after game dance, Ross Shannon was crowned king and he and Marla led a dance to the music of the Sonics.

North's senior homecoming attendant was Peggy Rhoton.

JoAnn Hudson was chosen by the juniors as attendant.

Rose Mary Gillespie was chosen freshman attendant.

*Sara: You've been such a good Co-Capt - I hope you
 Best of luck always - I do come back & see us - Love
 Bette*

Captain and co-captain of the Pom Pon squad were Sue Roof and Saralou Combs, respectively.

Poms and Cheers inspired Mustang Spirit at games

Pep was considerably heightened the past year by North High's Cheerleaders and Pom Pon squad under the direction of Mrs. Betsy Phelps. The Cheers' new outfits added color to sports events while yells induced spectator participation. In 1962 Cheerleaders didn't freeze during the long football games. The girls held a bake sale and car wash to raise funds for the attractive skirts and white bulky sweaters that they bought. Co-captain and captain of the Cheerleaders were Suzie Polecek and Marla Garrison.

With new dances the Pom Pon squad, captained by Sue Roof and Saralou Combs as co-captain, kept the crowds' attention. Seniors on the Pom Pon line participated in the Senior Talent Assembly.

Suzie Polacek and Marla Garrison were co-captain and captain of the cheerleaders.

Basketball games were among the events at which the Pom Pon squad performed. Along with the Cheerleaders, they were a vital part of North High games and assemblies.

Game Spirit, Attendance Boosted By Campus Clubs

Participating in cheers at football games and pep assemblies was the main purpose of the Pep Club. The members sat on the fifty yard line next to the band and contributed greatly to the cheering section at football games, carrying out their motto, "Yell, Brother, Yell." Mr. Thomas Inman, math teacher, sponsored the group. Officers of the Pep Club presented awards to outstanding players in all sports at an assembly. Dressed in imaginative costumes, Pep Club president, Jack Travis, and vice president, Art Truter, conducted cheers at the pep assemblies, Secretary, Mary Struthers, wrote the skits performed at pep assemblies and took care of Pep Club funds.

Ushering at North High's home football games was the Stadium Club. The members passed out programs and acted as hosts and hostesses at these games. In addition to these activities, the students in Stadium Club contributed to the collection for victims of Hurricane Carla and also to President Kennedy's appeal. Members were required to be in attendance at all meetings of the club and usher for at least one-half of the home football games.

Judy Payne and her sister and Swedish mother are shown on one of the many visits in Sweden and the neighboring countries.

Judy Payne A.F.S. Student Spent Summer In Sweden

North High's A.F.S. committee helped establish better relations between countries.

Through the A.F.S., Judy Payne, North High senior, was given the opportunity of spending more than two months last summer in Ulricheham, Sweden. Judy Payne lived with the Brger Smuelson family during her stay and spent summer traveling with them. Judy attempted to speak the Swedish language and learn their customs.

Judy and the Brger Smuelson family posed for a picture at their country home for Judy to bring back to America to remind her of her Swedish summer.

Anytown, U.S.A. Attended By North High Delegates

Saralou Combs, John Molnar, Chris Nordlund, Tom Peloso, and Barbara Stallings attended the Anytown session which featured workshops on such things as religion, prejudices and leadership.

Evening programs for teenagers included those of Indian culture, Careers, Inc. of Phoenix, an international night, and a skit night.

Completely planning a city, a county, a state, and all judicial systems had to be accomplished by the girls of Girls' State. The mythical Girls' State was held in the summer of 1961 at the University of Arizona, Tuscon. Girls, who participated in these activities, from North High were Sue Roof, Joan Cary, Suzie Polacek, and Marlyne Schneider.

Bill Mitchell, Dennis Abert, Bob Brown, Gerry Gabay, and Ted Borek were the students from North High who went to Boys' State at Flagstaff. They followed a program similar to that at Girls' State.

Delegates to Anytown, Arizona were, Saralou Combs, Chris Nordlund, Barbara Stallings, and Thomas Peloso. John Molnar was not shown.

Delegates to Girls' State were Suzie Polacek, Joan Cary, and Sue Roof, Marlyne Schneider was not shown.

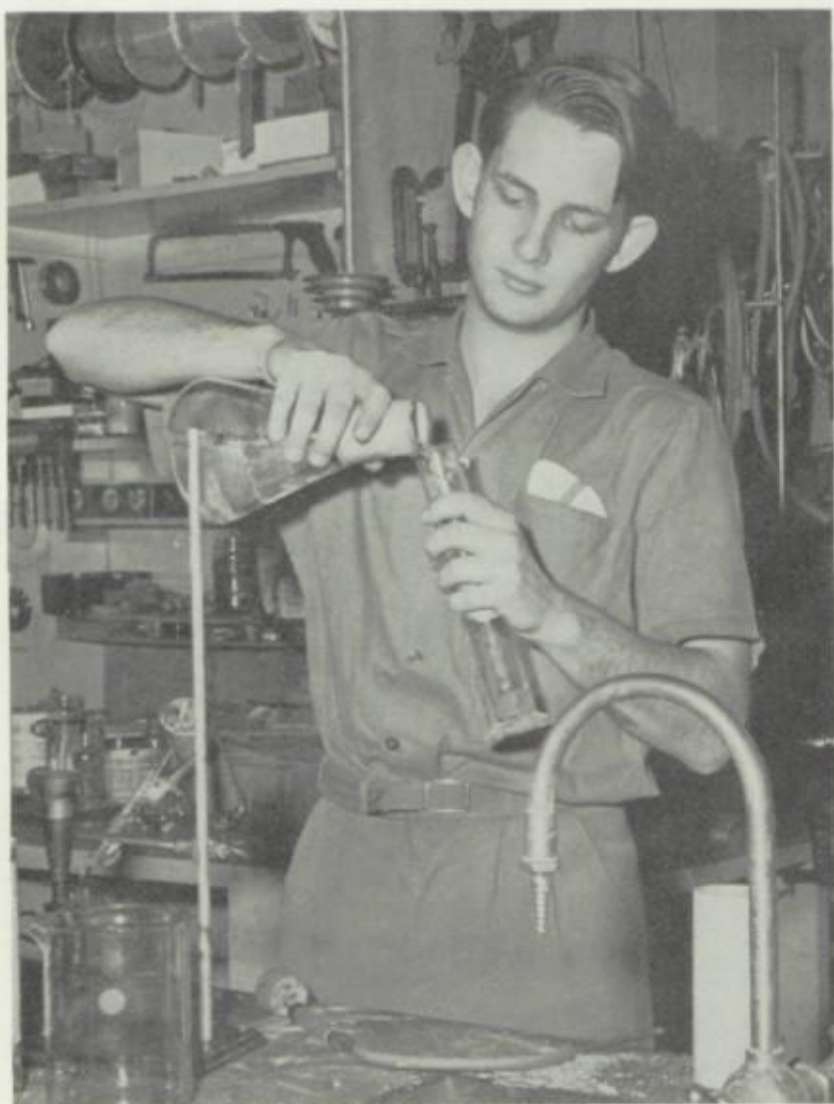

Members of Boys' State were Bob Brown, Gerry Gabay and Ted Borek. Those not shown were Dennis Abert and Bill Mitchell.

Tim Hawarden spent many hours reading up on the latest developments in his favorite hobby, astronomy.

Tim waited after school in the North High center parking lot for Dave Todd. The two of them rode to and from school daily in Dave's black and white Ford.

Tim worked very hard in the advanced Physics class on one of the many experiments he performed at North during the year.

Foreign Exchange Student came from South Africa

Tim Hawarden came to North High in 1962 from Pietermaritzburg, Republic of South Africa, as one of our foreign exchange students. He stayed at the home of David Todd. He is seventeen years old. Tim enjoyed reading science fiction books and was found to have a large stack of these in his bookcase. Astronomy and skindiving were among his hobbies. Tim also liked mountain exploring. While at North High Tim's course of study was American History, Executive Committee, calculus, physics, speech and American government. Tim has studied physics since the ninth grade and the people and language of Africa, which is Afrikaans, since the second grade.

Sports are compulsory in South Africa. Tim took up shooting as a compulsory sport and became shooting champion of his province.

Michele, French Student, lived at Thompson Home

On North's campus this past year as one of A.F.S. foreign exchange students was Michele Liottet. Michele came from Paris, France, on the American Field Service program and while she was at North she stayed with Jeanne Thompson.

A seventeen year old brown haired "Jeune Fille," she loved Dixieland Jazz and classical dancing. Michele was an accomplished linguist, who had had four years of Spanish and five years of English. She also had two years of chemistry and physics.

Her course of study at North included American history, speech, international relations, American government, Spanish, and executive committee.

The Thompson phone was put to good use by Michele Liottet as she talked on the phone to her many North High friends.

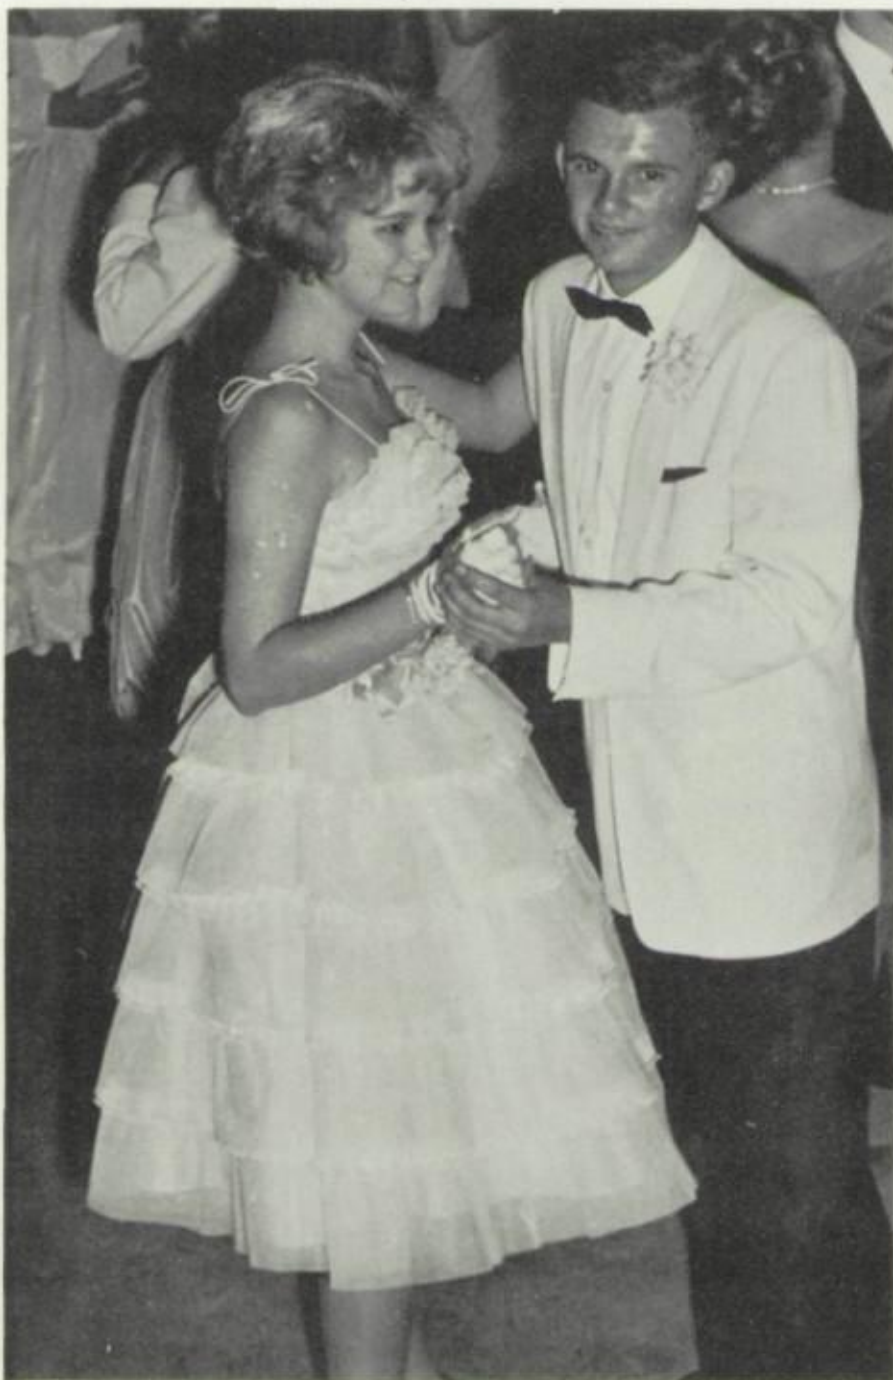

Michele Liottet gained a much greater command of the English language through her experiences in Mr. Courter's speech class.

With a picture of her family beside her, Michele wrote letters home in French, her native tongue.

Members of Girls' League Cabinet were, Front Row: April Hoots, Marlyne Schneider, Linda Phillips, Pat Doyle, Barbara Stallings, K. Clifford. Back Row: P. Blair, M. Williams, J. Cary, S. Mueller, J. LaBenz, M. Parrish, J. Benjamin.

Kathy McCarthy and Kenny Sims were one of the many couples who went to the Blue and Silver Ball.

The Bunny Hop was one of the many dances included during the December 9th evening at the ball.

Between dances at the ball North High students met in small groups and engaged in conversation while they waited for the band to play the next set.

Jimmy LaBenz helped his date with her coat after the dance was over at midnight.

'Golden Moments' theme for Girls' League Ball

Traditionally a part of North High is the Blue and Silver Ball sponsored by Girls' League. North's Blue and Silver featured entertainment furnished by talented students. In 1960 the dance band of North High played. Another feature at the dance in 1960 was having your picture taken in a sleigh.

When the Blue and Silver began in 1939 a Grand March was led by the president of Girls' League and her escort.

A waltz contest was always held at the dance and winners received a prize. This tradition started at the first Blue and Silver and still continues today. Following traditions set by other Blue and Silver Balls the council chose Golden Moments as their theme, featuring decorations entirely of gold. Past themes have included Stardust, Pink Fantasy, and the Bewitched Ball, the decorations for this ball were knights, witches and castles. In other dances the girls used huge balloons, artificial flowers and wishing wells. Music was provided by North High's Dance Band.

North's Girls' League planned and carried out many activities this year. One of the most important events in which the girls participated was the annual Girls' League Convention held in Yuma. With "Youth Meets the Challenge" as this year's theme, the convention offered many subjects of interest. Girls joined in discussion groups, listened to speakers and went to a football game, attended a banquet, and discussed business reports.

"Grin and Bear It," a sports dance held after the Mesa football game was sponsored by Girls' League. The boy and girl with the most winning smile were crowned at the dance. Girls' League members decorated and cleaned up the State Student Council Convention banquet.

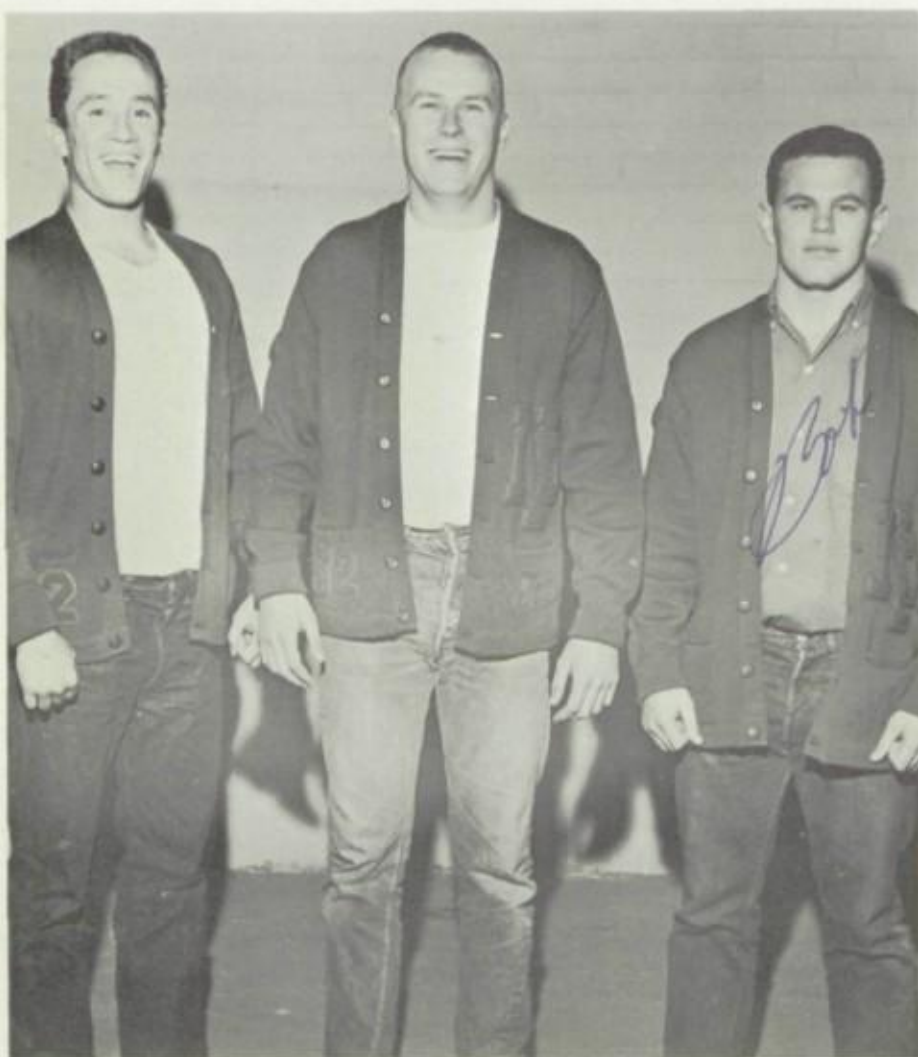

During second semester Girls' League gave a fashion show in co-sponsorship with Goldwaters. Shown at night instead of after school, the fashion show gave parents an opportunity to attend.

Freshmen members were briefed on procedures and activities of Girls' League at the Freshman Potluck Dinner in the Corral. In addition to this, Girls' League aided various charities such as the Heart Fund and Gompers Memorial Clinic.

Banquet Honoring Seniors Held By Lettermen's Club

Many students attended the dance, sponsored by the Lettermen's Club, that was held after the game with Central High School. On parent's night parents of all football players were invited by the Lettermen to the last football game, admitted free, and given seats on the field. At the end of the school year a banquet was given by the Lettermen for seniors who had lettered. Medallions and pictures of the seniors participating in the sport they lettered in were presented. Although all lettermen were invited, only seniors were honored. Working in the concession stands at football games encompassed many hours of effort by the Lettermen's Club members.

Club Members collected for Cystic Fibrosis Fund

Tri Lytz Tri-Hi-Y was active during the year collecting money for Cystic Fibrosis. Support from the members enabled the club to be active in other fields such as selling candy for World Service and raising money for the school student scholarship fund. Members attended the YMCA Valley Volleyball tournament. The Progressive Dinner was held along with the Alumni Tea and a farewell dinner for Seniors. During Christmas season, Tri Lytz Tri-Hi-Y's activities included collecting supplies for a needy family and going caroling. With the aid of club sponsor, Mrs. Lipton, and Marrianna Meyer, president, the club planned projects and events at each of the monthly meetings.

Fund-Raising Car Wash Held By Viking Hi-Y Club

Vikings Hi-Y sold candy for the World Service Organization sponsored through Y.M.C.A. Funds thereby received went to foreign countries to oppose Communist youth centers. Vikings laminated students' identification cards in the cafeteria. For the Arizona State Student Council Convention that was held at North in December, members of Vikings supplied name badges for all delegates. Members helped to prepare the cafeteria for the Student Council dinner held in December. Before the Blue and Silver Ball, Vikings held a car wash; they sold mistletoe before the Christmas vacation.

Several car washes were held by Vikings to raise money for worthy charities. This one was held at the school parking lot in December.

Officers of La Jeunesse were Sandy Adams, chaplain; Diana Patterson, president; and Marilyn V. Parrish, vice president. The club was affiliated with the Y.W.C.A.

La Jeunesse Y-Teens Worked For UNICEF

To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to realizing the ideals to which they are committed by their faith. La Jeunesse Y-teens planned several different projects. Under the leadership of their president, Diana Patterson, and their sponsor, Mrs. Oldenburg, a membership drive was held in the fall.

Members worked for UNICEF, United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, as well as visiting the State Hospital. At the meeting speakers from community organizations lectured on various topics. Talks were also given by various students. Near the end of the school year a party was held to climax the year's activities for the club.

At the La Jeunesse meetings many activities were planned and carried out. At this meeting president Diana Patterson read the constitution and submitted it to the approval of the members.

Goodness Wins Out When Purity Reforms A Villain

"A Moral Tale" was the theme of the annual senior talent show. Through the combined efforts of about sixty seniors, the class produced a melodramatic show plus talent. Such typical characters as the villain, E. Rutherford; the villainess, Aquanetta Van Biltmore; the hero, Archimedes Jones; and the heroine, Purity were played by Roger Ball, Barbara King, Bob Capri, and Diane Hall, respectively.

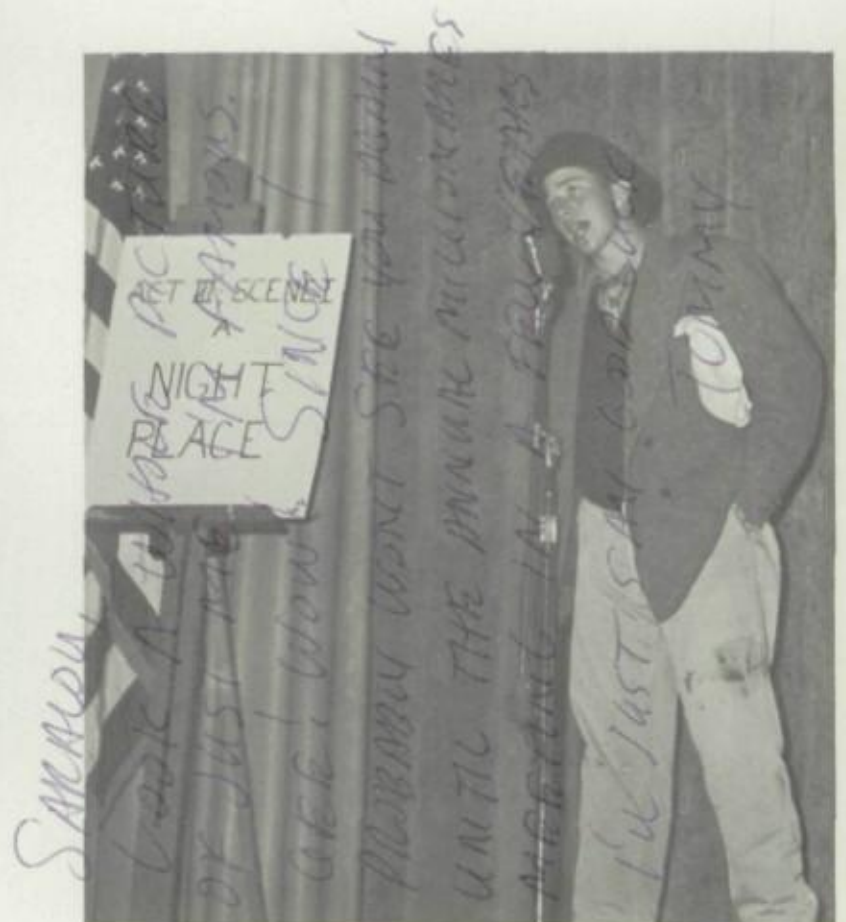

Russ Ashley and Lew Schaflander sang "Sinner Man" with reference to E. Rutherford. "Tonight" was sung by Lois Anderson. Other entertainment was given by Penny Briske, who did the hula, and Carole Grosser, who did an acrobatic dance. Senior members of the Pom Pon Squad played the typical unsuccessful train. Bob Jones played background music, and Tom Swafford was M.C. Members of the script committee were Judy Payne, Art Truter, Diane Hall, Bob Capri, Bonnie Brown, and Bill Mitchell.

The happy day came when Purity, played by Diane Hall was to be married. She was escorted up to the alter by her father, Captain Hiram Spock, portrayed by Pete Nelson.

Aquanetta Van Biltmore was infatuated by our hero, Archimedes Jones.

Tom Swafford introduced the scenes in the Senior Talent Assembly with humorous stories.

Vickie Ray played "Malaguena" on the piano for the enjoyment of the student body. Participation in the talent assemblies helped students gain experience in presenting their talent before a group.

Pam Prather was the first person on the agenda at the Junior Talent Assembly. She sang "I'm Just a Cock-eyed Optimist", from South Pacific.

Juniors Presented Talent Acts In School Assembly

As a change of pace the Junior class presented their talent assembly without a theme. The acts were brought on by Dave Todd, master of ceremonies, whose introductions added to the assembly. Students who participated in the assembly were Terry Gonzales, Fernando Quezada, Terry McClure, Gerry Ransom, Atina Topali, Shirley Kruz, and Barbara Peterson.

Terry McClure and Fernando Quezada seemed to enjoy participating in the Junior Talent Assembly.

Pres. Council & Assembly Committee

Members of the Assembly Committee were, Top to Bottom: Janice Lowrey, Ted Borek, Mr. Courter, David Allen, Jack Travis. Mr. Courter and Mr. Cardon were co-chairmen of the committee. Miss Hergt, Mr. Craig, Miss Phelps, Miss McCormick, and Mr. Kokasha were other members.

Special Committees Helped to Co-ordinate Activities

Two important organizations were the President's Council and the Assembly Committee. The President's Council, a new group on campus, was composed of presidents of all clubs on campus. Their first activity was helping with the plans for homecoming. The council also assisted the Executive Committee in the preparations for the State Student Council Convention held on North's campus.

In charge of programs for the student body, the Assembly Committee scheduled, directed, and approved all assemblies. This group was composed of five faculty members, three students appointed by the Executive Committee, and Ted Borek, Student Body President. Mr. Courter sponsored this committee, and Ted Borek, Jack Travis, David Allen, and Janice Lowry were the student members of the committee.

Club Members Supported March Of Dimes Crusade

TAP, formerly called Teens Against Polio, has been renamed Teen-Age Program of the National Foundation. TAP helped in programs of medical scientific research, patient aid, and education for the health professions. Polio, arthritis, birth defects, virus diseases, and central nervous system disorders were some of the different aspects of the medical profession aided by the club. Assisting in the polio vaccination campaigns was one of the main activities of TAP. Club members also participated in the March of Dimes campaign. Giving service to polio patients who were home-bound was another of the numerous projects of TAP.

Teen-Age Program of the National Foundation officers were Sharon Mentzer, co-chairman, and Mary Payne, secretary-treasurer. Absent was Sue Roof, president.

Sue Roof, TAP president, led the discussion in one of the club meetings of the Rainbow Crutch sale, with which the club helped.

Honor Club Name Taken From Mountain Of Gods

Parnassus was the name of a mountain which divided Central Greece and Euboea, an island off the east coast of Greece. In ancient Phocis, a country of ancient Greece, Parnassus was believed to be a favorite resort of Apollo, the Greek god of manly youth and beauty, of poetry, and of music; and of the nine Greek goddesses called the Muses, goddesses of song, poetry, arts, and sciences; as well as being sacred to Dionysus, the Greek god of vegetation, wine, leader of a wild rout of satyrs, maenads, and silenoi, and patron of drama.

At North, Parnassus was the name of an honor club, including students with a grade average of 1.5 or with at least 18 grade points. The club members sold blue derbies and sponsored the showing of a movie on campus, Second semester, an initiation dinner was held for all the new members. The co-sponsors were Mr. Gilleland and Miss Adams. Judy Payne was elected to be president of the club on the basis of the ability she demonstrated while serving as vice president of Parnassus in 1960-61. Judy Meyer was vice president, Chris Nordlund was re-elected as secretary, Art Truter was chosen treasurer, and Mike Moore was sergeant-at-arms.

Officers of Parnassus were Judith Payne, president; Chris Nordlund, secretary; Art Truter, treasurer; and Mike Moore, sergeant-at-arms. All were seniors except vice president Judy Meyer, junior, not pictured.

Freshman and sophomore members of Parnassus were, Front Row: J. Frantti, R. D. Meador, L. Phillips, P. Bimson, B. Carson, S. Neil, M. Payne, P. Flores, B. Walters, M. Reeves, W. Dorethet, M. At Physics Club meetings, which were held on every Friday morning, members discussed different aspects of physics and related sciences. At this meeting Robert Capri and Tim Hawarden discussed an upcoming field trip to the Arizona Testing Lab. Such trips helped the club members to understand not only the theoretical basis of physics but also its practical applications.

Physic Club Performed Magnetism Experiments

Because of the interest expressed in physics and related topics, the Physics Club was formed at the beginning of the school year. Club sponsor was Mr. Gilleland. Due to his great interest in science, foreign exchange student Tim Hawarden was elected president of the club. On selected topics, the club had speakers from within the club, business, and industry. The club made a large electromagnet, did experiments on the magnetic field, and had a display at a convention of electrical engineers on magnetism.

North's Physics Club officers were, Tim Hawarden, president; Barbara Greenwell, secretary; Devens Gust, vice president; and Mr. Gilleland, sponsor. Tim Hawarden, foreign exchange student from South Africa, displayed a telescope he made.

Nautilus members were, Seated: Linda Clements; Dorothy Doriot; Pete Nelson, parliamentarian; Ronald Royce, treasurer; Lewis Kopera, secretary; Tom Barron; Doug

Clubs sought knowledge of Mathematics, Science

Nautilus Scientific Organization, North's oldest science club, encouraged research in the various divisions of science, math, and philosophy useful to scientific pursuits later in life. For membership, limited to eighteen persons in addition to honorary members such as exchange students, a student had to have a grade average of 2.0 or better and at least twenty grade points.

To carry out the goal of scientific advancement each member was required to give one talk during the school year. In addition to this the club, under the guidance of Mr. Hall, their sponsor, and their director Bruce Naegle, took a field trip each month and participated in other projects related to science.

Increased knowledge and understanding of math through guest speakers and field trips was the aim of the Math Club. With the aid of their sponsor Mr. Drinkwater, the members explored many phases of math, and such related subjects as physics and chemistry. Student speakers also discussed various fields of their interests and attempted to promote interest in mathematical vocations.

Money-Raising Rummage Sale Held By Kappa Club

In the Fall a semi-formal dance ushered in the year's activities for Kappa, a girls' service club. To raise their much needed funds, members sold confections and pastries at numerous bake sales. Several car washes were also held to raise funds.

Kappa cared for the children of under-privileged families of Phoenix. Kappa gave parties at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter for these children.

Sponsoring the annual "Kotton and Kords" dance was one of their main projects.

Karen Covington, Randy Soranson, and Bette Warner took inventory of the articles sold at the Kappa rummage sale.

Roger Ball, speaker of the house, was in charge of all Junior Statesmen of America meetings. When Roger Ball was not present for a meeting, Craig Locatis, parliamentarian, took charge.

Election Votes tabulated by Junior Statesmen Club

Sponsored by Mr. Ferris, the Junior Statesmen of America had meetings with other chapters and planned trips to the Junior Statesmen conventions in California. The members tabulated votes in the city election in November and helped obtain supplies for the State Student Council Convention held at North. The club's format was similar to our legislature. President was Ted Word, and the presiding officer at meetings was Speaker of the House Roger Ball. The entire membership of the club composed the legislature. This body presented resolutions which were debated and either rejected or approved.

First semester officers of Service Organization were: Marilyn Williams, treasurer; Sue Roof, president; Bob Edwards, vice-president; Lucia Stevenson, secretary. They were elected by the Mustangs to supervise the Organization for the year.

Service Projects provide Good Citizenship Program

Service to others were included in the citizenship program at North High. Experience in this program was attained through the Service Organizations while helping to support charities, both locally and nationally. All North High students were given the opportunity to share in the service for others by taking part in their homeroom projects.

Once during each semester, one student was elected from each homeroom with other homeroom officers to represent his class in the Service Organization. Sue Roof, president of the Service Organization, was aided by vice-president Bob Edwards, secretary Lucia Stevenson, and treasurer Marilyn Williams. Sue was elected by all students in the Student Body Election. The other officers were elected from the representatives in the Service Organization. The members met twice a year, with the faculty sponsors, Miss Morgan and Mr. Morgan, to choose worthy charities. The organization also supervised the dispersal of funds.

Food auctions, car washes, and bake sales were the most popular activities for earning money for the projects. The money was turned over to the sponsors, who sent it to the designated organizations. The Indian Center, Sunshine Acres, Golden Gate Settlement, and the school newspaper are examples of the organizations assisted by homerooms.

Food auctions were favorite homeroom projects. Members of the class brought food which was auctioned off to hungry classmates.

Members of Mr. Miller's second period class contributed money from their auction to Sunshine Acres.

Christmas Tree Decorated In Cafeteria For Holidays

Just before Christmas vacation the Social Committee set up a Christmas tree in the Cafeteria. Decorating the Christmas tree was just one of the Social Committee's projects. Another project of the Social Committee was decorating the goalposts for the football games. The Social Committee was also responsible for the coordination of dates of social events at North High. The members of the committee were chosen by the Executive Committee.

Pat Schiess was chairman of the committee.

Larry Wells, Dana Diehl, and Pat Freeman put the last touches on the Christmas tree.

One carrot-nosed, coal-eared snowman was the result of the night's fun. Among the seniors who created the "masterpiece" were Dennis Meador and Joe Wells, shown cold of hand but warm of heart at four o'clock in the morning of December 19, 1961.

Snow On Campus Brought Christmas Spirit To North

On December nineteenth, a snowman appeared on the auditorium steps at North. Members of the Senior class went to the Snowbowl, at Flagstaff, on Tuesday to get the snow. The weary students stayed up all night to make the snowman.

When the North High student body attended the Christmas Assembly they found him, a traditional reminder that the holidays were near.

As usual, after the assemblies, the custodians appeared to sweep away the melted remains of the snowman that the seniors had worked so hard on.

Members of Honor Club aided Crippled Children

National Honor Society was composed of juniors and seniors selected as having excellent character and as having demonstrated scholarship, leadership, and service to the school. At the end of each school year approximately twenty juniors and forty seniors were selected for membership and were initiated at a regular school assembly.

Club members were encouraged to read into a tape recorder at the Public Library. The tape was then sent to New York where the blind listened to and criticized the readers' tones and inflection. The members worked at the Crippled Children's Home assisting the regular workers by feeding, reading to, and playing with the children.

National Honor Society officers were: Barb Stallings, vice president; Mike Moore, president; Donna Sue Roof, secretary-treasurer. Elected by the senior members of National Honor Society, the officers transacted most of the business for the club.

Key Club officers were, Seated: Lance Sherwood, secretary; Leonard Bafaloukos, vice-president; Jack Travis, president. Kneeling: Gerald Ness Gabay, and Arthur Truter serving as parliamentarian and sergeant-at-arms, respectively.

Service Group Painted Campus Garbage Cans

One of the most outstanding things accomplished by the Key Club was painting the school's "grubby garbage cans." This was one of the first of the club's activities. At a football game, members sold miniature pom poms, and chrysanthemum corsages were sold at homecoming. Members worked hard at the Annual Kid's Day at Luke Air Force Base. Key Club also sponsored the annual Rodeo Dance at North, and after graduation, members packed the caps and gowns for storage. Their motto was "We Build." With the aid of Mr. Kesler, club sponsor, and the leadership of president, Jack Travis, vice-president, Leonard Bafaloukos, and secretary and treasurer, Lance Sherwood and Ted Borek, respectively, the club engaged in carrying out their purpose to school and to the community, and the promotion of Christian fellowship.

Attempting to improve the appearance of the campus, the North High Key Club painted the campus trash cans. The club members came to school on a Saturday to paint the cans in North's colors, red and blue, and to stencil on mottoes designed to help keep the campus clean.

Key Club members were, Kneeling: Steve Stramandinoli, Larry Wells, Hal Williams, Gerry McRaven, Lance Sherwood, Jack Travis, and Art Truter. Standing: Don Vinson, Tim Hawarden, David Todd, Larry

Beck, Michael Moore, Phillip Waldron, Donald Braten, Gerry Gabay, and Robert Lutz. This service club devoted its time to various worthy charities and projects.

Food was collected from the student body by Executive Committee for hurricane victims; Marlene Schneider and Sally Mueller loaded the food.

Conglomeration Of Ideas, Activities Flooded Campus

What happened on the North High campus? Nothing happened out of the ordinary, everyday, high school occurrences. Students donated food and clothing for the Hurricane Carla victims in Texas. School football team left for Yuma to play another game for "good ol' North". The habit of eating could not be broken; therefore, students satisfied this basic urge by eating in the cafeteria. Mass confusion occurred when Juniors presented a talent assembly.

After a pep assembly in the stadium, North's football team boarded the bus which took them to the game at Yuma.

Juniors congregated backstage after the Junior talent assembly and enjoyed a feeling of relief.

WILMA!

WHERE'S MY BIG BEAUTIFUL HOOFBEATS

Hectic advertising covered the campus as the Hoofbeats staff prepared for its only sale. Gene Fowler applied his talents and painted a five by seven foot sign. Kay Whetton, staff publicity manager, made signs of all shapes and sizes.

Prospective student body officers were given the opportunity to give campaign speeches in an all-school assembly. Tony Bustos, pictured at rostrum, was elected student body president the next day. Ted Borek, current president, introduced speakers.

During hot weather Mustangs flocked to the cafeteria. The familiar long lines proved that the students appreciated the fact that there was a cafeteria available in which to eat lunch, talk, and have fun. Cold weather reduced the outside lines, but students gathered inside.

Members of Amici Boni Ciceronis, an advanced Latin Club, were Gary Tizard, Bruce Naegeli, and Ron Royce.

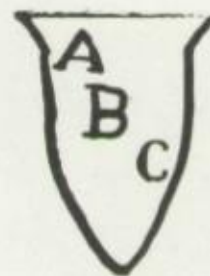

Increased Knowledge of Latin sought by Clubs

Amici Boni Ciceronis, a club for third and fourth year Latin students, was formed to promote the study of the Latin language and Roman culture. Amici Boni Ciceronis members went on field trips, took part in debates, lectured to Latin classes, and aided Legio Honoris in its activities.

Working in association with the Junior Classical League, Legio Honoris members increased their knowledge of Latin in translation and appreciation to modern use. Mrs. Mariott was co-sponsor of both Latin clubs. Among the projects of the club were participation in the annual foreign language tournament, representation at the Junior Classical League Convention in February, and contribution to several worthy causes. The annual Roman banquet climaxed the year's activities for the club.

Foreign Exchange Student Led French Organization

Participants in the activities of the French club, les francophiles, learned much about French history and customs. Members listened to speakers who elaborated on these topics, speaking in French.

President Michele Liottet, exchange student from France, and Mrs. Grobe, club sponsor, accompanied les francophiles, on field trips to places around Mesa and Phoenix that contained information, either visual or audio, on subjects that dealt with France. Other officers were Robert Capri, vice-president; Tamar McCarter, secretary, and Lillian Gonzalo, treasurer,

French club president, Michele Liottet spoke to the club in French, her native tongue. Michele was the foreign exchange student from Paris, France, and she helped the club members with their accents and colloquial vocabulary. Members shown listening were Judy Payne and Vicki Mathisen.

Officers of French club were: Lillian Gonzalo, treasurer; Bob Capri, vice president, and Michele Liottet, president.

Adolfo Quezada, former student body vice-president, spoke to the Mustangs in the homecoming assembly.

United States Congressman John J. Rhodes spoke in the Veterans' Day Assembly.

Variety in Presentations of North's Assemblies

During the year at North High school, various assemblies were presented to the student body.

Pep assemblies for football games heightened the spirit of the school and added to the desire to attend the sports events.

Other assemblies like the Christmas Assembly lent atmosphere to the season.

Assemblies on Admission Day and Veterans' Day called attention to national holidays.

Past students of North High and public figures such as Arizona's John J. Rhodes came to speak at assemblies.

New Tri Hi-Y On Campus Organized By Junior Girls

Beta Chi was a Tri Hi-Y club that was formed this year. The members, all junior girls, raise money to contribute to the North High Student Fund. The club rendered service to numerous charitable organizations, and the girls helped serve at the State Student Council Convention which was held at North. The club made favors for the Crippled Children's Home at Christmas and caroled for the children. Miss Deaves was club sponsor, and Barbara Davis was president. Other officers were Jackie Stewart, vice president; Roberta Schauer, secretary; Cathy Krah, treasurer; Mary Jane Stewart, sergeant-at-arms; Pat Skousen, chaplain; Val Van Cleave, historian.

Students Promoted World Fellowship Through Club

Promotion of brotherhood and understanding among all peoples was the goal of the Fellowship Club. Under the direction of their president, Tommy Peloso, and the club sponsor, Mrs. Mariott, members of the Fellowship Club heard lectures on various subjects related to brotherhood. In addition to this activity the club made plans for such projects as movies and discussions helpful in aiding world fellowship. The club also gave to causes devoted to furthering understanding between peoples.

Protestant, Buddhist, Catholic, and Jewish houses of worship were visited during the second semester. Speakers familiar with little-known and little-understood religions elaborated on the various teachings.

Other club officers were vice-president, Lynn Therio; secretary, Pat Sandhowe; treasurer, Paula Farney; and chaplain, Roger Ball.

Fellowship Club officers were: Pat Sandhowe, secretary; Paula Lucill Farney, treasurer; Tom Peloso, chairman; Roger Ball, chaplain; Mrs. Alice Mariott, sponsor.

Lancer Hi-Y conducted Fund-raising car washes

Creating, maintaining, and extending standards of Christian character throughout the community and the school was the main purpose of Lancer Hi-Y. With the aid of their sponsor, Mr. Pace, the club endeavored to carry out their general purpose: to "cooperate with school functions and help North High keep on top both athletically and scholastically."

Dennis Abert presided over the meetings with the assistance of Mike McGinnis, vice-president; Jim LaBenz, secretary; and Ross Shannon, chaplain. At meetings, information on a variety of fields for individual advancement was presented by speakers and movies. Lancers held several fund-raising car washes and helped at the Arizona Association of Student Councils convention, held at North High. To promote school spirit, Lancers made posters, sold "Smash the Spartans" pins, painted a Mustang head on the jump-center in the gym, and entered a float in the Homecoming contest.

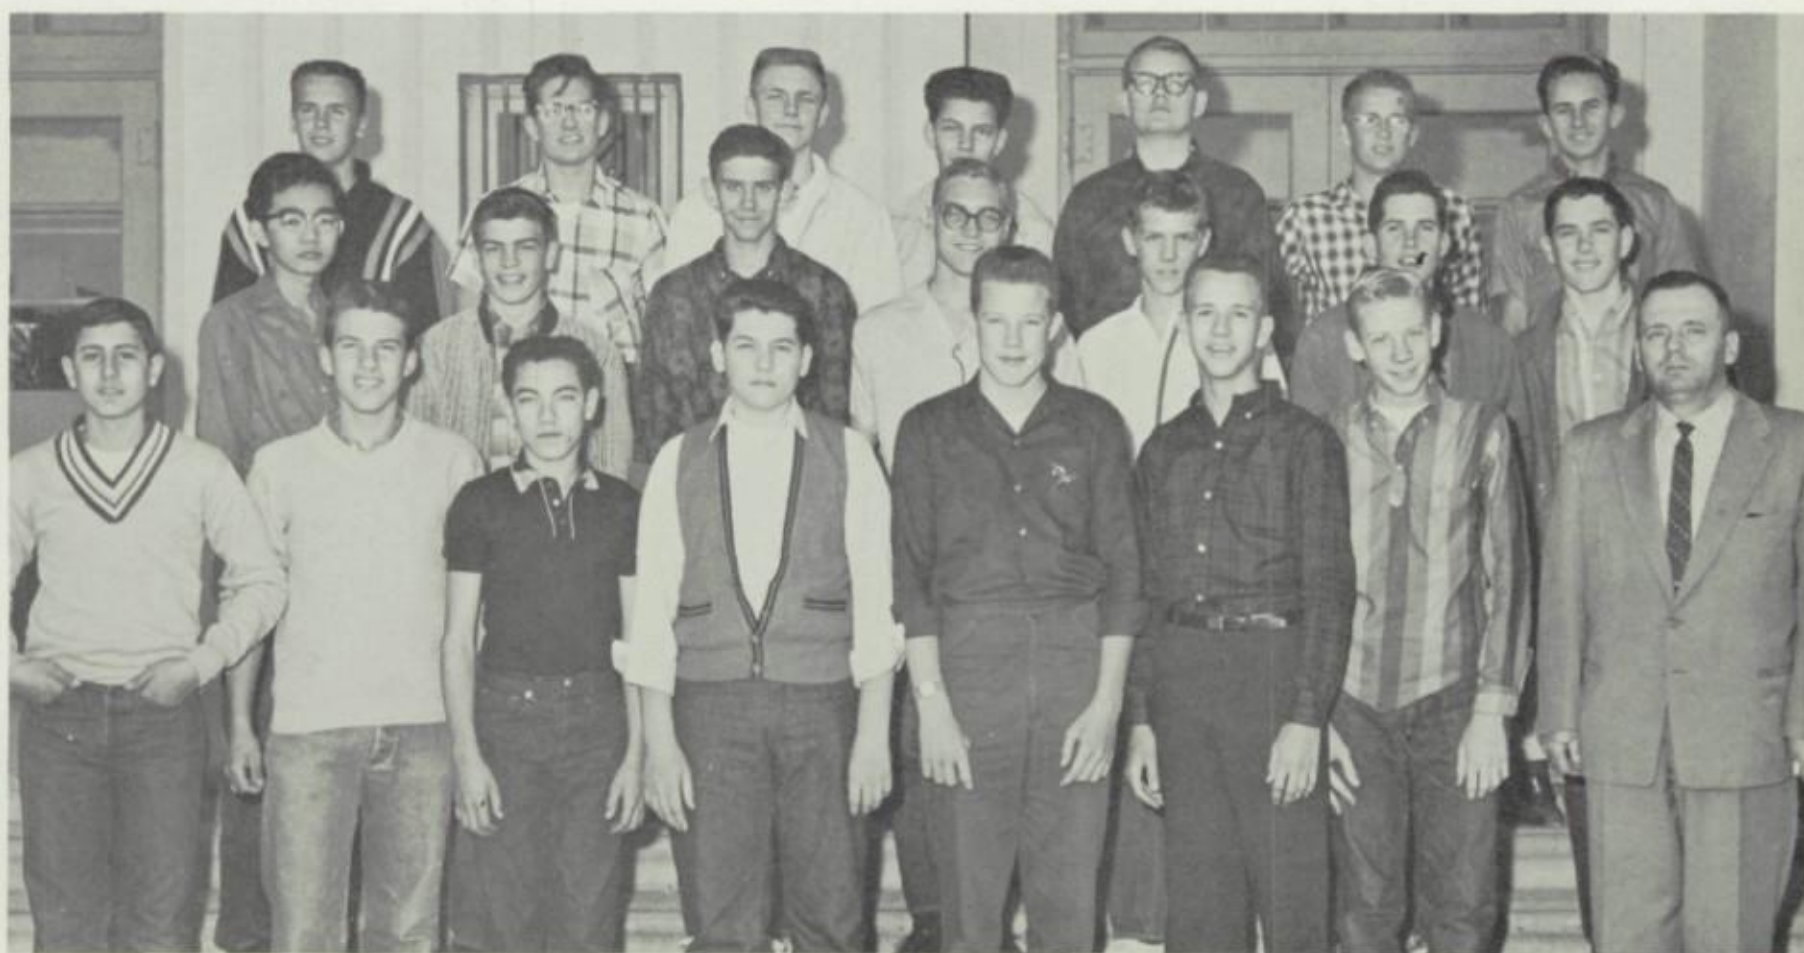

Celtic Hi-Y Club Adopted Needy Christmas Family

Celtic Hi-Y was a newly organized Hi-Y group on campus. Composed entirely of Sophomore boys, the club was affiliated with the Y.M.C.A. and was sponsored by Mr. Treise. The club members adopted a family for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Delegates were sent to the Model Legislature held in December that was sponsored by and open to all clubs affiliated with the Y.M.C.A. During the basketball season Celtic members put up "beat 'em" posters in the cafeteria. The club raised funds for various charities and activities through such projects as sales, drives, and car washes. The club also held many social activities.

Marti, Jack Neal, Ray Holderby, Richard Mans. The purpose of Celtic Hi-Y was to promote Christianity, fellowship, and other desirable characteristics in the club members. The club was affiliated with the Y.M.C.A. and worked on many Y.M.C.A. sponsored projects and activities.

Battle Group officers were, Standing: Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Kent Kraemer, Battle Group Commander; Cadet Major Richard Phillips, Battle Group Executive Officer; Cadet Major Randy Sterna, Adjutant; Cadet First Lieutenant John Biondi; Cadet Captain John Heenan. Company officers were, Kneeling: Cadet Captain Robert Orr, Company Commander; and Cadet First Lieutenant Ronald Webber, Company Executive Officer.

R.O.T.C. Trained Cadets To Assume Responsibility

Promoting citizenship and making use of leadership traits was the purpose of the R.O.T.C. contrary to the popular belief that R.O.T.C. functioned to train young men for later military service. Out of one hundred and twenty cadets about one-third held leadership positions. R.O.T.C. marched in the Veterans' Day Parade, had a federal inspection, hosted Military Night and the Military Ball. The queens of the battle group were: Queen, Marla Garrison; Company Sponsor Cheryl Hadaway; and Drill Team Sponsor, Terry Gonzales. Under the guidance of the Commander of Cadets, Sergeant Mannheimer and the Battle Group Commander, Kent Kraemer, North High's R.O.T.C. battle group had a busy year with many different activities.

North High's Rifle Team held two inter-city rifle matches in which the members placed third. The team participated in the Hearst Rifle match on a five-shot-four-position course. The boys entered the Sixth Army Inter-scholastic inter-Collegiate Rifle Match. After an all-city rifle match, which placed about one-third of North's shooters on the Phoenix team, the top fifteen boys from the finalists went to Southern California for a match with teams from Los Angeles and San Diego.

In rigid formation, the R.O.T.C. practiced marching once a week. The members marched on Military Night, in the Veteran's Day Parade, and at inspections. Sergeant Mannheimer reviewed the entire group and then the battle group officers inspected each individual cadet. Precision and accuracy were very important to the R.O.T.C.

Food and Clothing given by Club to Local Charity

Members of the R.O.T.C. Club helped with the arrangements for the Military Ball. A Christmas drive brought $300 worth of food and $150 worth of clothing and other articles which were donated to Sunshine Acres, a local charity. All members of R.O.T.C. were eligible for membership in R.O.T.C. Club. The R.O.T.C. Girls had Fun-Filled Day chasing Little Abner

When Sadie Hawkins Day finally arrived, North High students forgot where they were and went back to Dogpatch Days for a holiday. The junior class was congratulated for the fine job which they did in sponsoring of Sadie Hawkins Day.

During the course of the day an assembly was held celebrating the festive event. That evening a girl-ask-boy dance was held in the corral. Other fund raising events included a pickle sale, a balloon sale, and a bake sale. A select group of musicians entertained North's students during the lunch period.

Many junior classes have been the generous benefactors of many charities in the past. For quite a few years it has been donated to needy people.

In the nick of time Judy Meyer discovered one John Ballard, a revengeful male, about to disintegrate Ruth Lindauer and Dorothy Doriot.

John Ballard finally succeeded in stumping the dismayed Judy Meyer and Carol Lerner.

Although John Ballard seemed in excruciating pain, Gene Cox and Lance Sherwood looked as though they quite enjoyed the pestering of Ruth Lindauer and Dorothy Doriot.

Poor Gene Cox was about to be attacked by Dorothy Doriot, Judy Meyer, Jan Schaberg, Ruth Lindauer and Carol Lerner.

Gene Cox, John Ballard and Lance Sherwood foiled the plans of the conniving, male mad minds of Dorothy Doriot, Ruth Lindauer, Judy Meyer, Jan Schaberg, and Carol Lerner.

"They said it couldn't be done," but Judy Meyer, Dorothy Doriot and Ruth Lindauer managed to get the drop on unsuspecting Gene Cox.

Outstanding North Seniors Honored By Senior Class

Senior Mosts were selected by their classmates in six categories. Three categories were Most Outstanding, Most Likely to Succeed and Best Personality.

Ted Borek and Judy Payne were selected as Most Outstanding. Judy was class secretary for three years and student body secretary. She received the Elks leadership award. Ted was student body president, and class president for two years.

Chosen for Most Likely to Succeed were Barbara Stallings and Bill Mitchell. Barb was girls' League representative, a member of Paruassus, National Honor Society, NCCJ, Anytown and Roundup staff. Bill was class president, and National Merit Finalist.

Sue Roof and Bob Brown received the Best Personality. Sue was Service Organization President, Pom Pon captain, and Girls' State delegate. Bob was Student body vice-president, and Pep Club president.

Judy Payne and Ted Borek were the Senior class' choice for Most Outstanding.

Chosen Most Likely to Succeed by the Senior class were Barbara Stallings and Bill Mitchell.

The Seniors with the best personality were Bob Brown and Sue Roof. The Senior class chose the Senior Mosts during the student body elections.

Most Popular students of the Senior class were Ross Shannon and Marla Garrison.

Popular Seniors Picked For Exceptional Abilities

Three other categories of Senior Mosts were Most Athletic, Best Looking and Most Popular.

Ross Shannon and Marla Garrison received the Most Popular honor. Ross was co-captain of the varsity football team and he also played basketball and baseball. Marla was captain of the Cheers. She and Ross were elected Homecoming queen and king. She served on student council for two years.

Best Looking honors were awarded to Suzy Polacek and Dennis Abert. Suzy was co-captain of the Cheers and secretary of the Senior class. Dennis was student body treasurer, a member of the executive committee and delegate to Boys' State in the summer.

Mary Struthers and John Igleski were chosen as Most Athletic. Mary played on the varsity tennis team and was secretary of the Pep Club. John played on the football, basketball and track teams and was a representative to student council.

Seniors of the class of 1962 chosen Best Looking were Suzie Polacek and Dennis Abert.

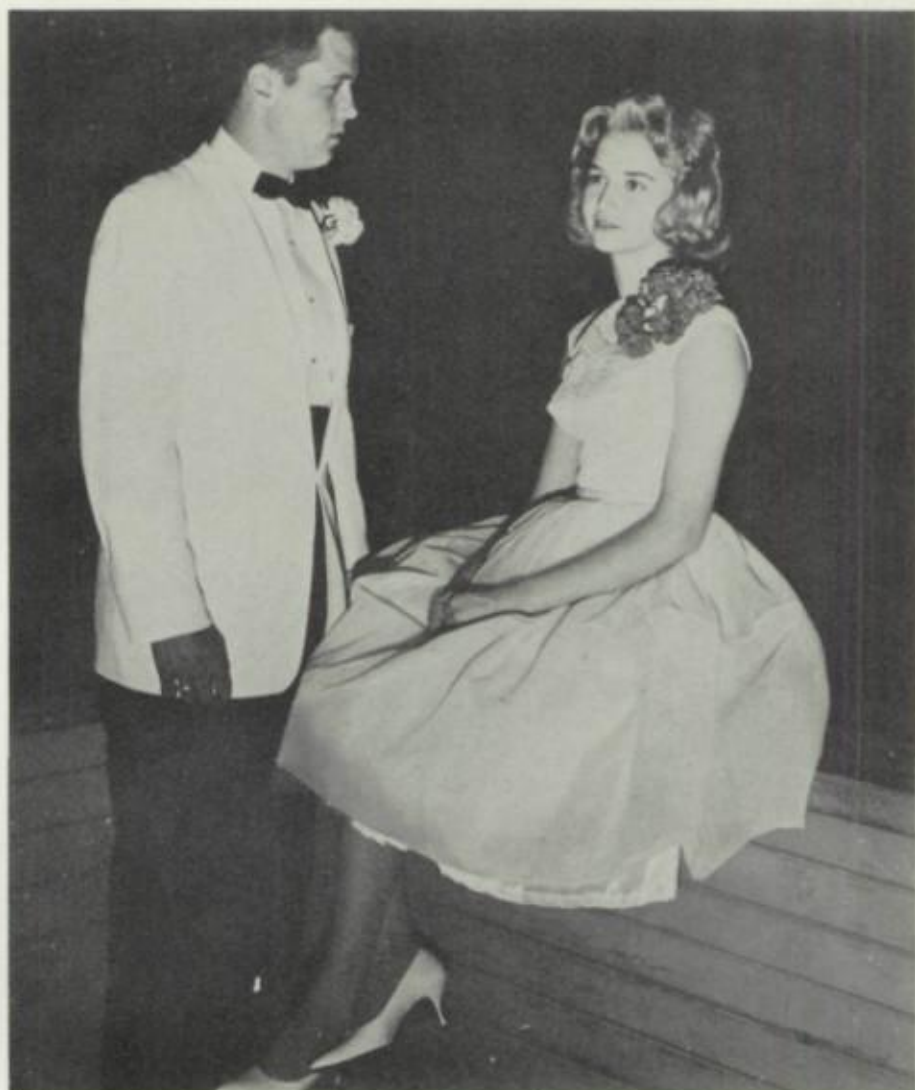

John Igleski and Mary Struthers were selected Most Athletic during Senior Most elections.

Racquet Club Scene Of The Junior And Senior Prom

Paradise Valley Racquet Club was the scene of the 1962 Junior-Senior Prom. Hosting the event that is held annually to honor graduating seniors was the Junior class. Couples who attended the formal danced to the music of Ray Andrade's band. From 9:00 until 12:00 P.M. juniors and seniors enjoyed the Racquet Club's patio and view of Paradise Valley from Camelback Mountain.

Various committees were set up by the Junior class. Invitations, dance band and decorations were some of the things taken care of by the committees. Chairman of the invitations committee was Claudia Everett. Chairman of the dance band committee was Terry Gonzales and decorating and catering chairman was Carol Sladish.

Mike Lowry and Sandy Schneider enjoyed a quiet moment together on the balcony during a lull in the activities at the annual Junior-Senior formal dance.

Paradise Valley Racquet Club's chef served dutch chocolate cake to Sandy Schneider and Mike Lowry. The entire premises of the Racquet Club was open to the Juniors and Seniors who attended one of the biggest formals of the year.

Mike Lowry assisted Sandy Schneider in descending the steps of the patio to look at the Racquet Club's pool.

Sandy and Mike seemed to find something amusing going on at the Junior-Senior Prom while they stopped for "the pause that refreshes". The formal lasted until midnight.

Sandy and Mike danced under soft lights to the music of Ray Andrade and his band. This event is held annually to honor the graduating Senior Class.

Future Homemakers of America members were, Front Row: Anacleta Stelter, Carla Kraemer, Shannon Neil, Diane Bonner, Ginnie Ann Reilly. Back Row: Miss Sayre, Elaine

Doehleman, Barbara Jacobs, Jane Whitcher, Mrs. Hale. Open to all girls who were interested in homemaking, the club was composed of approximately twenty members.

Home Economics Studied By Future Homemakers

Girls interested in home economy for their daily and future lives made up the North High chapter of the Future Homemakers of America. Starting the year with a membership tea and initiation of new members, the club continued its activities in a district convention, November 11, at Camelback High. Members also participated in a state convention held at Tempe Union High School.

Other activities of the club were bake sales and holiday parties. Students served at faculty meetings of the home economics department.

Officers of Future Homemakers of America were vice-president, Elaine Doehleman; president, Barbara Jacobs; treasurer, Ginnie Reilly; and secretary, Carla Kraemer.

Carla Kraemer, Barb Jacobs, and Elaine Doehleman discussed the activities of Future Homemakers of America with other members at a regular meeting.

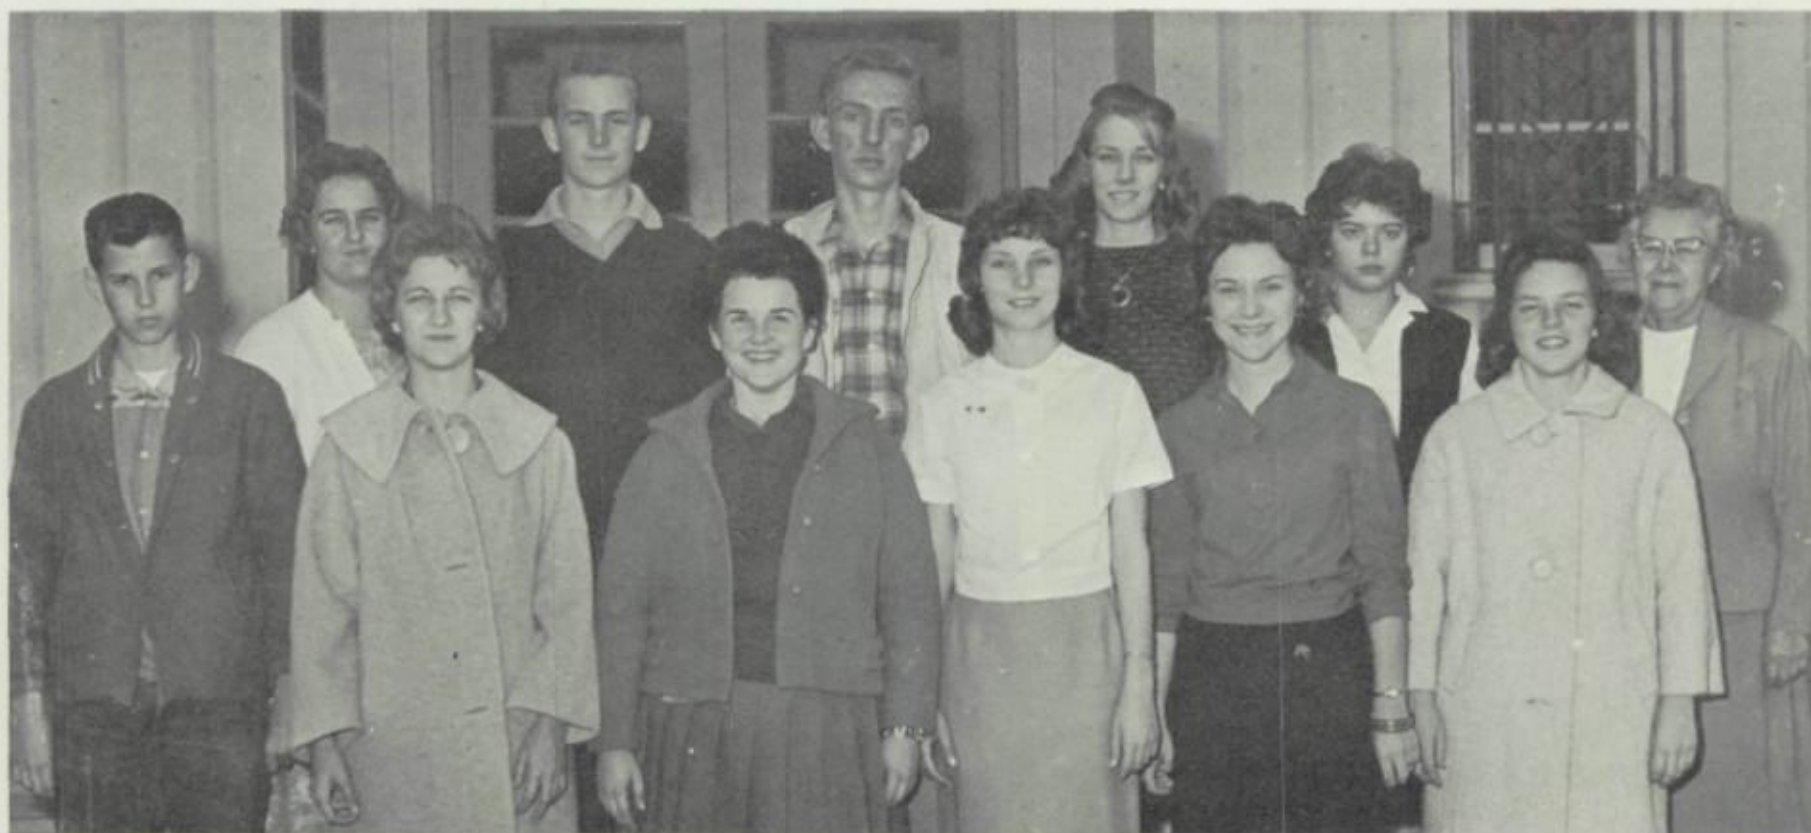

Officers of Future Teachers of America were Lois Anderson, president; Patty Robinson, treasurer; Diane Carney, secretary; and Bob Anderson, vice president.

State Convention Attended By Future Teachers Club

Students interested in the field of education in a growing America had the opportunity of studying teaching methods through the Future Teachers of America. Teaching offered many opportunities and challenging problems. Because of their interest in the profession, students acquired a greater awareness of the problems and experiences of their present high school instructors.

A workshop was held at Camelback High for F.T.A. members from various parts of the state in order to give them an opportunity to hear the ideas and experiences of other club members. Future Teachers of America was a part of the National Organization. They sent literature on the teaching profession to the local chapters.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Montgomery, government teacher, the local chapter on campus participated in such activities as an initiation picnic in the school corral, a Christmas party, and an end-of-the-year party. In addition to these social functions, members heard speakers and saw films on the profession. An integral part of the club's activities was visiting schools in order to observe and learn varied teaching methods and techniques.

Future Teachers of America members were, Front Row: Thomas R. Lewis, Diane Carney, Patty Robinson, Lois Anderson, Patricia Ireland, Sue Van Ness. Back Row: Glenda McGhee, Robert Anderson, Rick Baeuchler, Diana Katherine Maitland, Katherine Jean Stoldt, Miss Winoma Montgomery, faculty advisor. All those interested in the teaching profession were eligible for membership in Future Teachers of America, and the club welcomes visitors at all of its meetings and lectures.

Tryone Burnett used the ditto machine in L.A. 25. Club members learned to use the various business machines found in offices.

Scholarship for Business Student offered by Club

To produce more competent business leaders, Future Business Leaders of America worked on fund-raising projects to raise money for the club scholarship fund. Any Senior with a 2.5 average who was interested either in becoming a business teacher or in furthering his business education was eligible for the scholarship. The money for this fund was made by the student picture sale, the sale of plastic annual covers, a Christmastime project of mailing packages for teachers, and the popcorn sale at the Indian Basketball Tournament.

Assisting Miss Pothoff, school nurse, in the operation of the Health Center was one of the activities of White Caps. Some of the general clerical work was done by Susan Hisey (standing) and Cathy Hinchcliff (seated), both members of the nursing club.

White Caps officers were, Seated: Penny Hackert, president; and Standing: Yvonne Hicks, secretary; Pamela Hackert, vice president; and Vickie Rangel, historian. Absent was Cynthia Hershey, treasurer.

Medical Careers Studied By White Caps Members

Striving to introduce students to a career in the medical profession was the purpose of the White Caps Club. In addition to observation of hospital visitations, the members and the sponsor, the school nurse Miss Pothoff, collected things for a needy family at Christmas time and stuffed toys for the children's ward at the County Hospital. White Caps was open to any student interested in medicine and sought to help each member to decide on a specific medical interest for his future profession.

White Caps encouraged all students interested in the medical profession to join. Members were, Front Row: Carla Kraemer, Penny Hackert, Jill Schoen, Patricia Sandhowe, Lynn Therio, Susan Hisey; Back Row: Jean Montenieri, Cathy Hinchcliff, Carla Flipper, Pam Hackert, Cheryl Killion, Vickie Rangel, Yvonne Hicks.

Cafeteria, Food, Students responsibility of Board

Assisting faculty members in supervising the cafeteria during both lunch periods, the Cafeteria Control Board set up standards for good student conduct. The board, consisting mainly of students, served to enforce these rules. Some of the board's duties were issuing honor courts to students for violations of rules and helping to clean the cafeteria during both lunch periods.

All the members showed an interest in helping to improve North High's cafeteria as stated in the application which they submitted to the executive committee for consideration. The board was chosen by the executive committee from a list of junior and senior applicants. The Cafeteria Control Board performed a much needed service for North High and was well deserving of the support and cooperation of the North High Mustangs.

Providing both nourishment and variety in campus lunches was one of the main problems which the North High cooks faced. Students should appreciate the efforts which were put forth.

Eating, studying, and socializing with friends in the cafeteria was an important and refreshing break in a Mustang's busy day and a large part of campus life.

corral board

Mustangs danced in the Corral after a football game. The Corral housed many such sport dances which were sponsored by various organizations.

Honors brought to North by Girls' Golf Members

A unique feature among high schools was North High's Corral. The Corral was a center for after school recreation. Activities in the Corral were supervised by the Corral Board Members.

Besides planning for dance contests and ping-pong tournaments, the members sold refreshments in the Corral. Inside games, records, and television were also provided for the student body.

A member of the Corral Board was expected to be a good citizen and have an active interest in the Corral's activities. The student submitted an application to the Executive Committee who chose the Board Members.

During the year, the Corral Board spent much time and effort planning after school refreshments at special activities held in the Corral by other groups. "Support your Corral" was the motto of the board.

One of the Board's duties was waiting on the concession stand where soft drinks and ice cream were purchased.

While practicing, Kathleen Henning demonstrated good golfing form. The club played in various tournaments with both local and out-of-town high school groups.

Miss Phillips, Girls' Golf Club sponsor, helped the club treasurer, Carol Pierce, to improve her address. Other officers were Angie Fachin, president, and Sandra Manning, secretary.

Girls' Golf Club members were, Dianne Post, Cairo Martinez, Donna Lynn Blasius, Carol A. Pierce, and Kathleen Henning.

Honors for North High earned by Roundup Staff

Representing North High in golfing matches was the Girls' Golf Club. This club provided experience for girls just becoming acquainted with this sport and also for more experienced golfers. The club sponsor, Miss Phillips, guided the members in their activities. The campus was used by the beginners to practice after school, and the advanced players went to local courses. On the club's schedule of matches were games at Miami High, at Tempe High, and at the State Tournament, which was a match held between valley high schools.

Tennis Club Participated In Tucson Varsity Week

North High Tennis Club, composed of members of the tennis team, gave students an opportunity to participate in this sport for recreation, physical fitness, fellowship, and enjoyment. Included in the club's activities were fall social in the corral, the spring initiation, and the supper party in the spring at which the boys on the team received their letters. At the interschool freshman tournament, handicaps were used so that all the players were equal. The top three players on the varsity team participated in a tournament at West High School. All the teams in North's conference district and in Tucson competed in singles and doubles at Varsity Week which was held in Tucson. In addition, the members played every school in North's conference district twice and other valley and state schools.

Bill Betts displayed good bowling form as he bowled in team competition with other Bowling Club members.

Bowling Club Members competed in tournaments

Students with a common interest in bowling made up the Bowling Club. Convening once a week, club members met at Camelback Bowling Lanes to learn different bowling techniques and practical bowling skills.

Members participated in a Christmas tournament in which trophies for first-place team, second-place team, team high, team high series, boys' high game and series, girls' high game and series, and for the highest average were given to the winners. Team competition was a large part of Bowling Club activities. Sponsored by Mr. Schade, the club was sanctioned by the American Junior Bowling Congress. Club president was Ruth Lindauer, vice president was Bill Betts, secretary was Chris St. Clair, treasurer was David Allen Breninger.

Yearbook Pictures Taken By Student Photographers

A very necessary part of the yearbook was the photography department. Consisting of five members, the photographers not only took pictures, but also processed them in a complete lab on the second floor of the Science Building.

Pictures were scheduled by section editors, and a photographer was on hand to take it regardless of whether it was after school or a special activity. Proofs were then sent down to section editors to be cropped and set to size. Final prints were developed and made ready for the printer. Mr. Williams was head of the photography department.

Club Took Photographs Of Many School Events

Training photographers, gaining experience, and having fun were among the aims of the Photo Club. Members acquired experience by taking pictures of students attending various events such as football games, dances, the Blue and Silver Ball, the Junior-Senior Prom, plays, and graduation. These were later sold to the students.

One of the special projects of the Photo Club was introducing color photography to North. The photographers also constructed a darkroom in the publications room to process their film, supplemented the finances of the newspaper and annual, and took on special work for the publications department using new equipment. Mr. Kasold was their sponsor.

Publishing and Art studied by Press and Art Clubs

Students who were interested in the annual in the Roundup, in journalism, or in photography composed the Press Club. In November the members hosted a city-wide high school publication seminar at which problem clinics and discussion on different aspects of publishing were held. Members also attended later seminars held at other schools. The club went to the Journalism convention at Flagstaff, and toured the newspaper building in Phoenix. Various money-making projects were held to raise funds to further aid the study of the publishing business and other related fields. The sponsor was Mr. Kasold, and the club president was Bruce Klahr.

Among the many mediums studied by the Art Club were charcoals, water colors, and oil paint. In order that the members might receive experience in each of these fields, trips were taken to numerous places in the valley. Pencil or charcoal sketches made on these trips were later enlarged many for oils.

Mrs. Macon, club sponsor, arranged the trip for sketching and also accompanied the group on these trips, as well as on visits to various art shows and exhibits. Museums which housed a variety of paintings and sculpture were other places visited by the club. President of the Art Club was Lanni Carter, and other officers were Rudy Shelton, vice president, and Romie Chavez, secretary-treasurer.

Art Club members were Stephanie Mills, Marsha Hein, Lanni Carter, Jim Rupe, Polly Rowe, Judy Roberts. The Art Club members learned more about drawing and sketching and about the art of the past through field trips and lectures.

Outstanding Publication Students Chosen For Club

Students in the annual Roundup staffs were eligible to be selected for membership in Quill and Scroll. Before they were accepted certain requirements were needed. Students on the Roundup were required to have written one-hundred inches of copy, be an editor, and be either a junior or a senior. Annual staff members had to be on the staff for at least one year, be an editor, and be either a junior or a senior. Quill and Scroll was composed entirely of editors, and with the aid of their sponsor, Mr. Miller, the club strived to improve both the school newspaper and annual by advice to staff members. Near the end of the school year, an Annual Signing Dance was held.

On February 14, the first annual system-wide initiation was held for all incoming club members. The main speaker of the evening was the Sunday magazine section editor of the Arizona Journal.

editor; Marty Jean Stellhorn, exchange editor; Bonnie Threadgill, photographer's assistant; Judy Roberts, staff artist; Mary Wingfield, business assistant; and Jeff Brown, feature columnist.

Honors for North High earned by Roundup Staff

North High's newspaper, the Mustang Roundup, was published under the direction of Mr. Kasold, advisor, and Jeanne Thompson, editor-in-chief, on a regular schedule. Hardworking editors and reporters working toward the Roundup goal of keeping the student body informed, publishing more issues with more pages during the first semester than any other school paper in the valley. During first semester nine issues, sixty-four pages, nearly three-thousand column inches and almost one-hundred thousand words were published.

Students on the Roundup staff met both lunch periods to work on the assembly of their bi-monthly publications.

Staff members Bonnie Threadgill, Lindy McClintic, and Jeanne Thompson worked on final corrections.

Annual Staff Could Lalg After Slaving For Year

"Slaving away on a very difficult task, the faithful annual staff produced a wonderful yearbook." This is the copy we would like to write; however, as we must be truthful, the staff did strive to produce the best yearbook that was possible.

Putting out the annual was no easy job. Meeting deadlines and getting advertising presented problems. Thus, to be admitted to the staff, students had to have certain qualifications and a real desire to work.

Members of the staff appreciated the cooperation of the faculty and student body. The staff would like to thank Mr. Miller, annual staff sponsor, for his cheerful help throughout the year.

Elais, manager, J. Hill, D. Mousser, B. Gordon, R. Chiate, L. Palmertree, L. Antilla, and B. Conner. Hard practice and co-operation enabled the team to capture the State Crown.

1961 Allstate Pitcher, Bob Gordon, slid safely in to third base in game against Camelback which ended in North's victory.

Bob Gordon's pitching and fielding helped North's ball club capture the State Championship for the second straight year.

Victorious '61 Ball Team Held State Championship

To capture the 1961 baseball crown North staged two rallies to defeat Scottsdale 7-3 and Tucson Rincon 13-9. In the Scottsdale game, North gained the lead in the second inning with a walk and three singles. A final rally by North came in the sixth inning when the Mustangs added the two final runs making the score 7-3.

Tucson Rincon was defeated by North in the top of the seventh inning by a rally which resulted in five runs for the Mustangs. The final tally of the come-from-behind game was 13-9.

Tim Myers led the team with a .439 batting average compiling a total of twenty-five hits which entitled him to the 1961 batting crown. Ace hurler Bob Gordon compiled six wins and one loss for the Mustangs while giving up only thirty hits in sixty innings. Following behind '61 graduate Tim Meyers was John Geames with a .413 batting average.

Other returnees were pitchers Dean Mousser, Bob Conner, and Russel Arnce, and outfielders John Hill and Gary Smith. The previous year's J.V. and Frosh, coached by Rollie Cadwell and Bob Kerr, respectively, aided the Mustangs' 1962 squad in the areas of hitting and fielding.

Seven of North's varsity baseball players played on Kerr Sporting Goods' Class A American Legion team that captured the National Championship. Outfielders were Gary Smith, John Hill, Bob Conner, Dean Mousser, and John Geames. Infielders were Tim Myers and Fred Combs. North High's boys composed most of the team and starting positions.

North catcher Fred Combs slid safely under Camelback catcher after wild throw on a pick-off attempt.

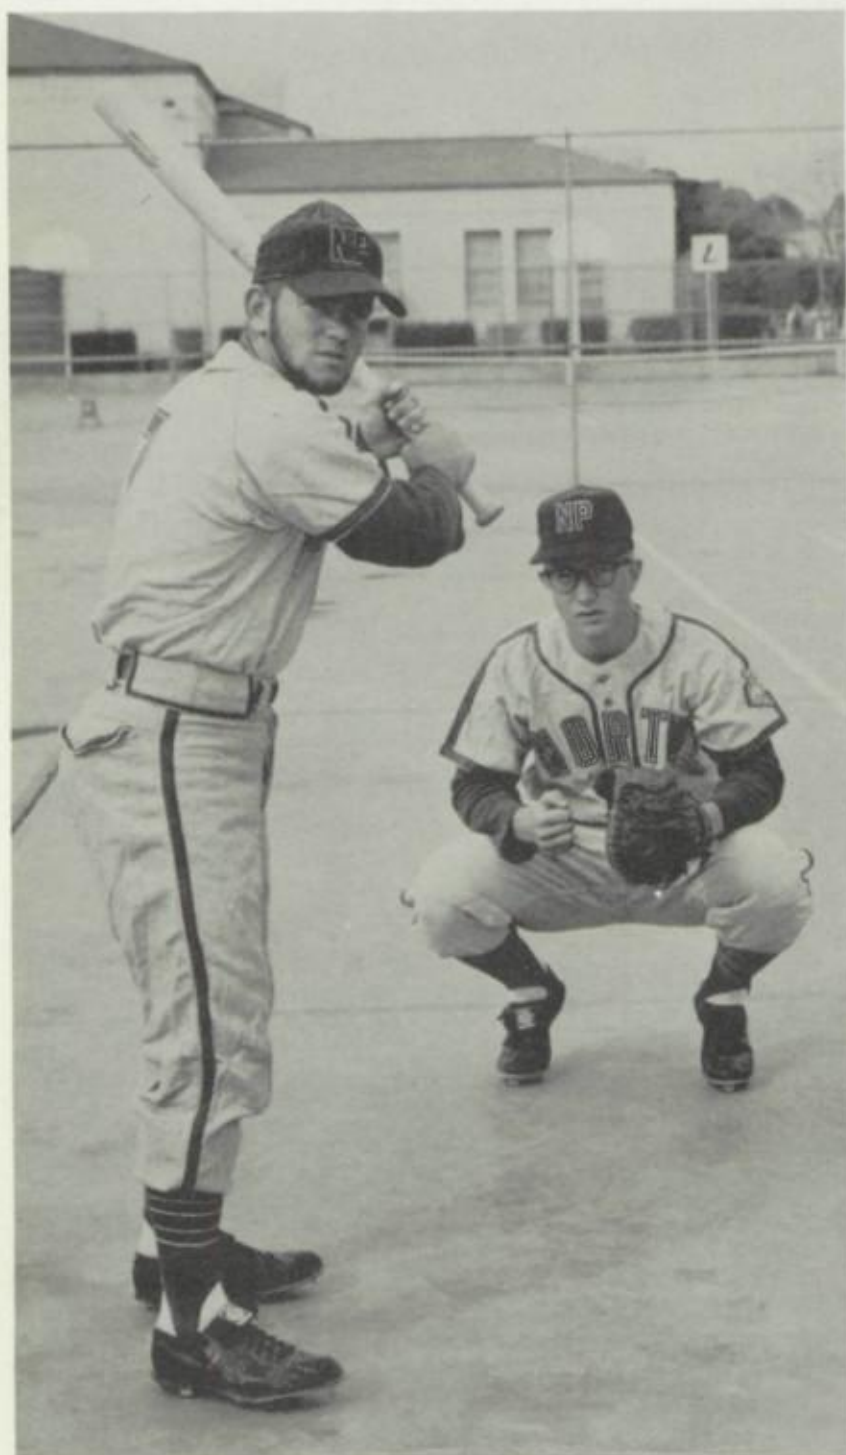

John Geames (5) struck at a fast pitch in the North-Camelback game. John led the Mustangs with the highest batting average for the first half of the season, but later relinquished the title to Tim Myers.

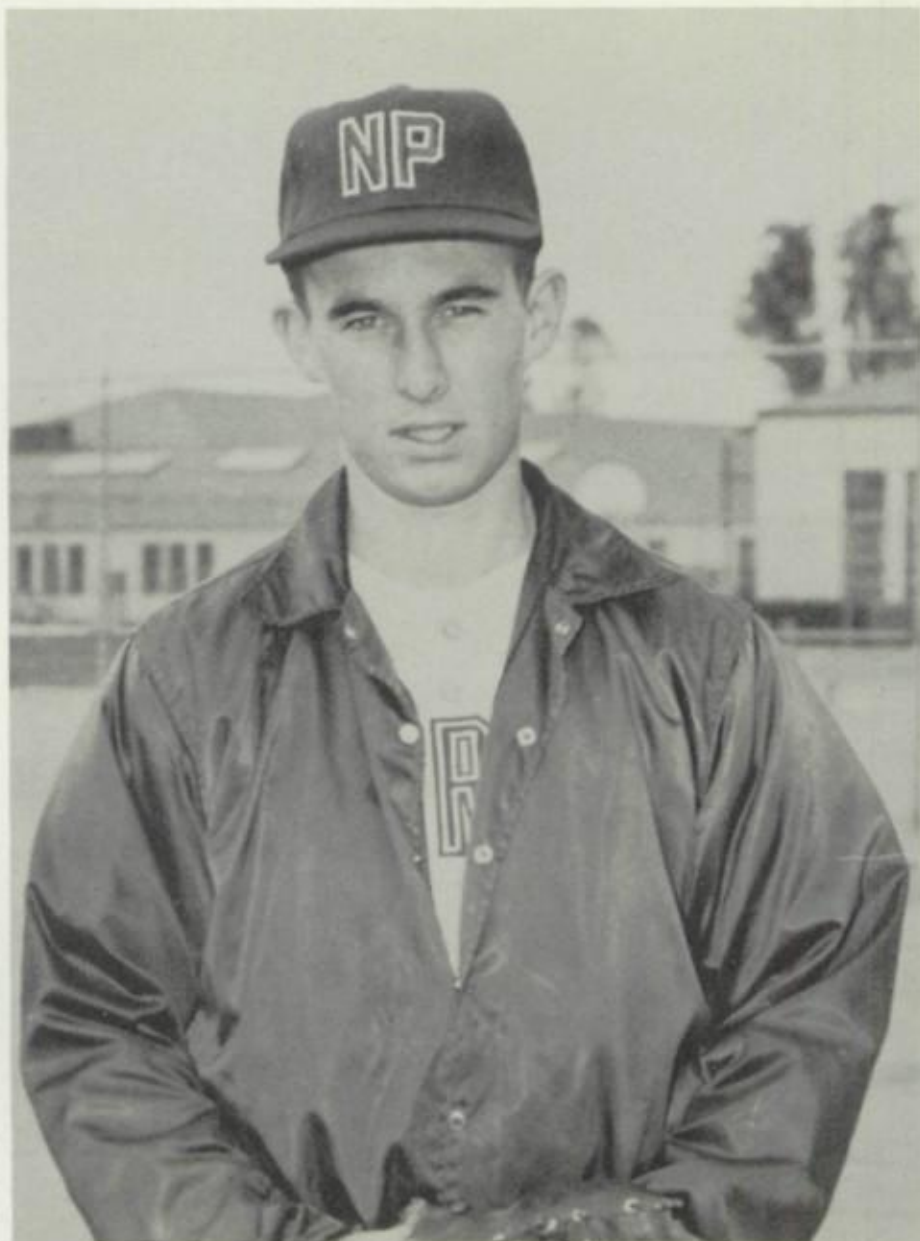

Smith's Sparrows Took Intramural Championship

Intramural baseball was under the supervision of varsity baseball coach, Tom Cooper. Four teams, the Sparrows, Pelicans, Robins, and the R.O.T.C. team, competed this year in intramural baseball. Victorious was Smith's Sparrows.

Intramural baseball was designed to give all boys, regardless of whether they possessed special ability, an opportunity to participate in a competitive sport. The main purpose of this pre-season league was to create interest in new players and give experienced boys a chance to strengthen their ability.

Gary Smith was backed up by catcher Bill Saxman as he prepared for batting practice.

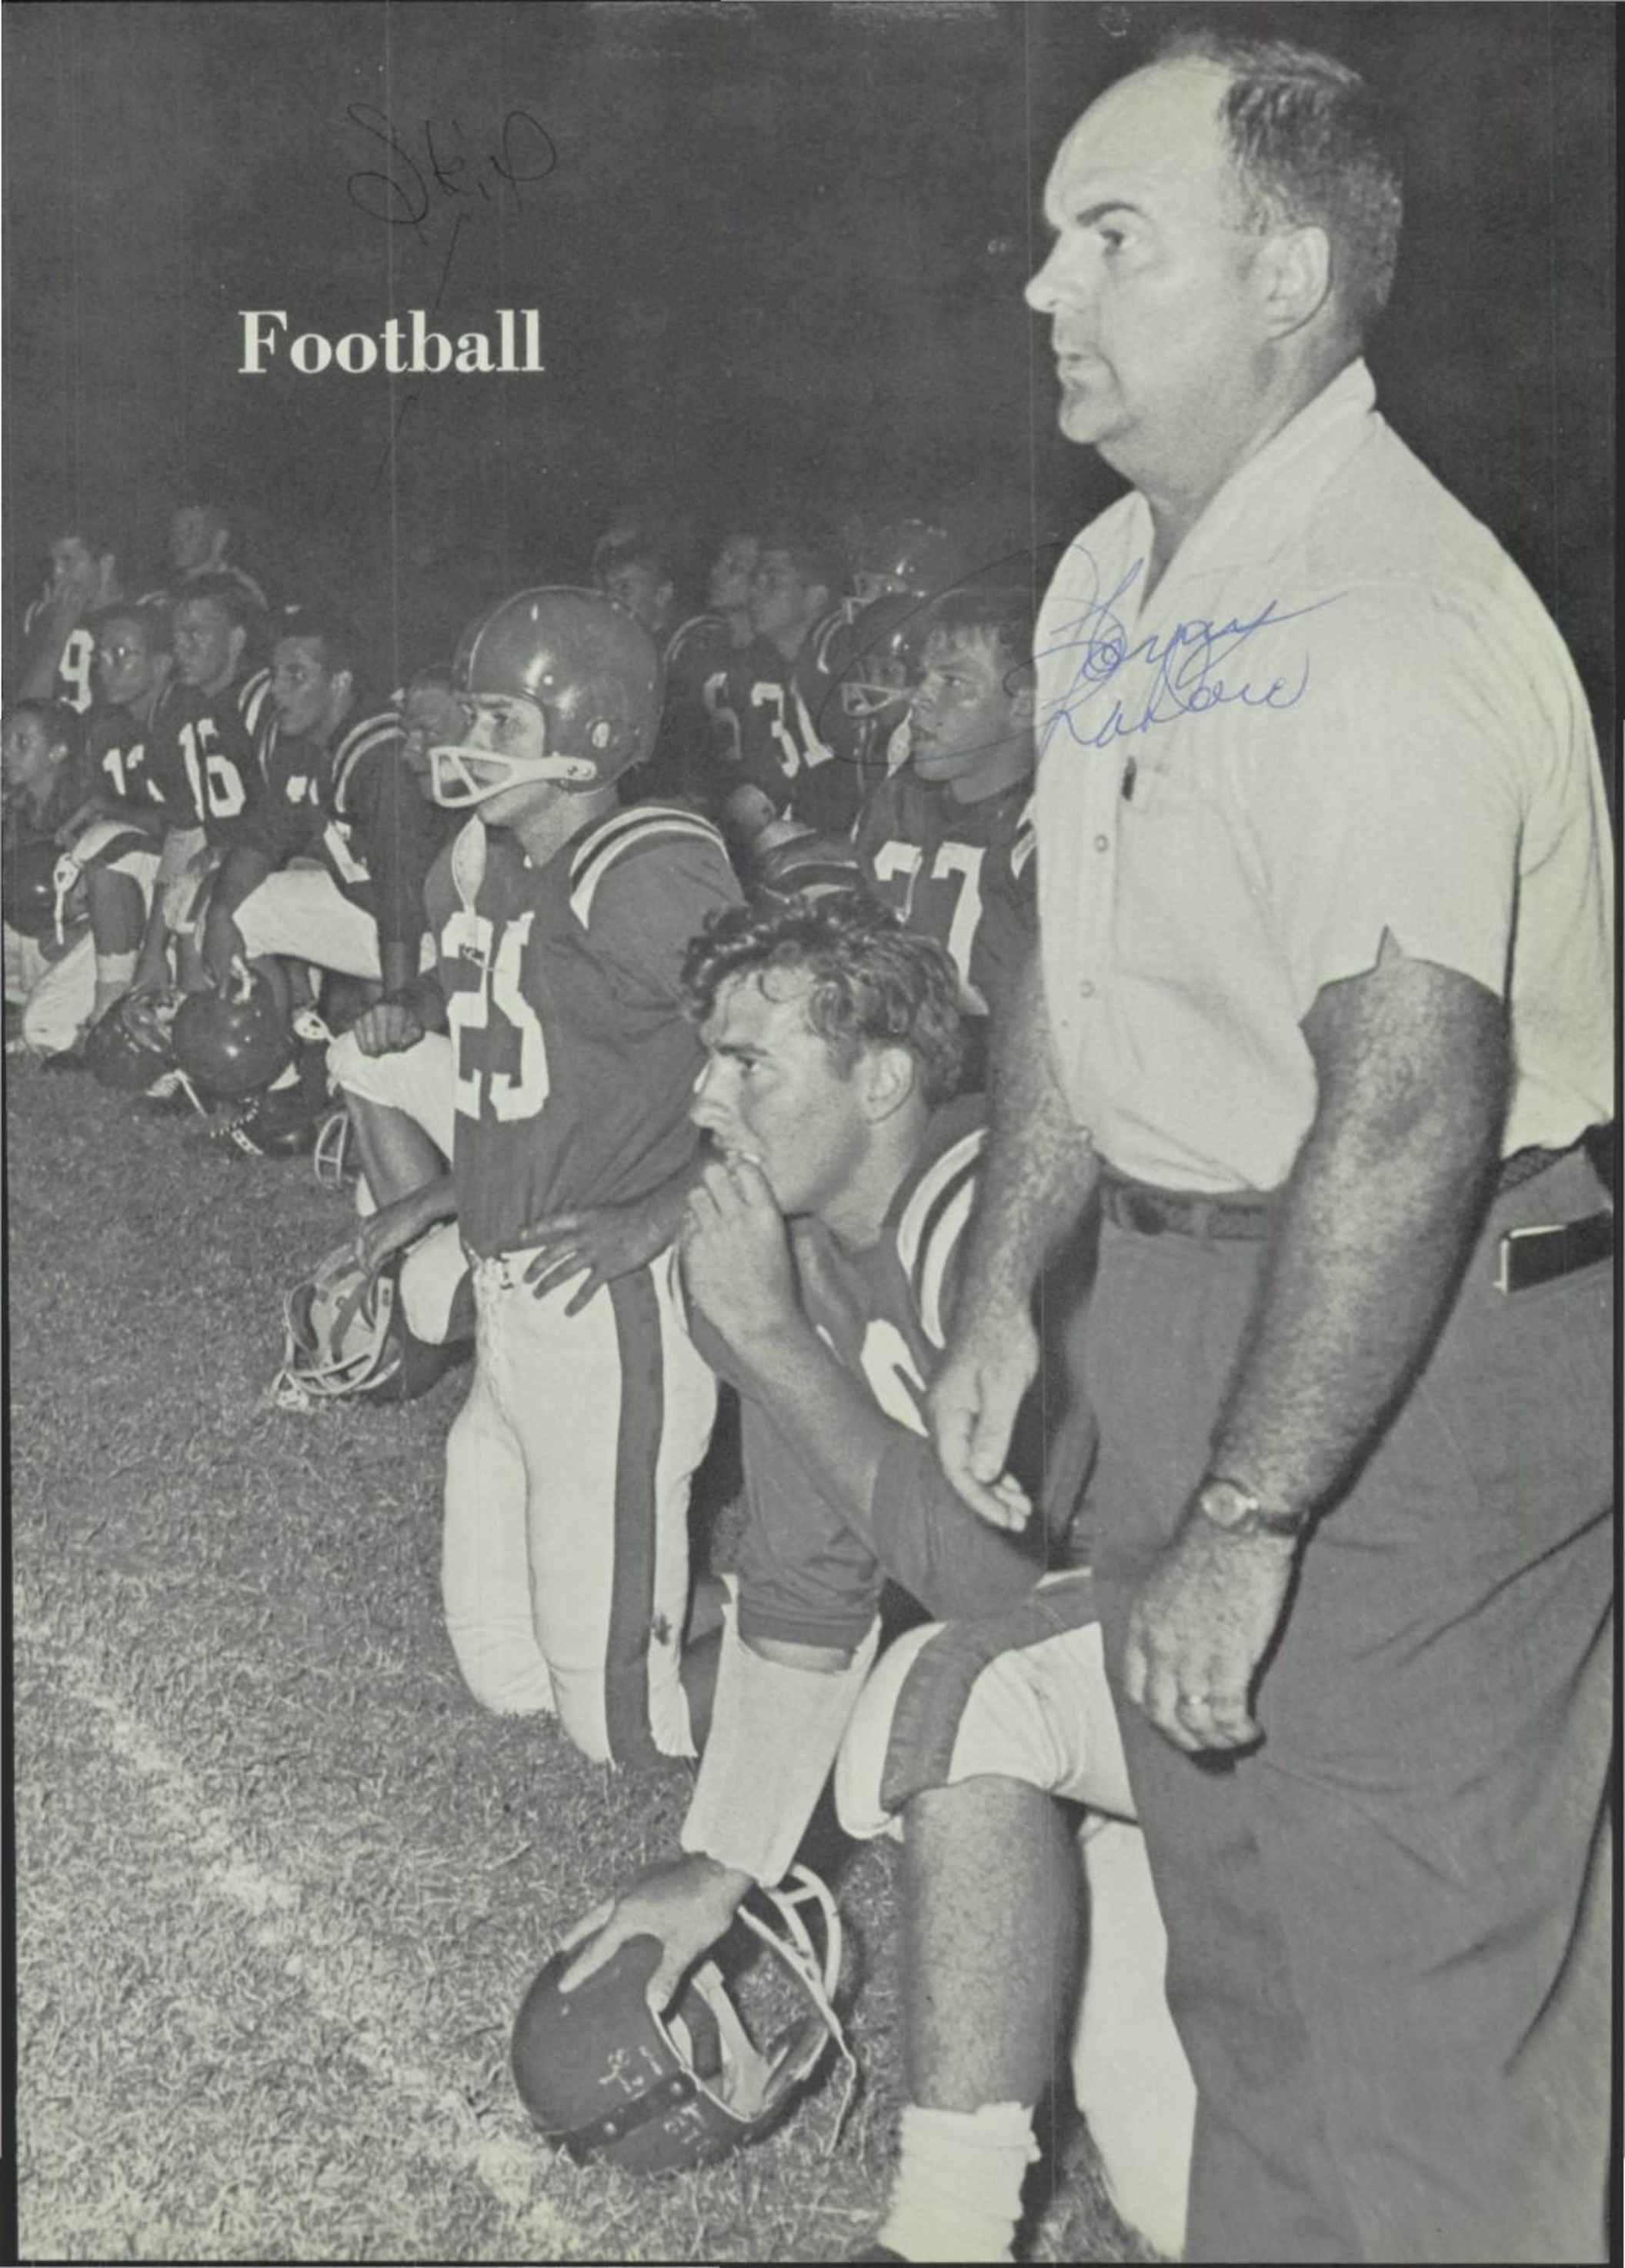

Dave Roberts was one of the many hurlers that pitched for an intramural baseball team.

Varsity catcher John Geames took part in intramural baseball to add to his catching skill.

Adeptly using his blockers to elude Camelback linebacker (16), halfback Irby Cain (5) plunged over from the one yard line to score in the Homecoming Game.

North Gridders Start Season with Four Wins

North's gridders trounced West's T-Birds in the opening conference game of the season. Halftime saw the Mustangs ahead 7-6 due to a nine yard run by Gary Smith, with the conversion by Dave Merrill.

North dominated the second half with touchdowns by Irby Cain on a fifty-two yard run; a fifty-eight yard dash by Gary Smith; and a ninety yard gallop from the line of scrimmage by John Iglesias with end Bob Conner throwing the key blocks. The final score of the game was 26-14.

Succeeding the West High game, the Mustangs ran their winning streak up to four consecutive wins by defeating the Camelback Spartans, 21-7.

7-0 was the score at the half due to a pass thrown by quarterback Ross Shannon to Bob Conner who went fifty-five yards for a touchdown. Irby Cain ended a long drive by plunging over from the one yard line. Halfback John Iglesias then brought the Mustang tally to 21 points by sprinting sixty-five yards during the last quarter highlighting the defeat of the Spartans. Dave Merrill, North's barefoot kicker, competed all the conversions.

Defeat of Phoenix Union Began 1961 Grid Season

North High played its first game of the season against the Mustangs' traditional rival, Phoenix Union, handing them a 20-6 defeat.

First quarter play brought two touchdowns; the first, when halfback Irby Cain shot through an off tackle hole to run thirty-eight yards, and the second by fullback Gary Smith on a forty-seven yard run.

Jim La Benz earned two points for the Mustangs by blocking a kick for a safety. A six yard run by halfback Richard Yee for a touchdown ended the scoring streak for the aggressive North High team.

In the next successful game of the season, the Mustangs edged out Central's Bobcats 20-13, but were forced to sacrifice tackle Bob Templin due to a serious spleen injury. Two of North's touchdowns were the outcome of quarterback sneaks by Ross Shannon and Phil Havens. John Igleski scored the third touchdown on an aerial hook-up.

Quarterback Ross Shannon (23) conferred with officials about a penalty, prior to the officials' decision.

A host of Mustang tacklers surrounded Mesa Jackrabbit A. Livingston (20) to halt a off tackle drive. Tacklers included B. Conner (22), M. McGinnis (25), J. Molnar (9), W. Phelps (11), and R. Shannon (23).

John Igleski (19) successfully eluded Rebel linebacker (75) to invade South Mountain territory in a game which Mustangs won 20-13.

North Tripped Up After Taking First Five Games

Playing "heads up ball," Carl Hayden handed North its first defeat of the season by a score of 14-7. Falcon defense held the Mustangs to little yardage during the first half, except for a nineteen yard run into the end zone by fullback Gary Smith. In the second half Irby Cain and Gary Smith moved the pigskin on long runs, but fumbles hindered North's attempts at touchdowns.

Following their first loss of the season North hosted the Tucson Badgers. Irby Cain scored the first touchdown of the game for the Mustangs on a nine yard scamper followed by Dave Merrill's conversion. Tucson then tied the game 7-7. The Badgers' scoring streak ended with a 13-7 lead. The Mustangs, however, came out of the second half to beat the Badgers 20-13 due to touchdowns made by John Igleski on a thirty-seven yard run and Irby Cain on a one yard plunge.

South's Rebels toppled before North's gridders by a margin of 20-13. Irby Cain racked up two touchdowns on forty-seven and sixteen yard runs. 14-13 was the score with three minutes remaining when Jim LaBenz picked up a fumble on South's twenty yard line and raced into the end zone, giving the Mustangs their victory.

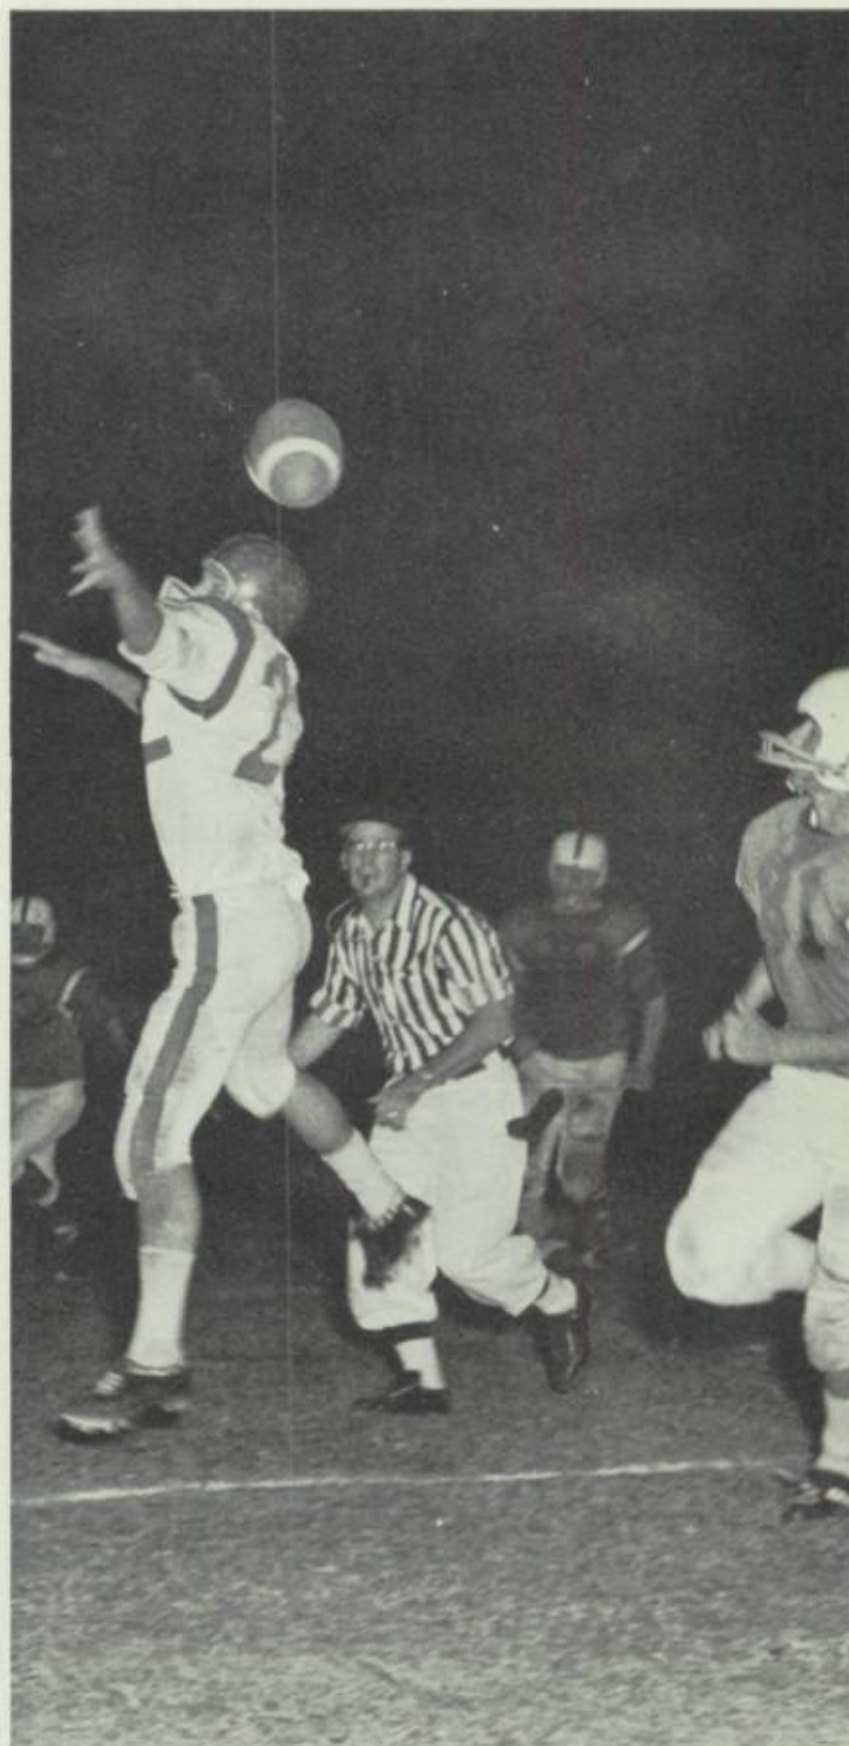

In the eighth game of the season the Mustangs met the Yuma Criminals. Turned back five times within fifteen yards of the goal line as a result of fumbles and penalties, North was downed 10-7. The Mustangs scored in the first quarter on a run by Irby Cain, but eventually lost when the Criminals scored a field goal in the last quarter.

Richard Yee (2), North's halfback dodged would-be South Mountain tackle (43) and romped for a Mustang touchdown.

Allstate halfback Irby Cain (5) was pulled down by South Rebel (75) after bulling his way 75 yards into South territory.

North's linebacker Bob Conner (22) leaped into the air to break up pass intended for Tucson end (81).

Tucson Badger (40) was halted after a short gain on an end sweep by North's captain Ross Shannon (23).

North Won 6, Lost 3, But Forfeited Entire Season

Safety man Bob McCann (14) pulled down South Rebel in game which ended in Mustang victory.

Touchdown scores by Irby Cain, John Iglesiaski, and Ross Shannon were matched by the Mesa High Jackrabbits in a game which ended in a 31-27 defeat. Irby's run covered seventy-seven yards. Two plays later, John scampered thirty-five yards. An aerial hook-up from Shannon to Bob Conner brought North to the two yard line. In the next two plays Shannon plunged over on a quarterback sneak.

North scored again on a pass to Bob Conner and a quick lateral to Irby Cain. Mustang defense couldn't hold the Jackrabbits, however, and with one minute and fifty-five seconds left in the game the Mustangs were edged out by Mesa 31-27.

Because of the presence of ineligible players, who belonged to an off-campus club in violation of school and AIA rules, North's record was no wins and nine losses.

Future Varsity Gridders Developed Skills On J.V.

Under the direction of coaches Caldwell and Cooper the J.V. football team finished the season with a 4-3-1 record. The boys acquired up-to-date knowledge on various plays and techniques while practicing sportsmanship and developing competitive interest. Varsity coaches watched the J.V.'s develop and progress as would-be varsity gridders.

North's J.V. season had to be forfeited, however, due to the fact that a Mustang gridder was living outside North's district.

Frosh Gained Experience Knowledge During Season

North High's freshman football team record was 0-6-3. However, the boys gained valuable experience for the coming season. Under the leadership of coaches Caldwell and Smith, frosh grid-ers learned techniques and special skills while developing their individual talents.

Frosh football sparked interest in sportsman-ship and leadership while offering all boys a chance to compete in organized athletics.

North Started Rebuilding Mustangs Won 2, Lost 7

Leading by 30 points at the end of the game, North's cagers opened their season with a 63-32 rousing of Tucson Pueblo. Accuracy and fast breaks partly accounted for the Mustang victory. North then lost three games to St. Mary's 59-51, South Mountain 72-48, and West 60-51. High point honors went to John Iglesias scoring 12 points against St. Mary's, and Bob McCann in both latter games with 10 and 19 points respectively.

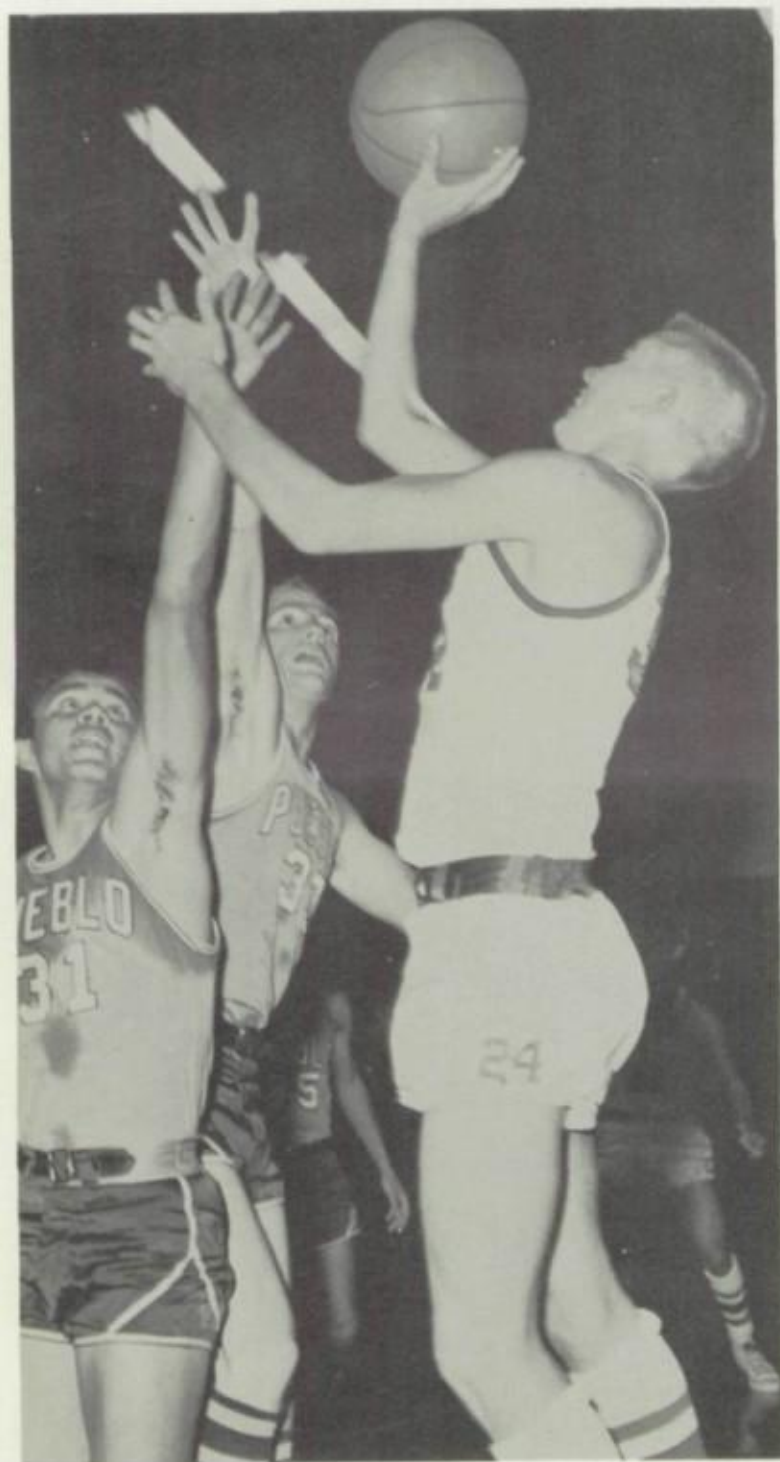

In the Christmas Tournament, however, North's cagers won a third place trophy. The Mustangs beat P.U. 83-81 in an overtime with the help of McCann's 28 points; then lost to South Mountain 53-41 with McCann scoring 14; and finally, defeated Central 59-52 in a defensive game in which Andy Hansom was high point man with 22 points.

North's pace slackened and the Mustangs lost three in a row; the first to Camelback 70-55. Height hindered the Mustangs, but they played hard until the final gun when high pointer Bob McCann's tally totaled 16. Tucson handed North its next lost 66-47 making fast breaks throughout the game. High point crown was shared by McCann and Hansom with 13 points each. North's next foe, Central's Bobcats, downed North 63-50 despite Cornoyer's 12 points.

Andy Hansom, North's guard, faked Yuma Criminal (43) in drive for lay-up.

Mustangs John Iglesias (24) and Jeff Cornoyer (41) vied for control of ball with two West High T-birds.

During a rough defensive game held on North's home court, Mustang Iglesias (24) and Bobcat Walker both grabbed for the ball while teammates watched. Iglesias lost, was unable to stop his motion, and received a personal foul.

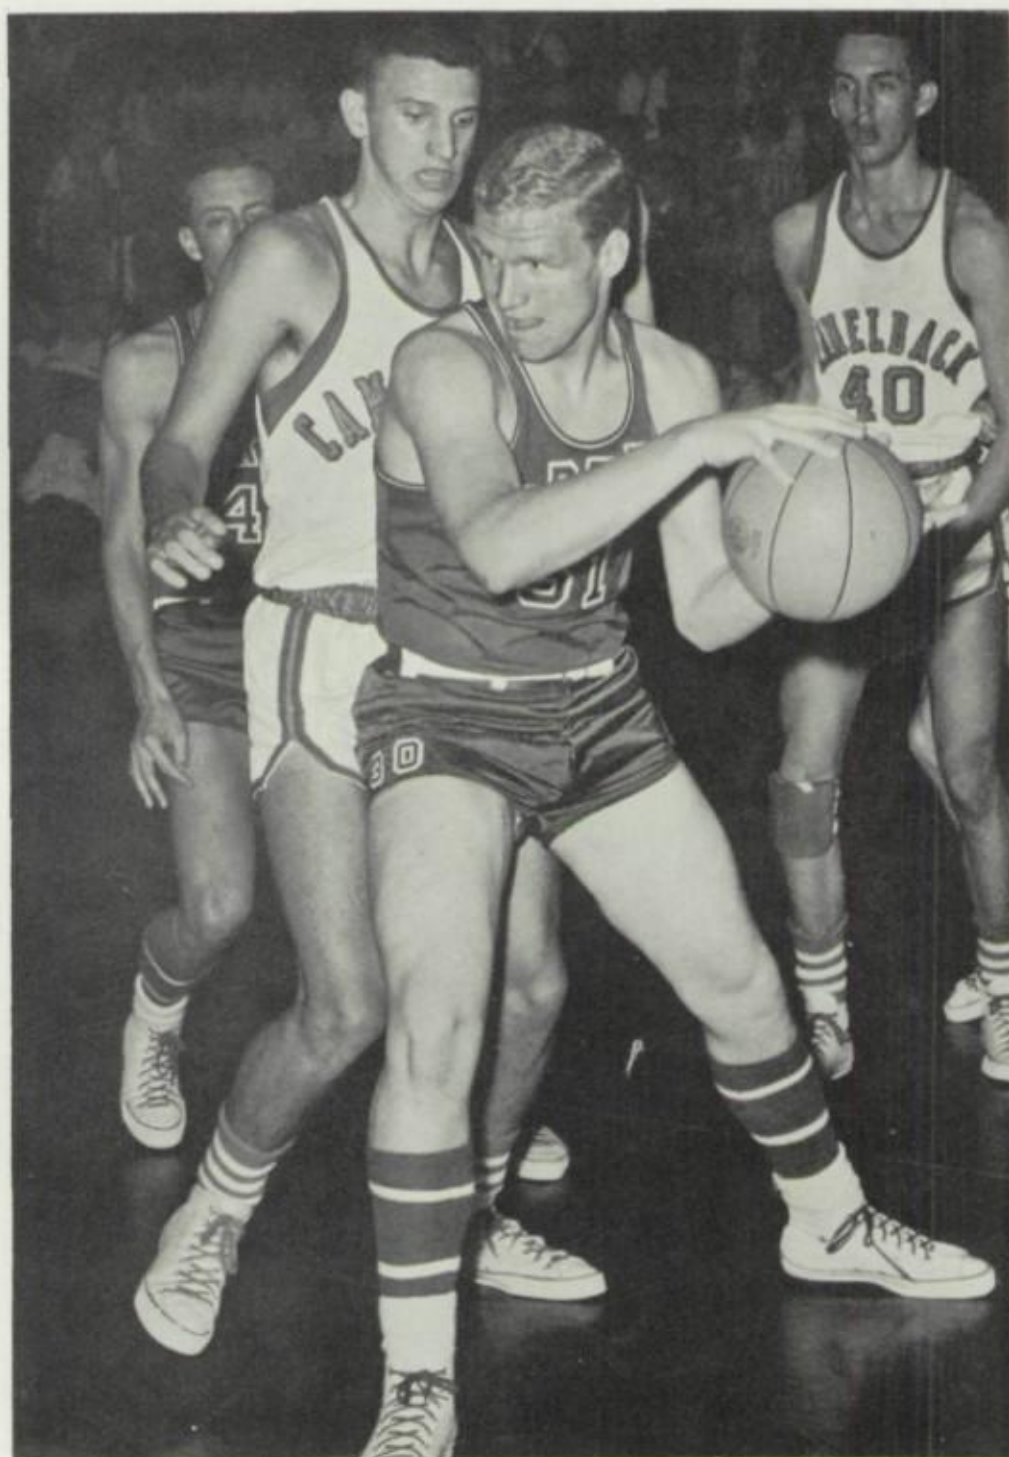

Dennis Abert (10) completed a two point conversion after escaping reach of St. Mary's Knight (14).

Right: Mustang Arnold Goodwin (51) fought for maneuvering room after grabbing rebound in North-Camelback game.

Hoopsters Rebuilt Group Despite A Losing Season

After a long losing streak the Mustangs defeated Carl Hayden 61-53 with McCann scoring 27 points. Cornoyer led the Mustangs with 14 when North met South Mountain. Losing to the Rebels 54-65, North then came back to trounce Yuma 48-36. Arnold Goodwin racked up 13 points.

Mesa represented a 72-58 defeat for North in a fast game of ball. Andy Hansom was top scorer with 17. The Mustangs almost upset West, but the T-birds came from behind to beat the Horses 59-44 with Bob McCann scoring 9 for North. Tom Thompson led the scorers with 13 points as the Spartans won over North 72-43. Central and Yuma handed North defeats for the last two games of the season 70-60 and 64-55 respectively. High scorer for the second Bobcat-Mustang clash was Bob McCann with a 19.

Basic Moves, Strategy Stressed To J.V. Hoopsters

North's Junior Varsity basketball team, coached by Bill McDermott, had a 7-9 record for the '62 season. Since the varsity team draws its members from the J.V. team, fundamentals were stressed, as were good sportsmanship and teamwork.

Freshman Team Boasted Phoenix Basketball Title

Freshman basketball, directed by Coaches Smith and Roper, completed the best frosh season in North High's history with a record of 23-9. As in the past North had two teams, the Thundering Herd boasting a 14-2 record and the Bronco's with a 9-7 record.

Intended to cultivate interest and fine sports-manship, Freshman basketball also taught the players the fundamentals and skills of the game.

Well Balanced Track Squad Feature Of Spring Sports

North's trackmen opened their season with a practice meet against Phoenix Christian. In this meet the Mustangs proved to be strong in many of the field events and also controlled the track events. Among the shot-putters Bob McCann excelled for North and took first place honors while in the discus Miles Lister took first. Broad jump was captured by Dennis Abert, and the team also took firsts in the 100 yard dash, low and high hurdes, pole vault, relay, mile, 220 yard dash, and the 880 yard run. By showing overall power in this meet the Mustang thinclads gave promise of a well-rounded and successful track team.

Next year will prove to be a good season for track also. Most of the Mustang's thinclads were juniors, while a few sophomores earned positions on the varsity squad.

This is Huston Morrison's last year of coaching at North. He has been transferred to Alhambra High School where he will become athletic director. Since he came to North last year, Mr. Morrison directed and advised the track, cross country and football teams.

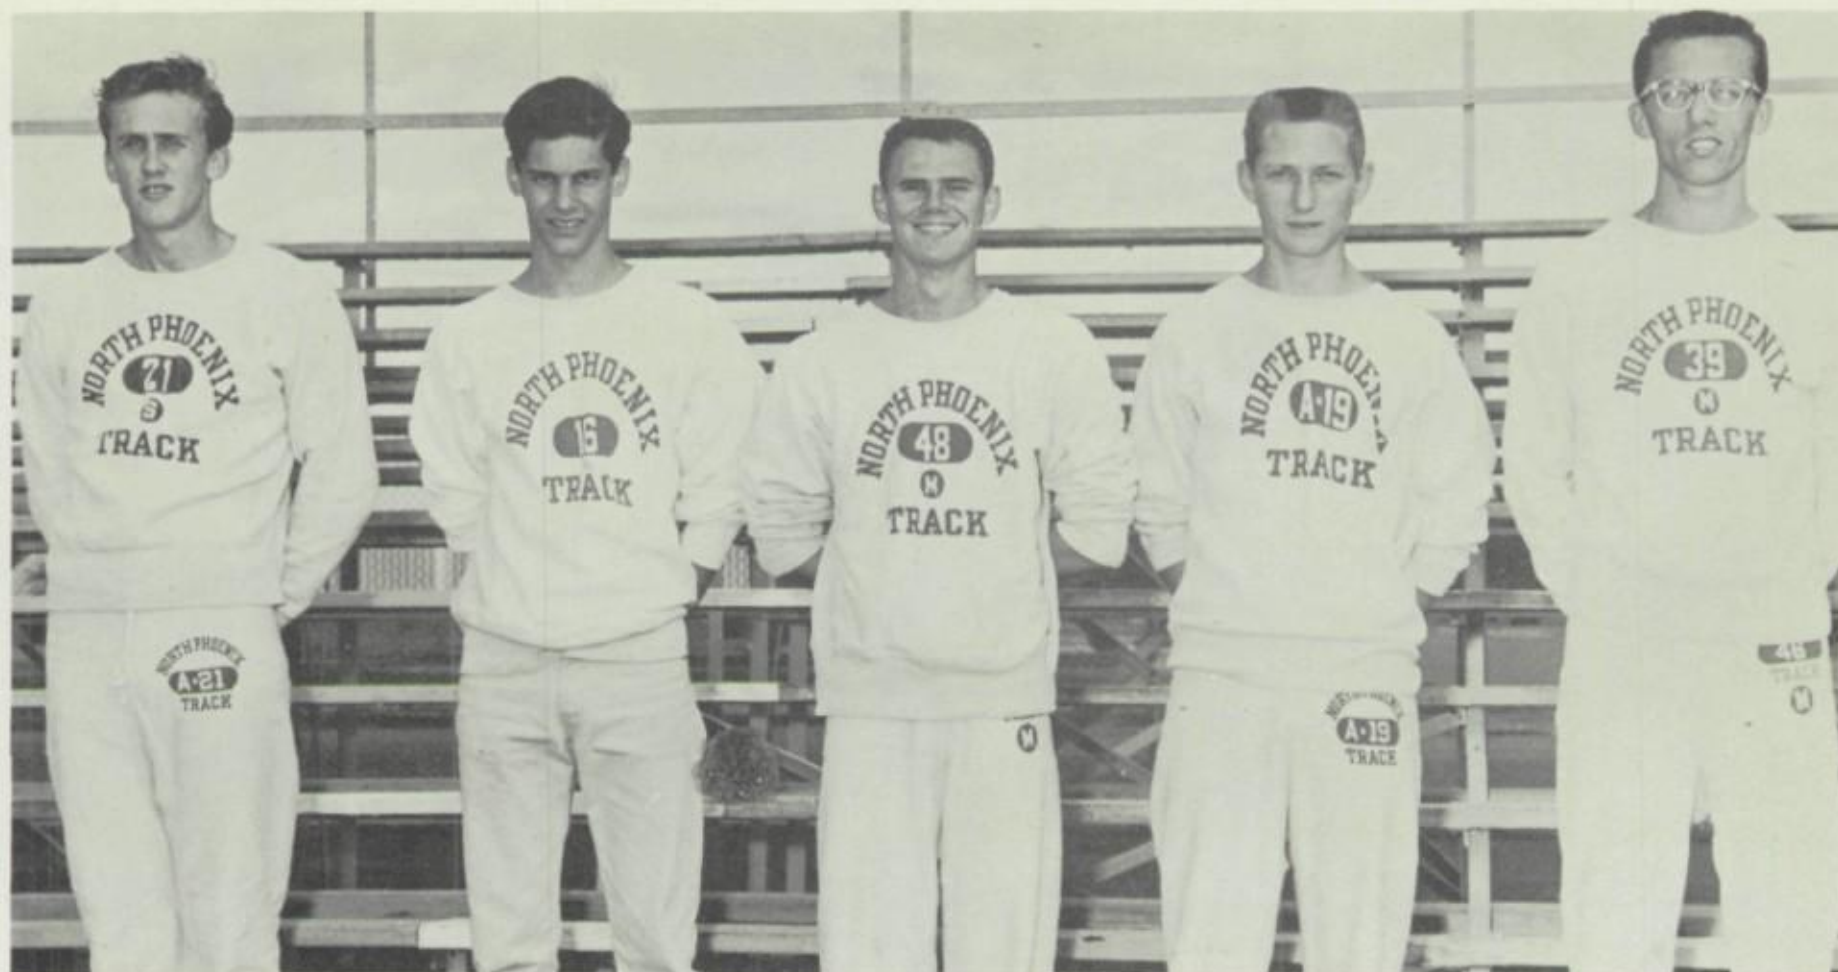

Sophomore Byron McCormick slowed his pace after handing the baton to Senior Irby Cain in the 880 yard relay.

Lister's throw was 168 feet and 3 inches, which was way out in front of South's discus throwers.

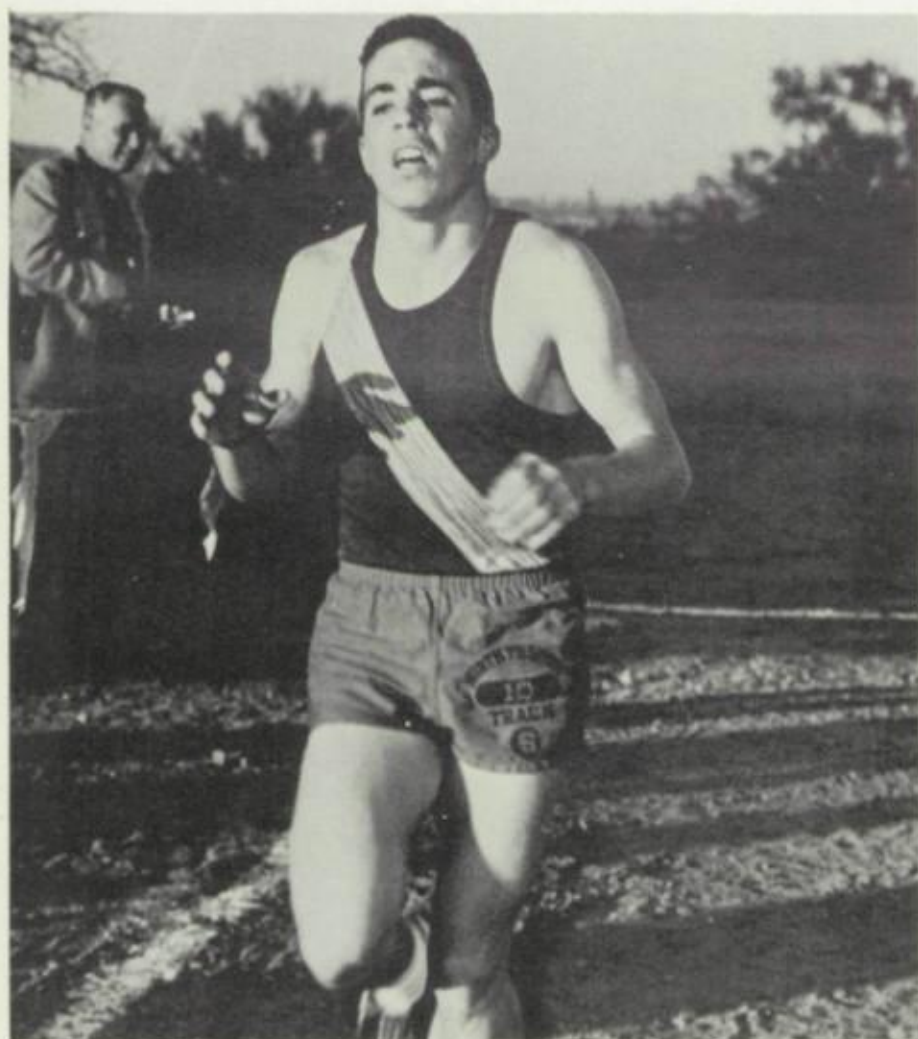

Leaping into the air, John Igleski demonstrated his technique for the broad jump. John's perfect step enabled him to jump nineteen feet.

Endurance Dedication Key To Cross Country Win

Everyday after school, a few devoted boys went to the stadium to practice for cross country, coached by Mr. Roper.

Papago Park was the scene where North's persistent harriers jogged over the countryside in an attempt to capture a medal. The boys received no individual glory, nor did they participate with their teammates as a group. The boys were individuals relying on their own talents.

Next season most of the runners will return and form a new cross-country squad.

Heavy weight, Bob Butler, attempted to "take down" a Central High opponent in dual match which the Mustangs won, 27-18.

Jim LeBenz, 165 pound wrestler, attempted a "take down" on Central opponent in a six minute match, ultimately won by LeBenz.

Dennis Meador, 112 pounder, tried a "take down" on Perry Basset, North's 120 pound matman, in an exhibition meet during half-time at a North High basketball game.

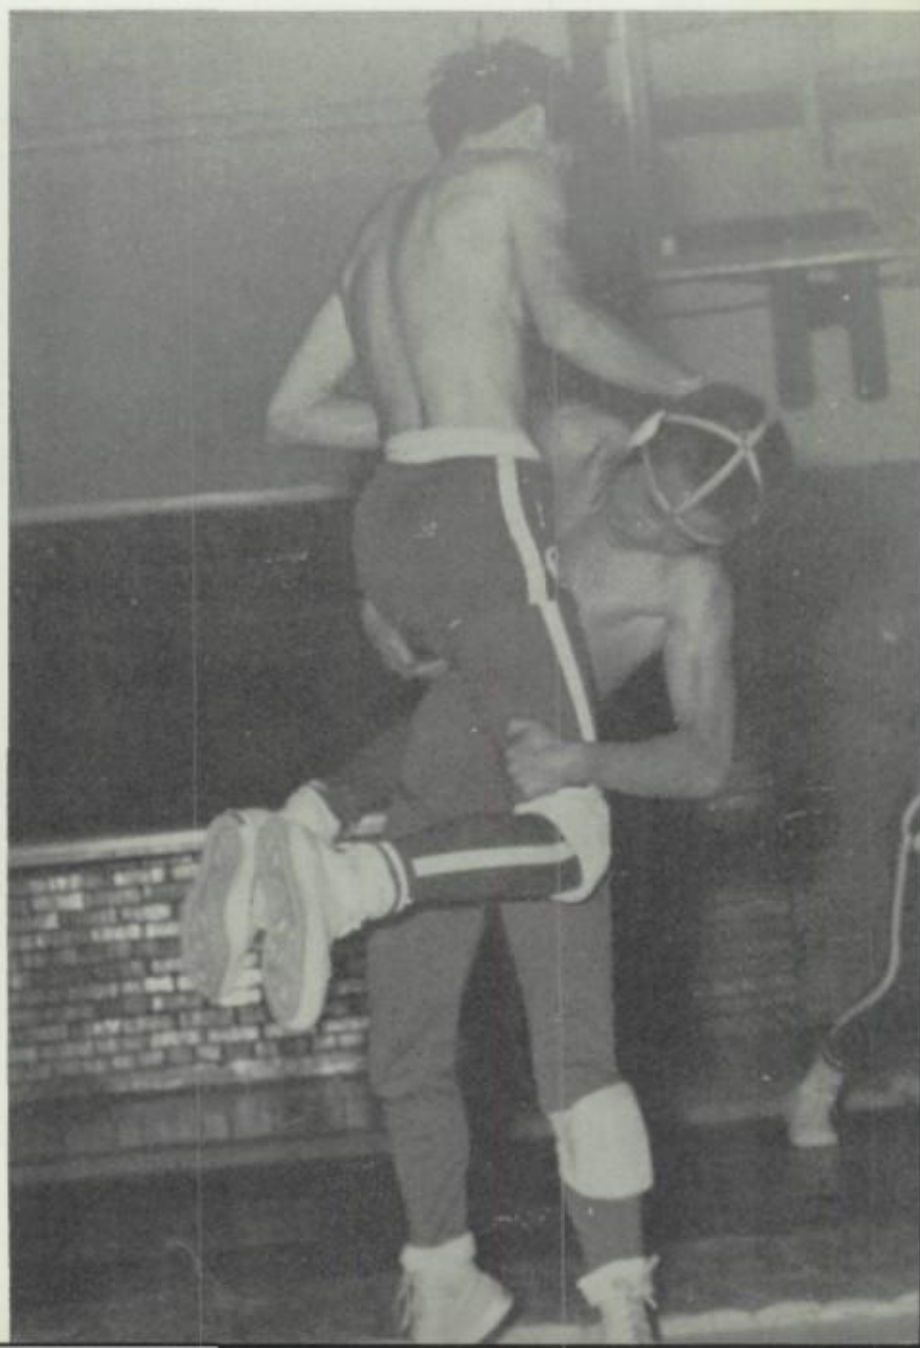

Matmen Post 7-1 Season; Send Three To State Meet

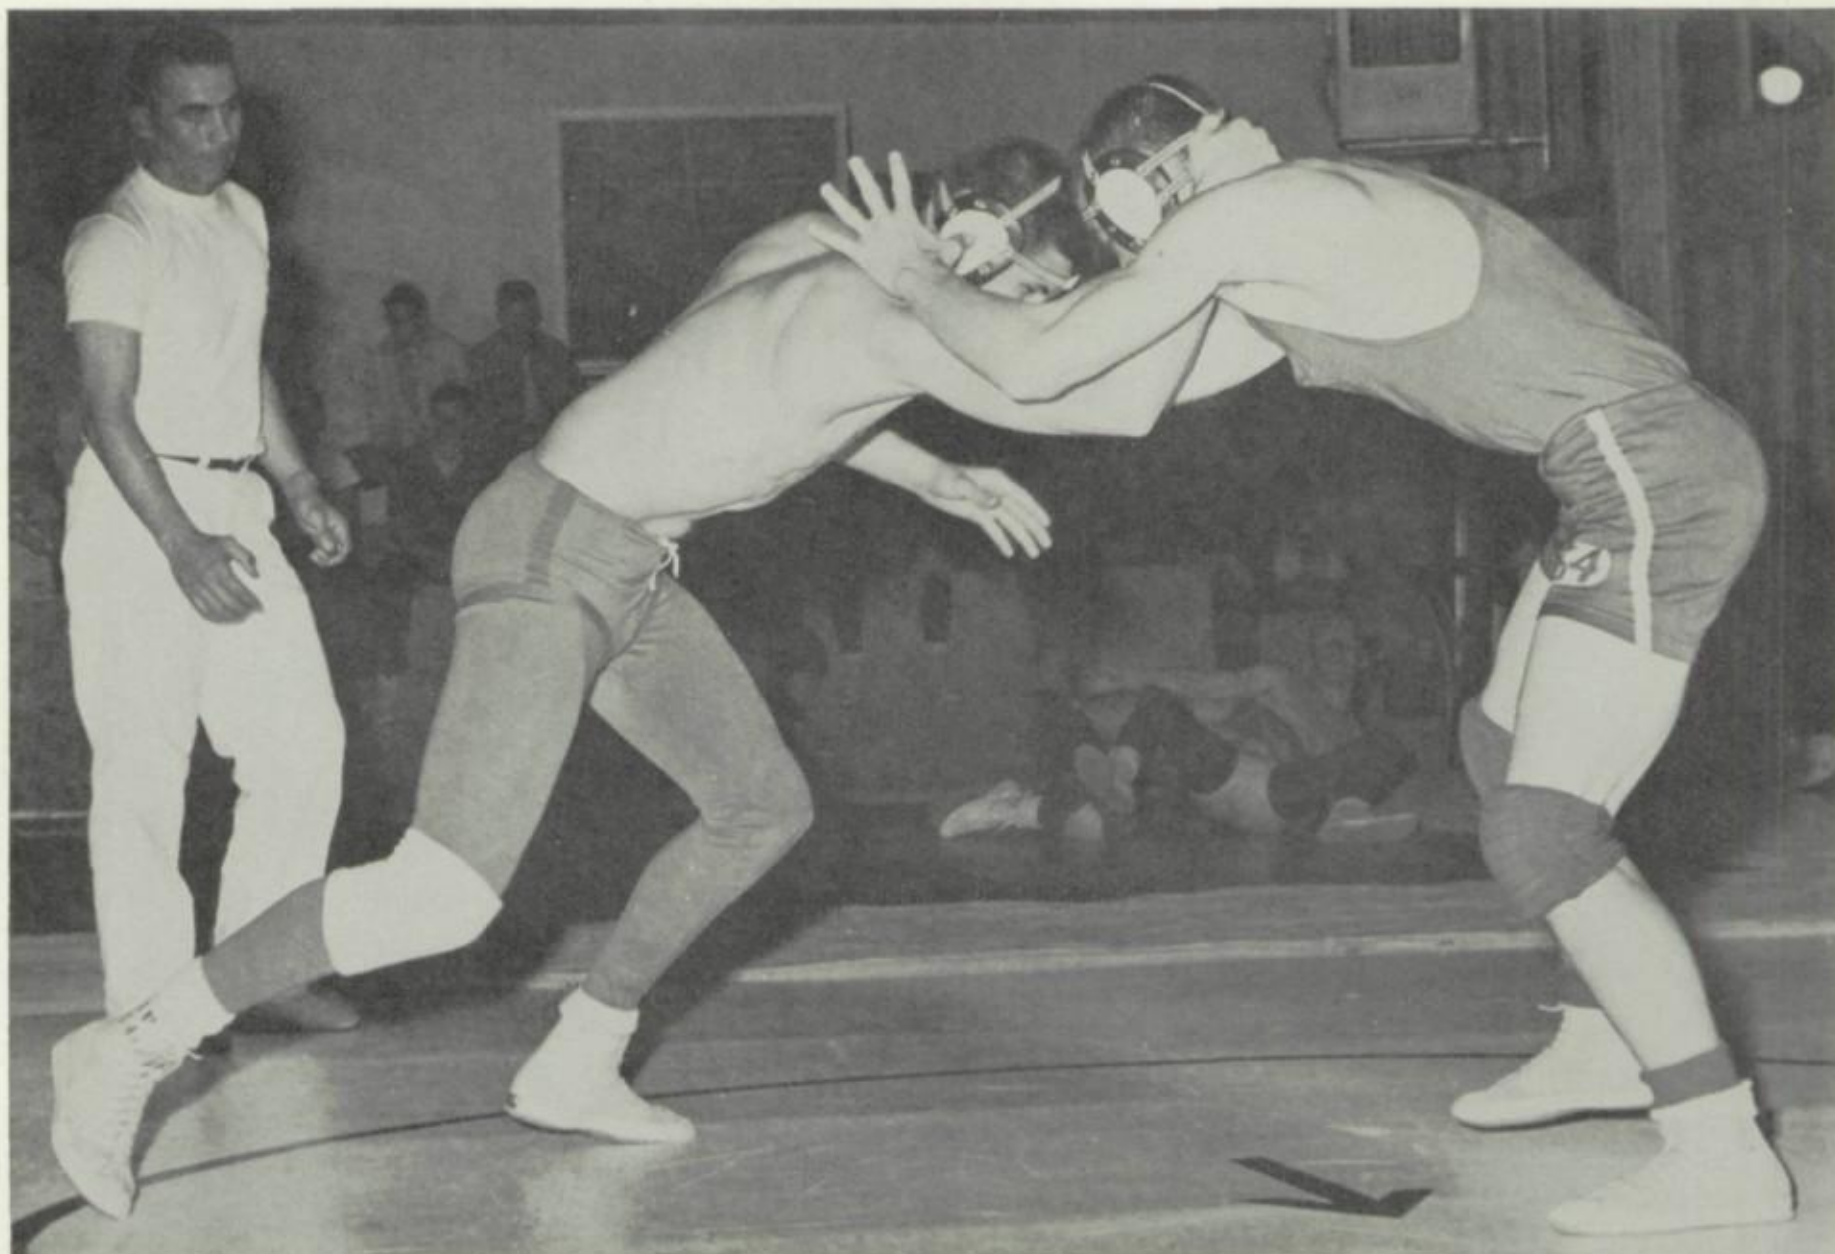

North's matmen ended the season with an accumulated 7 wins and 2 losses. In each match the team was composed of different boys from all classes due to the fact that challenges were held before the meets. There were 13 weight classes: 95, 103, 112, 120, 127, 133, 138, 145, 154, 165, 175, 191, and heavyweight.

Wrestling is one of the few individual sports. A wrestler must be fast, agile, strong, and quick witted. This is the goal varsity coach Pete Clark and the J.V., coach Rollie Caldwell aimed for. Their mark was reached, and the grapplers were successful in defeating many teams during their season.

Larry Beck, Jerry Cornoyer, Mitch Hibbert, Chuck Bedard, Johnny Love, and William Mitchell formed the North High boys' varsity golf team.

Lawrence Backed Up By Top-Notch Golfing Team

Varsity boys' golf team, sparked by four year letterman Jim Lawrence, completed a fine season under the direction of Mr. Harold Williams in his second year of coaching. Number two spot was held by Bill Mitchell and Jerry Cornoyer held down third position, which gave North High a well rounded representation in all matches.

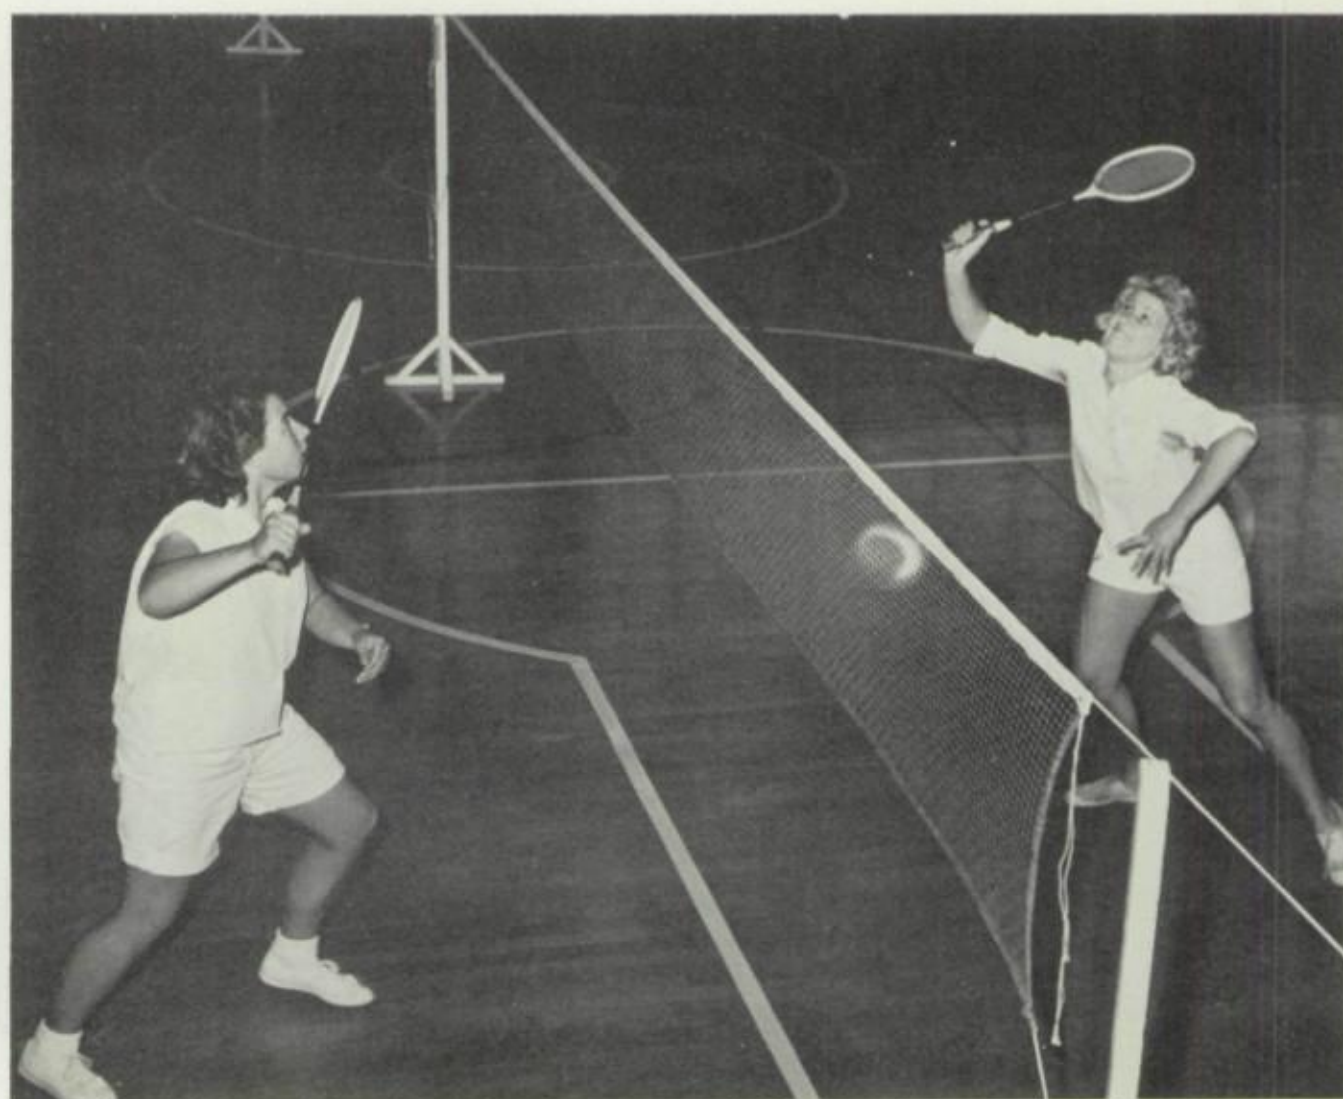

Practice was held at the Encanto Golf Course. However the high school hosting the meet each week provided a course for the boys.

Number one man, Jim Lawrence, practiced his form during an after school workout at Encanto Golf Course.

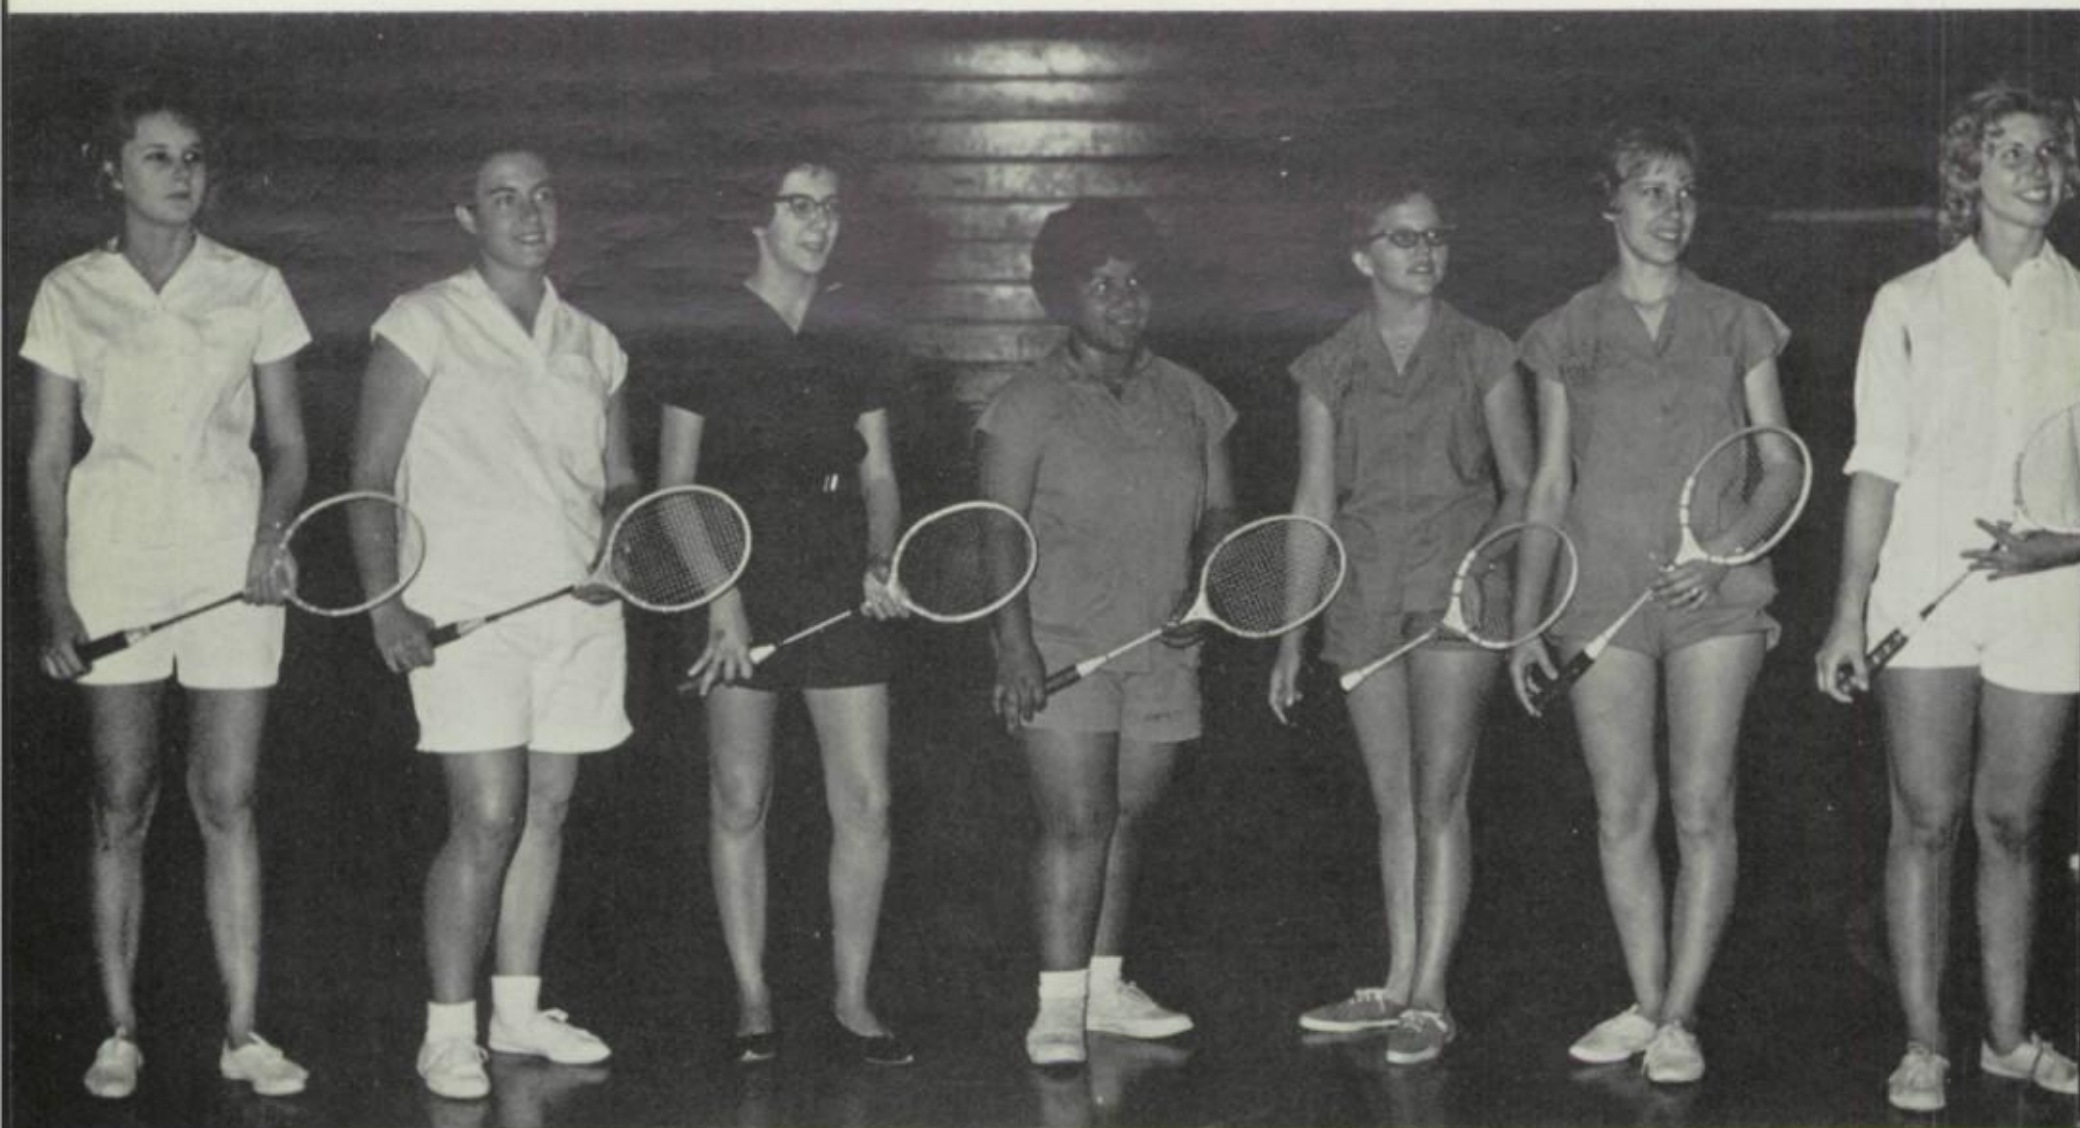

Badminton team member, Marylene Itule, executed an over-head shot in a North badminton game.

Diane Post and Joy Ansel, North's two top badminton players practiced continuously between games.

Girls badminton members were Donna Sutterfield, Diane Post, Sandy Jensen, Marylene Itule, Linda Bell, Carol Kosto, Joy Ansel. Not pictured were Cheryle Rutger, Leslie Merrill, Sherry Johnson, and Marueen Bronson.

Archery was again included in girls' sports. Members of the archery team were Miss Standafer, Jan Lykin, Judy Warner, Judy Thom, Aldene Thompson, Mary Heide, and Cheryl Hedstrom.

Badminton, Archery, Golf Included In Girls' Sports

Girls' badminton teams participated in inter-school competition and the Arizona State Badminton Tournament at Arizona State University. Joy Ansel and Dianne Post were numbers 1 and 2 singles players, respectively, and Dianne Post and Donna Sutterfield composed the number 1 doubles team. As a result of instruction given by Miss Standerford, team sponsor, and hours of practice, the teams won several matches over Phoenix Union, Central, and Camelback, and placed well in the State Tournament.

Girls' golf team participated in inter-school meets, winning all their games. Dianne Post played the number two spot. The team did very well in competition at the Golf State Tournament at Arizona State University. Miss Phillips was team sponsor.

Judy Wagner, Judy Thom, Cheryl Hedstrom, Mary Hiede, and Jan Lykin, prepared to fire their arrows after hours of practice on form and markmanship during an afternoon workout.

Seniors Concluded Busy Four Years Of High School

Guiding the Senior class in its last year at North were the officers led by Bill Mitchell, president. Also serving were Jackie Breinholt, vice-president; Suzie Polacek, secretary; Gerry Gabay, treasurer; Cheryl Hadaway, Honor Court judge; Dennis Meador, Honor Court judge and Barbara Stallings, president of Senior Girls' League council.

Seniors remained active through a large variety of activities and projects. Their talent assembly which was built around melodramatic battles between purity and wickedness featured a Lewis E. Schaflander-Russ Ashley duet and an acrobatic act presented by Carole Grosser. The traditional Farewell Assembly was also presented by the class at the end of the year. Besides the Senior Hop, scheduled in early May, the class of 1962 also sponsored the sports dance after the Mustang's 20-13 win over Central. In cooperation with the English department of North the Seniors presented "Henry V", a movie based on the Shakespearean drama. Class members also built the first place float for the Homecoming parade. With money left in the class treasury the Seniors purchased a gift for the school and one hundred dollars of classics for the Mustang library.

During their four years in high school Seniors were exposed to new ideas and challenges to their maturity. Wherever they go Seniors will remember North as fun tempered with learning.

Juniors Sponsored Sadie Hawkins Day, Jr.-Sr. Prom

Success of the Junior class projects was insured by the hard work of the officers. Tony Bustos, the president presided over all class meetings. Assisting Tony were Terry Gayle Gonzales, vice-president; Beverly Ong, secretary; JoAnne Hudson, treasurer; Ira M. Friedman and Jackie Stewart, Honor Court judges, and April Hoots, Girls' League delegate.

Paradise Valley Racquet Club was the setting of the Junior's most important project, the Junior-Senior Prom. The class also planned and controlled Sadie Hawkins' Day activities. A talent assembly was given in late February. Instead of the regular script the show featured an emcee who introduced the acts. Soloists Pam Prather and Terry Gonzales and the guitar team of Terry McClure-Fernando Quezada were performers featured in the assembly.

During the first semester a large number of projects for making money were held. A concession stand was operated during the Mustang's 20-13 victory over Central, and a sports dance, the Broomstick Bounce, was held after the Tucson football game. "Victory" buttons and sno-cones were sold during both lunch periods. Juniors also held a car wash to increase the class treasury. Mr. C. A. Brown of the science department was faculty advisor to the class.

For most Juniors this year marked the beginning of their preparation for college. The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test given in October and the National Merit exam administered in March were taken by many Juniors. Extra-curricular activities were still important, but the new upperclassmen were forced to think more about their future.

Float, Sports Dance Highlighted Sophomore Activities

Heading the Sophomore class during the year were Tom Thompson, president; Mary Payne, vice-president; Janie LaBenz, secretary; Patricia Pavlet, treasurer; Jackie Benjamin, class representative to Girls' League; and Hal Williams, Honor Court judge.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. J. H. Thomas and Mrs. Caroline Weber, the class ended its second year at North with a wide range of activities and money raising projects. A sports dance was held early in the football year. Making a float for the Homecoming parade and selling school buttons were also first semester project activities. During the second half of the year a talent assembly was presented with students from the Freshman class. The experience of this year's activities helped the Sophomores gain foundation for responsibilities of the next two years.

Freshmen looked ahead to busy high school career

For most Freshmen high school proved a new experience, a challenge to their maturity. Unlike the daily routine of elementary school North provided pep assemblies, four or five different teachers, and a student body of more than two thousand strangers. Many Freshmen succeeded in divorcing the past and assimilating themselves in a foreign culture.

Early in the school year the class was organized under the direction of Mr. Carl Wagner. Petitions were signed and speeches were reviewed in preparation for the class elections. Over fifty candidates vied for six offices. Bob Beauchamp was elected president. Also elected were Roberta Cogswell, vice-president; Lynda Richard, treasurer; May Jean Yee, secretary; Dorothy Hamilton, Honor Court judge; and Linda Phillips, class delegate to Girls' League. After the election of officers the class sponsored a dance and participated in a talent assembly.

Sara Lou,
 Well we made it
 through four years of high school. You and your (my old school) are a wonderful partner are a wonderful best to both of you.

Sara Lou,

You're a real nice girl and I have really enjoyed knowing you
 this past year.

I will see you again
 next year in "Flagstaff"
 what a "riot"!

Have lots of fun and loads of luck!

Love ya,
 Beth

Sara Lou,
 I've really enjoyed our presence at noon. For a quiet girl, you project a large personality, qualitatively. I'm conthat the future will be bright for one so
 Best Wishes, Mike Moore

Sara Lou,
 We had a lot of fun this year in the local area. I hope to see you in the future.
 Even though it's a long drive, I'll try to see
 you. Love and luck
 to you and yours.

more so now
 as you are more of a person. I hope to see you in the future. Love and luck to you and yours.
 I'll try to see
 you. Love and
 luck to you
 and yours.
 I'll try to see
 you. Love and luck to you
 and yours.

Saralou, we've really gotten to be friends this year, good friends we? I'll always haven't "that redhead" with the Saralou, we've come to the end of the road, 2 chicks.

I have enjoyed seeing you
on the stage as a Pom.
Good luck in your college years.

Salaloni,
It's been a real joy
knowing you and having
you in Econ and English.
